The President finds the American wage scale and our high standard of living predicated upon mass production and increasing mass demand created by the world's most essential commodity — advertising. As Mr. Robin Oakapple put it—

You must stir it and stump it,

From the time the first primitive man made a canoe out of a fallen tree, sea power has dominated the world, and upon it today depends the stability of our modern civilization no less than that of ancient Rome before which Carthage fell. No navy, no commerce—

Oh, what can I do for your comfort and good?'
'Send out your big warships to watch your big waters,
That no one may stop us from bringing you food.'"

While Mr. Coolidge, in 1924, was carrying Massachusetts by a plurality of 472,605 over John W. Davis, Mr. Gillett, a vote-getter in the Bay State from infancy, was having a hard time beating Dave Walsh for the Senate by 18,558. It is understood that Frank Stearns regards the Declaration of Independence as being almost as important a document as the President's recent letter putting the horseshoe sign on William M. Butler.

BATTLE FOR HERRIN CERTAIN, SAYS HEAD OF BIRGER FACTION

SKILL WITH PISTOLS SHOWN AT PRACTICE

Marion, Ill., Oct. 27 (By A. P.). Armed to the teeth, members of the Birger liquor faction tonight were fortified at their roadhouse near here to "shoot it out" with the rival Shelton brothers gang. Two members of the Birger faction were slain Monday night in a new outbreak of the warfare which is said to have cost seven lives so far.

"There is going to be a battle between the two factions," Charles Birger, faction leader, told reporters at his roadhouse late today.

"We are not going to be chased out. We have stood as much as possible from the Sheltons and we are going to shoot it out, as soon as we can find them. We can't look for them in the day time, but we are going to get them at night. If we don't get bumped off, we'll have a good story for you in a few days."

Bullet Holes in Walls.

Birger showed his visitors bullet holes in the log cabin roadhouse, known as "Shady Rest," which he said were made by enemy bullets.

He also showed the newspapermen his armored car, which is a box-like affair mounted on a Lincoln chassis. Asked whether the armor plate would withstand gunfire, Birger did not say a word but took out his .45 caliber automatic and fired. The bullet only dented the plate.

The interior of the armored truck was bare except for seats along the sides. None of the ten or twelve machine guns Birger is reported to have were in evidence, but Birger assured his visitors his men were "very well armed."

Demonstrate Their Skill.

To demonstrate their skill in marksmanship, Birger and the four men with him then engaged in pistol practice, shooting several rounds at bottles. When the firing started, four more of Birger's men rushed out from the woods nearby, as if they thought a battle had broken out. Birger and each of his men were armed with a pistol and a rifle.

In the meantime members of the Shelton gang, also equipped with an armored car and heavily armed, were reported to be making their headquarters at West City, a small town in Franklin county near Benton and about 20 miles north of Marion. Birger's roadhouse is 12 miles east of Marion, just inside the Williamson county line, on the State concrete road to Harrisburg. A State road also connects Marion and Benton.

NICARAGUAN LIBERALS LOSE 5-HOUR BATTLE

Another Body of Insurgents Reported Advancing to San Marcos.

Managua, Nicaragua, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The military authorities today announced that liberal revolutionists had been defeated in a five-hour battle at Terreno Blanco, near San Francisco de Cuadiniquilapa. Five revolutionists were killed and thirteen wounded, while the government losses were two killed and five wounded. A quantity of rifles and ammunition was captured.

It also was reported that another body of revolutionists is advancing toward San Marcos.

An effort, under the good offices of the United States, to bring about peace in Nicaragua failed within the past few days when the peace conference at Corinto broke up.

DRY LUNCH FOR QUEEN STIRS MONTREAL GUESTS

PRINCE SEES RAIL SHOPS

Special to The Washington Post.

Montreal, Quebec, Oct. 27.—There was a note of Old World chivalry in the greeting extended by Canada's largest and oldest city to the first reigning monarch it has entertained, when Queen Marie of Roumania was welcomed to Montreal today. Even the elements, so untrustworthy of late, smiled on the occasion, and her majesty had a chance to see just how delightful a brisk, bright Canadian autumn day can be.

Mayor Martin proclaimed a civic half holiday. Employes were given time off to see the queen. She arrived shortly before 10 o'clock, accompanied by Princess Ileana and Prince Nicolas.

Senator Raoul Dandurand, former president of the League of Nations, represented the Dominion of Canada at the station. Thousands jammed the streets to catch a glimpse of the royal party as they were whisked off to the city hall, where a reception was tendered.

Roumania's Montreal colony had the greatest excitement of its existence today. Queen Marie and Princess Ileana came into the colony in an open automobile and waved greetings to former subjects. Streets were lined with Balkan immigrants, many of them in native Roumanian costume.

Divine services were attended by the royal party at the Rouanian Orthodox church. From the curb to the door an awning was erected. Carpet was on the stones. The Roumanian colors of yellow, red and blue were everywhere.

Inside the church was a mass of color. The candelabra sparkled with red, yellow and blue candles. Three priests in white and gold robes conducted the service. As their majesties entered the Roumanian national anthem was sung.

Plane Down in River; 2 Army Fliers Saved

Boston, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Two aviators were rescued this afternoon when an army airplane made a forced landing on the Charles river basin. The plane was one of a squadron of 25 land and sea planes flying over the city in observation of Navy day. The drive shaft of the plane became disabled. Finding no landing place on shore, the aviators dropped their plane gently to the water.

Girl, 9, Is Run Down By Taxi; In Hospital

Knocked down by a taxicab while crossing North Capitol street near New York avenue yesterday afternoon, Catherine Rosa Di Carlo, 9 years old, 1237 North Capitol street northwest, is in a critical condition in Sibley hospital.

The child was hit after she had run into the street from between two parked automobiles, police say. She was operated on by Dr. P. S. Putzki. Oscar D. Griffin, 32 years old, 1410 M street northwest, said to be the driver of the taxi, was released by police of the Second precinct pending the outcome of the girl's injuries.

CHARGE OF ILLEGAL UTILITIES COMBINE HALTS BUS HEARING

All Lines Are Involved in Stock Acquisition by North American Co.

COMMISSION NAMES CLAYTON AS COUNSEL

La Follette Act Violated, He Says, by Corporations Buying of Shares.

The whole question of the relations of the North American Co., of New York, with the public utilities corporation of Washington, involving the manner of approach to a street car merger, was laid wide open for public airing yesterday. The public utilities commission brought to an abrupt and dramatic close the motor bus fare increase hearing, with an avowal that it would have nothing further to do with the case until the Washington Rapid Transit Co. had cleared itself of the charge that it was in conflict with the law.

This charge is that securities of the bus company were acquired by the North American Co. without specific authorization by Congress, in violation of the La Follette "anti-merger" law. If this is true of the Washington Rapid Transit Co., it is equally true, officials say, of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. and its subsidiary, the Potomac Electric Power Co., control of both of which has been acquired by the North American Co., and the Capital Traction Co., shares of stock of which also have been bought for the New York concern, it is reported.

All of these local companies come to the commission from time to time with requests for relief of various kinds. If the commission adheres to the new policy it laid down yesterday, it will grant no concessions pending determination of whether Congress has been defied in the financial operations of the North American Co. in the District.

Clayton Replaces Stephens.

The commissioners added a final sensation to a hectic day when, late last evening, they in effect repudiated the services of Corporation Counsel Francis H. Stephens as their legal adviser for purposes of the present situation and appointed William McK. Clayton as counsel for the commission for one month.

Clayton is chairman of the public utilities committee of the Federation of Citizens associations, in which capacity he attends all hearings of the commission and participates on behalf of the public. It was he who raised the legal point, at the outset of the bus rate hearings, that the Washington Rapid Transit Co. had no standing before the commission because its control had been transferred to another company in violation of an act of Congress.

Commission Clears Stand.

The public utilities commission issued the following statement last night:

"The public utilities commission, under authority granted it by the current appropriation act for an attorney at law, has requested William McK. Clayton to aid in connection with the present legal difficulty with the Washington Rapid Transit Co.

"This, it is expected, will be for about one month. It is understood that the employment is temporary, as upon the signing of the new public utility bill, which is expected

AURORA HEIGHTS MAN ENDS LIFE WITH GAS

J. M. Carpenter Despondent Over Apparent Inability to Care for Family.

Despondent over his destitute circumstances and his apparent inability to provide food and warmth for his wife and two small children during the approaching winter, James M. Carpenter, 44 years old, of 319 Villa road, Aurora Heights, Va., yesterday ended his life by inhaling gas.

Carpenter's body was found early yesterday by his wife, stretched across two chairs placed beside five open gas burners in the kitchen stove. Dr. W. C. Welburn, of Arlington county, pronounced the man dead.

Coroner C. H. Swain, of Arlington, who issued a certificate of death by suicide, declared the lives of Carpenter's wife and two children were saved by the padding placed in the kitchen door, which prevented the fumes from reaching other parts of the house. Carpenter, according to Coroner Swain, had been dead several hours.

COOLIDGE'S APPEAL FOR BUTLER UNITES PARTY'S STRENGTH

G. O. P. Hopeful Now of Polling Full Vote for Senator.

DEMOCRATS NOT ABLE TO ASSAIL PRESIDENT

Sharp Change in Bay State Sentiment Follows Executive's Letter.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.

Boston, Oct. 27.—The fact that President Coolidge is above attack in his home State of Massachusetts, appears today to be the one thing that will send Senator William M. Butler back to the United States Senate and bring about the defeat of David I. Walsh.

The President's letter has made the chief executive the issue here, and the Democrats are afraid to meet the challenge. At no time in this otherwise bitter senatorial and State campaign have the Democratic candidates had the temerity to criticize the President before the electorate of the State, and they have evidently decided that the eleventh hour is no time to begin such a campaign.

The Republicans, in consequence, are not faced with a single major obstacle in driving home the force of the communication from the White House. The three working days that have passed since the letter was made public have been fully utilized. The candidates and the Republican press have hammered home the lesson.

The Boston Herald, stanch Republican organ, carries each day on the front page above its masthead the following quotation from the letter:

"I want the satisfaction of casting a vote at the ballot box for the State ticket headed by Gov. Fuller and the national ticket headed by Senator Butler."

Other Republican papers in the State, and they are in the majority, have adopted similar tactics.

Play Up Support.

The candidates, from Senator Butler straight down the line, have made constant use of the executive indorsement. Last night in Lawrence and Lowell, textile centers and in consequence, tough spots for the Republican ticket, Senator Butler and his associates neglected virtually all of the other issues which they have been utilizing and drove home the thought that the predominant question of the campaign is "support of the President."

Democratic strategy has found only two means of expression in an effort to counteract the force and effect of the President's aid. Mr. Walsh immediately after the announcement expressed his pleasure that the chief executive and Mrs. Coolidge were coming home to vote, and sought only by inference to min-

Attempt to Hold Up Lehigh Train Charged

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—An attempt to wreck and hold up the crack Lehigh Valley express train plying between New York and Buffalo was revealed here today by railroad detectives when they announced the arrest of Earl Crumley, 21, and Theodore Cadwallader, 22, both of Ashley.

Crumley, according to police, confessed, implicating the other prisoner. Cadwallader vigorously denied the charge.

According to the confessions, the youths dynamited the tracks at a lonely spot in the nearby mountains, but the train's weight apparently flattened the rails back, permitting it to pass in safety.

Severe Quakes Felt At Poplar Bluff, Mo.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Rather severe earth tremors were felt here from 10:22 to 10:25 o'clock today. Windows were shaken, but no damage was done. A second tremor was felt at 10:25½ and continued until 10:33. Buildings in the downtown section of the city were shaken severely, but no damage was reported.

Perth, Scotland, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The local seismograph today recorded six earthquakes, which began at 10:15 o'clock this morning. The probable center of the disturbances was near Borneo, Sumatra or Java.

ADVERTISING IS PRAISED BY THE PRESIDENT AS AID TO NATION'S PROSPERITY

Tells Agency Men That It Is Largely Basis for Higher Wages.

BOOSTS TRADE, HOME, AS WELL AS FOREIGN

Ministers to the Spiritual Side of Commercial Life, the Executive Says.

The maintenance of the American scale of wages is the main support of the home market, President Coolidge declared last night in an address at the dinner of the American Association of Advertising Agencies at the Mayflower hotel.

"With our improved machinery, with the great increase in power that has come from steam and electricity, with the application of engineering methods to production, the output of each individual engaged in our industrial and agricultural life is steadily increasing," he said. "The elimination of waste through standardization has been another most important factor in this direction. If we proceed under our present system, there would appear to be little reason to doubt that we can continue to maintain all of these high standards in wages, in output, and in consumption indefinitely, and with our home markets as a foundation increase our foreign commerce by a greater exchange of those commodities of other nations in which they have a special advantage. But nothing would appear plainer than that this all depends upon the maintenance of our American scale of wages which is the main support of our home market."

Advertising Creates Demand.

Mass production with its reduction of costs has largely placed America in the lead in industry, he said, and where there is mass production there must be mass demand. This demand was created almost entirely by advertising, he asserted.

The public no longer fears great business aggregations, but, rather, it has made them its greatest servants, the President said. While there may be contrary local conditions here and there, "probably unavoidable for a long time to come," the country as a whole is prosperous, the President declared. "Perhaps the most creditable aspect of our present prosperity," he added, "is that wages are high while profits have been moderate."

The part of advertising in the "modern life of production and trade," he said, is basically that of education.

"By changing the attitude of mind," he continued, "it changes the material condition of the people. * * * Advertising creates and changes this foundation of all popular action, public sentiment or public opinion. It is the most potent influence in adopting and changing the habits and modes of life, affecting what we eat, what we wear, and the work and play of the whole nation. * * * Advertising is the life of trade."

At a morning session of the meeting, H. H. Charles, of the Charles Advertising Service, New York, declared that advertising could go a long way to allaying the unrest on the farm. Industry has been so occupied with selling goods in the cities, he said, that it has overlooked the possibilities among the farmers.

Would Cater to Women.

"You have overlooked the buying capacity of about 42 per cent of our total population," Mr. Charles declared. "You have made no effort or only partial effort to secure some of the annual agricultural wealth, amounting to nearly $13,000,000,000 for 1925. You have expended only $1 a year per capita to reach the farmer and nearly $10 per year per capita to reach the city dweller."

Much of the unrest on the farm, he said, could be relieved by catering to the wants of the women.

"Some one recently said that the farm woman is getting fussy—that she wants pink silk underwear such as she saw in town," Mr. Charles related. "Why not? And if she really wants it, she'll get it. She'll set up a fruit and vegetable stand on the road in front of the house. If the children are in school, she'll put on price marks and at the end of the day the money will be in the milk bottle. The farm

Points From President's Speech

Advertising is the life of trade.

Advertising creates and changes this foundation of all popular action, public sentiment or public opinion.

Mass demand has been created almost entirely through the development of advertising.

Modern business could neither have been created nor can it be maintained without advertising.

It is on this foundation of enlarging production through the demands created by advertising that very much of the success of the American industrial system rests.

Advertising is basically a form of education.

It is not an economic waste.

It ministers to the true development of trade.

The uncivilized make little progress because they have few desires. The inhabitants of our country are stimulated to new wants in all directions.

The advertisers are molding the human mind. Those who write upon that tablet are writing for all eternity.

Text of Coolidge's Talk

Following is the text of President Coolidge's address before the American Association of Advertising Agencies in the Mayflower hotel last night:

Members of the Association: Sometimes it seems as though our generation fails to give the proper estimate and importance to the values of life. Results appear to be secured so easily that we look upon them with indifference. We take too many things as a matter of course, when, in fact, they have been obtained for us only as the result of ages of effort and sacrifice. We look at our economic condition, upon which we are absolutely dependent for the comforts and even the necessaries of life and, forgetting that it all rests on industry, thrift and management, dismiss it lightly as a matter that does not concern us. Occasionally our attention is directed to our political institutions, which have been secured for us through the disinterested exertion of generations of patriotism, and going along, oblivious to the fact that they are the sole guarantees of our rights to life and liberty, we turn away with the comforting thought that we can let some party committee attend to getting out the vote and that probably the government will run itself all right anyway. Then perhaps we are attracted by the buildings erected for education, or temples dedicated to religious worship and, without stopping to realize that these are the main source of the culture of society and the moral and spiritual life of the people, we pass them by

ENGLISH MAY RESIGN, FACING IMPEACHMENT

Proceedings to Oust Jurist Would Then Be Dropped, It Is Reported.

ZUMBRUNN QUITS CASE

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Oct. 27.—The New York World prints this morning, under Washington date, the following dispatch:

A report that Federal Judge George W. English, of the Eastern District of Illinois, will resign and that the Senate will drop his impeachment trial, set for November 10, followed today the announcement that William F. Zumbrunn, general counsel for the Ku Klux klan, has resigned as chief of Judge English's defense staff.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, which obtained the evidence on which the impeachment case was brought, disclosed Zumbrunn's resignation. Although E. C. Kramer, also of defense counsel, said the case would proceed, the report was circulated here that a decision had been reached to have the jurist withdraw voluntarily from the bench.

In that case the Senate in all probability would abandon the trial. In the course of history, five Federal judges have resigned in the face of impending impeachment proceedings and in each instance the Senate decided against going ahead with a trial.

The report that Judge English would withdraw from his judgeship has been current before. Various personal considerations, apart from the nature of the evidence alleging improper conduct on the bench, are said to have decided the accused jurist against continuing the struggle for vindication.

Court Orders Ponzi Returned to Boston

Austin, Tex., Oct. 27 (By A. P.). Charles Ponzi, financial wizard, today was ordered turned over to Massachusetts authorities by the court of criminal appeals. Ponzi is held in jail at Houston.

Ponzi has been fighting extradition for four months. Two hearings were held before Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson before she honored the requisition for the return of Ponzi to serve a seven-to-nine-year sentence upon conviction of being a "common and notorious thief" in connection with his financial schemes in Boston.

At Houston today Henry Kahn, one of Ponzi's attorneys, announced a motion for rehearing before the court of criminal appeals would be filed within fifteen days.

MILLS GRAVE REOPENED; AUTOPSY SET FOR TODAY

WOUNDS TO BE STUDIED

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The grave containing the body of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills was opened today for the second time since she was killed four years ago at the Phillips farms with the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall. The body will be exhumed tomorrow.

Exhumation was ordered by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson after a conference in Jersey City with Dr. Otto H. Schultze, medical examiner of the district attorney's office in New York. Inspector John Underwood, of the Jersey City police, who has directed much of the investigation of the four-year mystery which resulted in the indictment of the widow and three of her men relatives for murder, also were present. Permission to exhume the body was granted last Friday by Supreme Court Justice Parker.

Discrepancies were disclosed at the conference, Simpson said, between the notes taken at the time of the 1922 autopsy and information in the hands of the investigators.

"Because of certain information received last night," he said, "it seems absolutely necessary that the bodies be disinterred."

Application has been made to the New York supreme court for disinterment of Mr. Hall's body in a Brooklyn cemetery.

One of the points on which the notes and more recent information disagree, Simpson added, was over the location of the bullet wounds in the rector's head.

The first exhumation of Mrs. Mills' body took place on September 26, 1922, twelve days after the killings.

Submarine Aided; Engines Are Broken

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The Cape May coast guard base reported tonight that the cutters Hammond and Gresham were standing by the Peruvian submarine R-1 adrift with broken engines about 180 miles southeast of Cape May in latitude 38:24, longitude 71:30.

The submarine wirelessed a call for a tow "as soon as possible," about 8:15 tonight. The cutters Hammond and Gresham put out to aid the vessel and at last reports were "standing by."

GOAL OF NAVY DAY BUILDING OF U. S. MERCHANT MARINE

Each Service Is Dependent on Other, Wilbur Says in Sounding Keynote.

OPEN HOUSE TO PUBLIC IS HELD ABOARD SHIPS

Celebrated Over Entire Nation; Scores Visit Mayflower and Sylph.

Navy day, which was celebrated throughout the United States yesterday, was consecrated to the building of a strong American merchant marine.

The keynote of the celebration was sounded by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur in an address given at the east side of the Navy building.

"A first-class navy requires a first-class merchant marine," he said, "and a first-class merchant marine is dependent on a first-class navy."

All ships of the navy, wherever anchored, held "open house" for the public, and every navy yard was thrown open to inspection. At the navy yard here the Presidential yacht Mayflower and the yacht Sylph were boarded by scores of visitors. In the afternoon the naval aviators at Anacostia gave a thrilling exhibition of flying.

Movies by Parachute.

History was made at the Anacostia exhibition by Jimmy Clark, aviation machinist mate. That intrepid flier jumped from an airplane, and all the while he was falling to the earth with his parachute, he was turning the crank of a small motion picture camera. It is believed to be the first time this ever has been done.

The statues of John Paul Jones and Admirals Barry and Dupont were visited yesterday by reverent groups eager to pay homage to the great naval heroes.

Millions of Americans heard the speeches broadcast last night from station WRC by Secretary Wilbur, Lieut. Comdr. Richard E. Byrd, of north pole fame, and Lieut. Comdr. Charles E. Rosenthal, commander of the airship Los Angeles.

Looking into the future, Commander Rosendahl said:

"You have just heard the Secretary of the Navy tell of the importance of the merchant marine to the United States navy. Commercial airships like the Los Angeles will be just as much a part of our merchant marine as are the Leviathan, the George Washington and other such ships, and will be just as available for military us in time of war."

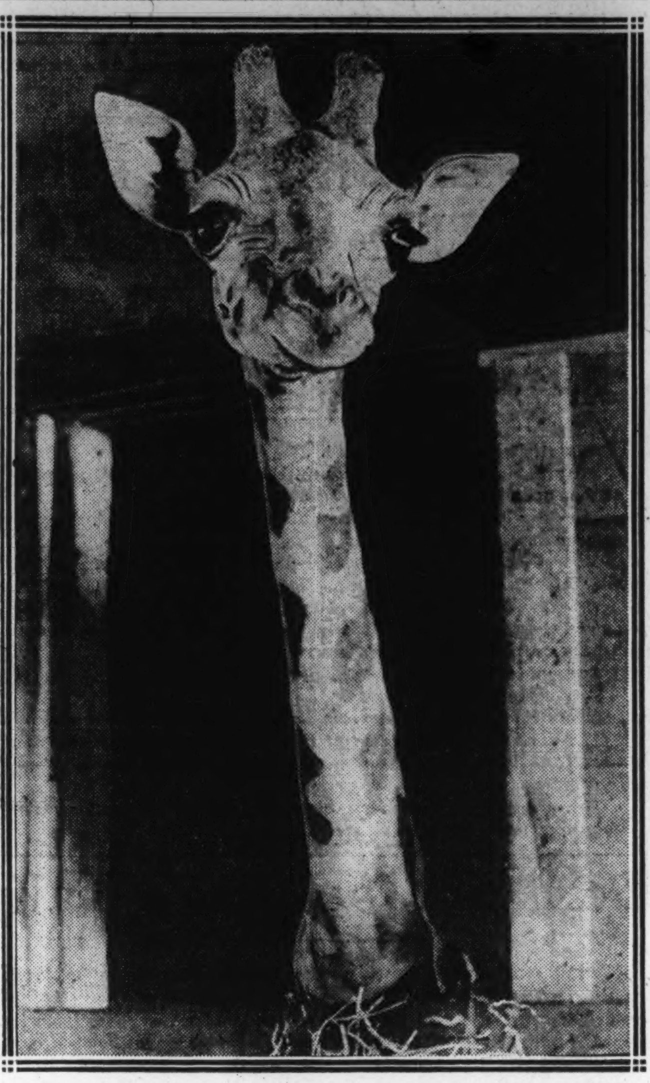
Tends to Prevent War.

In his radio address, Secretary Wilbur said:

"It is believed that the maintenance of an adequate navy will tend to prevent war. It is equally true that with such a navy, the maintenance of an adequate merchant marine will have the same tendency, not only because the ships of such a merchant marine can be used in connection with war operations, but because ownership of such ships tends to reduce the hazard to our commerce involved in warfare and thus reduce the pressure on our nation which would result from serious embarrassment of our overseas commerce.

"Our interests have become so great and so diversified; our commerce reaches nearly every port of the world, and our prosperity so much depends on the free movement of this commerce that this expanding and diversified interest calls for increased consideration of our merchant marine and points with equal emphasis to the necessity of an adequate navy."

CAPITAL'S NEWLY ARRIVED GIRAFFE



Acme.

First picture of one of the giraffes brought to this country by Dr. William M. Mann for the Washington zoo. It is being detained at Boston for a two weeks' quarantine.

Students of the foreign service school at Georgetown university visited the navy yard in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock last night assembled for Navy day exercises in the school auditorium. Addresses were made by Rear Admiral Albert Gleaves, Prof. Alfred Haig and the Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., regent of the school.

The students of George Washington university also held Navy day exercises, the principal speaker being Lieut. Comdr. H. H. Frost.

Walter B. Howe Presides.

The official celebration outside the Navy building, at which Secretary Wilbur spoke, was presided over by Walter Bruce Howe, vice president of the Navy league. Mr. Howe explained that navy day was designed not only to pay a tribute to the navy but to better inform the American people about this arm of the service

The sixty-eighth anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt was celebrated in conjunction with the celebration of navy day. Virtually every ceremony here yesterday was attended by a representative of the Theodore Roosevelt Veterans Memorial association.

Among those who were so engaged were William A. Hickey, secretary of the organization; Capt. Paul Schneider, William E. Kittinger, Ernest Brunner, James J. McTernan, William H. Brown, James E. Duvall and Edward Ahearn.

Rear Admiral T. J. Cowie, retired, delivered the principal address at the exercises held at the statue of John Paul Jones, under auspices of the Sojourners' club of Master Masons and the Navy league.

Unmacht Places Wreath.

Wreaths were placed at the foot of the statue by Capt. George F. Unmacht, U. S. A., representing the Sojourners' club, and by Walter Bruce Howe, representing the Navy league. The flag of North Carolina, the adopted State of the "Father of the American Navy," was presented by Mrs. C. F. Taylor, of the North Carolina State society.

Exercises were held at the statue of Admiral John Barry under the auspices of the fourth degree Knights of Columbus, of Washington, with James T. Ryan presiding. The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Thomas A. Callan. Dr. Charles I. Griffith made the introductory speech and laid the wreath. The principal oration was delivered by Dr. Edward Jordan, of Catholic university.

Few American men can show a nobler record of bravery and service than is to be found in the story of Admiral Barry's career, D. Jordan declared.

Dudley Says Prayer.

Exercises at the tomb of Admiral Dewey at the Washington cathedral were under auspices of the Naval and Military Order of the Spanish war. The Rev. Dr. George Fiske Dudley, rector of St. Stephen's church, said a memorial prayer.

The District of Columbia Society of the Dames of the Loyal Legion was in charge of the exercises held at the statue of Rear Admiral Samuel Francis Dupont, in Dupont circle. Miss Mary Clark, president of the society, gave an address in which she praised Admiral Dupont for the part he played in the civil war.

A wreath was laid on the statue by Mrs. W. F. Mutchler. Patriotic songs were sung by pupils of the Force school, under direction of Dr. E. N. C. Barnes, director of music in the public schools. Mrs. George Fiske Dudley said a prayer.

Ships Still Control Sea, Says Naval Aviation Head

Chicago, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Seacraft still is the dominant power in sea control and the initial element in national defense, Rear Admiral William A. Moffett declared tonight in a Navy day radio address.

Calling the navy "the greatest factor we possess for the preservation of peace, if it is maintained in strength equal to that of any other navy," the admiral reviewed development of an aerial arm to this wing of national defense.

"The problem of placing aviation at sea," he declared, "has not been a simple one. The place available for aircraft on ships is limited. The types for naval use differ radically from land types. The difficulties of launching and operation have been many. But we have overcome the major obstacles.

"In the field of lighter-than-air craft the navy is prepared to lead the world. The large rigid airship we believe to be a most important instrument of war and commerce. Controlling, as we do, the world's supply of helium, we have a great opportunity to control international commercial aviation."

Watch Is Presented To Policeman Ach

Policeman Frank Ach, of the Tenth precinct, who was wounded in the bandit chase in Petworth in which Policeman Leo H. K. Busch lost his life, was presented with a watch at a reception held in his honor by his Masonic lodge, Brightwood, No. 43, in the Brightwood Masonic hall last night.

Raymond L. Schreiner, master of the lodge, made the presentation in the presence of Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police; Inspectors Louis Stoll and Charles Evans, Capt. Fred Cornwell, of the Tenth precinct; Lieut. James McCormick, and a delegation of police sergeants from Takoma Park. Isaac Gans, Clyde Nichols, president of the Petworth Citizens association, and Charles Ray, president of the Brightwood Citizens association, also were present.

Mrs. Leo H. K. Busch, widow of the slain policeman, was presented with a testimonial by the lodge.

ECONOMIC WELFARE OF FARMER URGED AS CATHOLIC MOVE

RURAL LIFE MEETING HELD AT CATHOLIC U.

Advocates Starting of Cooperative Banking Institutions in Small Communities.

Building up of the economic welfare of the farmer was urged as the first step in religious instruction in rural communities last night before the second rural conference of the archdiocese of Baltimore, held yesterday at the Catholic university, by the Rev. Edwin V. O'Hara, LL. D., director of the rural life bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Council.

Before the Catholic farmer can afford the advantages of the church and parochial school he must be placed on his feet and made financially independent of banking interests. To accomplish this, Father O'Hara advocated the establishment of cooperative banking institutions in small communities.

The intelligent farm child must be taught the advantages of the farm and kept on the farm, instead of being pushed into the city to do clerking and laboring jobs, he said. "Farming is not a laboring job," he said. "It is a profession, the oldest, and to be successful it requires more scientific training than any other profession, with the exception of medicine. The intelligent farm youth must be kept on the farm."

Darr Leads Meeting.

The meeting in the evening was presided over by State Deputy Charles Darr, Washington Knights of Columbus. The Rev. Michael A. Irwin, of Newton Grove, N. C., read a paper treating on work of the country pastor. Reports of the activities of their organizations in connection with rural service were read by Thomas R. Savage, of Baltimore, for the Maryland Knights of Columbus; Mrs. Rebecca E. Shanley, president of the District chapter of the National Council of Catholic Women; Miss Mary Mattingley, president of the Sodality Union of Washington, and the Rev. W. Howard Bishop, for the League of the Little Flower.

The morning session was restricted to priests of the archdiocese, to enable them to hold informal conferences pertinent to their work.

The Rev. Charles O'Hara, of Indian Head, Md., read a paper on religious instruction in parishes without schools, and the Rev. John LaFarge, a member of the America magazine staff, spoke on rural environment as a background for religion. The Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, archbishop of Baltimore, presided at the morning meeting.

The luncheon meeting was opened to the public. The Very Rev. Albert E. Smith presided. The Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Shahan, rector of Catholic university, welcomed the delegates, numbering approximately 150. Brief addresses were made by the Rev. William J. Kerby, professor of sociology at the Catholic university; George Farrell, of the Department of Agriculture, and Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the University of Maryland.

Police Seek Facts For Scrivener Jury

With only six days before a coroner's jury will be called to investigate the death of Detective Sergeant Arthur B. Scrivener, headquarters detectives assigned to the case are working with feverish energy to uncover some tangible facts to present at the inquest. Since Scrivener met his death, the morning of October 13, the investigation has revealed nothing definite.

Tests were made yesterday under the supervision to Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt to determine how far the pistol which ended Scrivener's life was held from his body. Six shots were fired into the overcoat Scrivener wore the night he was shot. The closest comparison to the powder burns around the hole in the garment where the fatal bullet entered and those made yesterday was when the pistol was fired 10 inches from the overcoat, Deputy Coroner Joseph D. Rogers said.

7-Month-Old Baby Boy Of Navy Man Whistles

Son of Lieut. E. P. Hylant Baffles Dr. J. M. Heller; Puts Self to Sleep Daily With Arias, Proud Grandmother Says.

In many years' practice of medicine, Dr. Joseph M. Holler, of the Parkwood apartments, knows of only one baby who can whistle. This young genius is the 7-month-old son of Lieut. Emory P. Hylant, U. S. N., who lives at Southbrook courts, Sixteenth street.

For a month and a half, or since he was slightly more than 5 months old, Emory Paul, jr., has been busily engaged in amusing himself with arias. His grandmother, Mrs. Florence McKeever, says the baby whistles himself to sleep every day; that he lies in his crib and rolls off the finest melodies imaginable, and that, for the most part, his whistling is infinitely better than that of most boys 8 and 9 years old.

"Of course," explains Mrs. McKeever, "I am the baby's grandmother—and you know how grandmothers are; but, still, Emory Paul is a remarkable baby. What is more, he is a remarkable whistler."

Dr. Heller has been practicing medicine in Washington for more than a quarter of a century. In all his career he says there never was another case like that of young Emory Paul Hylant, jr., a baby who can whistle. Dr. Heller attended Mrs. Hylant, the baby's mother when she was in her infancy. "But there was no whistling in her crib," says the doctor, "so the boy did not inherit his talent from his mother."

The baby's father, Lieut. Hylant, is stationed aboard the U. S. S. Milwaukee, and there is a tradition in the American navy, as there is in most navies, that there shall be no whistling aboard ship. Naturally, Lieut. Hylant is not given to whistling. In fact, he seldom indulges in this particular form of amusement, so the baby doesn't inherit the talent from his father.

Where does young Emory Paul, jr., at 7 months of age, get the gift that takes the average boy, or girl, quite a while to cultivate? That is a question that interests not only the boy's parents but also their friends; for the case has attracted neighborhood interest, and folks come from far and wide to hear Emory Paul whistle.

Emory Paul, jr., weighs eighteen and one-half pounds, and is not an abnormally large boy. Nevertheless, he can whistle so loud that his trills may be heard in the next room, even when the door is closed, his grandmother explained.

"Another remarkable thing," says Mrs. McKeever, "is that the baby will begin whistling as soon as we mention the word. He has become such a curiosity by this time that we, naturally, like to show off his talents—and he has become used to the word 'whistle,' so that he tunes up on pronunciation of the word."

Dr. Heller is so much interested in the remarkable whistling proclivities of young Emory Paul that he spent most of yesterday asking brother physicians what they thought of it. Most of them never had heard of such a feat—a 7-month-old baby whistling. At a luncheon attended by medical men the subject consumed the better part of the luncheon hour.

Yet no one there but Dr. Heller ever had heard of a whistling baby—and most of them were old timers.

$1,181 RAISED IN DRIVE FOR TRAVELERS AID

Total Now $6,181 in Campaign to Meet Demand for $15,500 Fund.

The Washington Travelers Aid society yesterday was $1,181 nearer its goal of $15,500 for "Travelers Aid week," it was announced by Frederic A. Delano, chairman of the drive for funds, at a meeting of campaign workers at the Hotel Burlington yesterday afternoon.

Miss Agnes Regan, member from Washington of the board of directors of the National Association of Travelers Aid Societies, outlined the connection and cooperation of the Washington society with cities throughout the United States and foreign countries. The workers will again meet at the Hotel Burlington today at 12:30 o'clock.

The amount realized thus far in the drive for funds is $6,181. Yesterday's receipts, as reported by division chairmen, were as follows: Mrs. W. E. Chamberlain, division A, $400.50; C. E. Fleming, division B, $178; Mrs. John R. Kratz, division C, $132; W. J. McManus, division D, $170; Mrs. E. R. Oliver, division E, $140.50, and Mrs. G. H. Powell, division F, $160.

GERMANY DEFERS TIME FOR BOND VALUATION

Applications May Be Filed Until November 30, State Department Announces.

Time for filing of applications for the revaluation of old German bonds held by Americans was yesterday extended from November 1 to November 30, the State Department announced. The department was advised of the extension of the time limit through the German embassy by Hans Kruger, special German government representative sent here to handle the revaluation.

Old holdings which will be revalued by Germany include bonds of German state, cities and municipal and similar associations, which were acquired prior to July 1, 1920, and have been held uninterruptedly since.

The Riggs National Bank has been designated as the bank at which applications for revaluation shall be filed in Washington and this and other banks throughout the country have been supplied with the necessary blanks.

KIDNAPING CHARGED TO MOTHER AND AUNT

Mrs. Lillian M. Calvert Released After Arrest on Warrant of Husband.

Arrested on a charge of kidnaping her own daughter, Mrs. Lillian Mary Calvert, 29 years old, 321 Ninth street southeast, and her sister, Mary Ellen Sears, 15 years old, of the same address, were released in the custody of their attorney, Commissioner Needham Turnage, yesterday afternoon.

The sisters were arrested on a Maryland warrant sworn out before Justice I. D. Arnold by the child's father, Albert Calvert, of Mount Rainier, Md. Calvert charges that the daughter, Doris E. Calvert, 8 years old, was kidnaped Tuesday afternoon, while attending the Mount Rainier school, by her mother and aunt. Mrs. Calvert is said to have previously instituted divorce proceedings against her husband.

The mother was arrested by Detectives George Darnall and Harry Cole. The child was found at the Ninth street address, where she was being cared for by Mrs. Calvert's mother.

GROUP TO ENFORCE ARMS AGREEMENT FAVORED IN REPORT

League Commission Would Give Permanent Body General Control.

FRANCE SEES BLANKET APPROVAL OF HER PLAN

U. S. Still Has an Opportunity to Oppose Proposals at Geneva Meeting.

Paris, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The creation of a permanent body charged with surveillance of armaments and manufacturers of war material is recommended in a report completed today by the "mixed commission" of the League of Nations.

The recommended committee would be charged with control of armament statistics and would be instituted in order to see that whatever arms limitation program the projected disarmament conference may agree upon will be complied with rigidly.

The mixed commission, which has been sitting at Paris, has been discussing the details of the economic phases of disarmament and will make its report to a subcommittee of the preparatory disarmament commission, now sitting at Geneva, on which the United States is represented.

Separate Pacts on Budgets.

The commission also adopted a resolution saying that the question of the limitation of war budgets should be arranged by separate agreements between the states which sign the eventful disarmament protocol. A recommendation was made that all states subscribing to the eventual disarmament convention engaged to publish the full amounts of their arms expenditures of all categories.

The findings of the commission are recommendations only and the United States delegates to the preparatory disarmament commission will enjoy full rights to criticize and combat them when they come up later at the Geneva discussions. Partial satisfaction is given in the findings to the view of the United States that disarmament can not be effected by a mere proportional scaling down of military budgets.

That portion of the French press which is officially inspired tonight showed a tendency to exult over the conclusions of the mixed commission as a blanket indorsement of France's disarmament program which has been put forth at Geneva since May. The commission's report is technical in nature and is designed merely to clear the ground for the deliberations of the preparatory disarmament commission.

Stage Hoodoo in Detroit; 4 Men Stricken There

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Detroit is down in the troupers' book as a hoodoo town.

Bert Williams collapsed during a performance at the Garrick theater, dying a few weeks later.

Al Jolson contracted such a severe cold when he played here last his voice was affected for many months.

Frank Tinney became so ill following a performance here a few weeks ago that for days his life was despaired of. He still is in a Detroit hospital.

And now Houdini, the magician and escape artist, lies in a hospital gravely ill following an operation for appendicitis and the subsequent development of peritonitis. Houdini's condition was somewhat improved tonight after a restful day.

Shedd's $15,215,000 Left to Daughters

Chicago, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The will of John G. Shedd, merchant and philanthropist, disposing of $15,215,000 in real estate and personal property, was filed for probate today. The bulk of the estate goes to his two daughters, Mrs. Laura A. Schweppe and Mrs. Helen M. Reed, provision for his widow having been made. There were no charitable beqeusts, the will stating that Mr. Shedd had made large contributions to such beneficiaries in his life. One of his last philanthropies was provision for the $3,000,000 Shedd aquarium to be given to the city. Bequests of from $1,000 to $5,000 to employes at his homes here and in Pasadena, Calif., were made.

Message From Mars Is Awaited in Vain

London, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Mars, which just now is closer to the earth than ordinarily, failed to flash any signal tonight which might thrill British astronomers or eager listeners at the radios, but thousands of enthusiastic star-gazers and others remained hopefully on the job.

The biggest telescope in Greenwich observatory worked overtime to satisfy the scientific search for knowledge of Mars' hidden mysteries, but in vain. A fourteen-tube superheterodyne receiving set, installed by a wireless magazine, also functioned as best it could, but no interplanetary sounds, signs or symbols were trapped.

Home of Washburn, U. S. Envoy, Burned

Falmouth, Mass., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Fire originating in the kitchen chimney last night destroyed the summer home of Albert H. Washburn, United States Minister to Austria, at Menauhant-on-Waquoit bay, near here.

Edward Washburn, father of the Ambassador, was overcome by smoke as he slept and was rescued by Charles Fisher, caretaker of the estate. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

Mr. Washburn came to his summer home from Vienna in July on three months' leave of absence.

U. S. DELAYS ACTION ON STEEL DUMPING FOLLOWING REPORT

INSURANCE IS PROVIDED AGAINST EXPORT LOSS

Articles in Proposed Extra Duty Here Are Not Included in Teuton Agreement.

Berlin, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—It is left to the respective governments of the United States and Germany to draw their own conclusions as to whether Germany is dumping steel products into the United States. The German-American commission which has been investigating the alleged cutting of prices by the German steel manufacturers on their exports to the United States in violation of the American anti-dumping act has reached no decision in its report, an outline of which has just been made public.

Certain facts have been established by the investigation, the commission states, and these are laid before the two governments for consideration and future action.

The commission is composed of William Coffin, American consul general at Berlin and Charles L. Turrill, customs attache in London for the United States, and Herr Hemmon, of the German foreign office, and Herr Vogt, of the ministry of commerce for Germany.

Insurance From Losses.

The commission finds that the agreement between the German steel mills, and manufacturers of steel goods, in which, it was alleged, the steel mills granted a bonus on steel for export, does not include rails, gas pipe, water pipe, sheet iron, pig iron or other products enumerated in the supplementary tariff proposal of the United States Treasury, on which it was proposed to impose a countervailing duty.

With regard to finished goods, it is declared in the report, manufacturers buying for export large quantities of steel direct from the steel trust may pay the world market prices fixed by the trust, which, however, must not be higher than those fixed by the so-called export commission.

For smaller purchases, the agreement provides for a kind of insurance against possible losses from exports, which, says the report, cannot be regarded as a premium but which is a rebate granted to the exporter in case world market prices, on which the export prices were calculated, prove to be lower than domestic prices.

Decision Withheld Here.

(By the Associated Press.)

American officials are withholding a decision on the facts developed in the investigation of the German steel industry by the mixed commission before announcing whether the countervailing duty once ordered on German steel and iron products will be reimposed.

The report of the commission, appointed at the suggestion of Germany after the United States ordered the countervailing duty last May, was kept secret last night awaiting an adjustment of differences with Germany over certain portions of the language.

While it appears likely that on the basis of the report the countervailing duty will not be levied against German steel products immediately, there is some indication that America will question whether the German industry is not violating the antidumping act.

The countervailing duty was ordered on German steel on the basis of a report by the customs service that the industry was receiving a subsidy and the additional duty would have been equal to the amount of the alleged subsidy.

COTTON FINANCE STOCK IS FAR OVERSUBSCRIBED

More Than $1,000,000 Raised in North Carolina; $5,000,000 Voted by Texas.

SIX STATES HAVE ACTED

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—A substantial oversubscription to the capital stock of the Finance Corporation for relieving the cotton crisis in North Carolina was announced this morning by Gov. McLean. One million dollars was the amount sought.

The governor stated that he was satisfied that $5,000,000 could be raised if necessary.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 27 (By A. P.). A $5,000,000 corporation to hold 1,250,000 bales of cotton off the market for 18 months or long enough to restore normal conditions was the plan adopted here today by a committee of the Texas Bankers association for the purpose of saving the cotton situation in this State.

The committee voted in favor of the corporation plan at the suggestion of Eugene Meyer, special representative of President Coolidge, who is traveling through the south in an effort to improve the cotton situation. He arrived here today.

Mr. Meyer said that while banks in Louisiana, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama have agreed on $1,000,000 corporations of a similar nature, the real key to cotton relief lies with Texas.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Organization of a $1,000,000 corporation to hold from the market for 18 months or two years if necessary, 300,000 bales of the 1926 cotton crop of this State was unanimously voted tonight by the executive council of the South Carolina Bankers association. James E. Peurifoy, of Walterboro, was named chairman of a committee to organize the corporation.

MUST FACE BRIEF CRISIS

Chicago, Oct. 27 (By A. P.). Dwight W. Morrow, of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., who has maintained intimate contacts with the problems of post-war readjustment in Europe expects that France and Italy will be established on a gold currency base before the end of 1927, which would bring all of the countries of western Europe "to a basis of sound economy" after eight years of economic dislocation and industrial rehabilitation.

In a discussion, before the Institute of American Meat Packers, of the "outlook for 1927" from the viewpoint of finance, Mr. Morrow characterized the prospects of European stabilization as the most encuoraging omen on the horizon of world industry.

Mr. Morrow was introduced by Vice President Charles G. Dawes.

Touching on the influence of each of the succeeding gold restoration, Mr. Morrow said that each difficult step toward stability had produced beneficial results on both international trade and the internal economies of the respective countries involved.

In the cases of Austria, Germany and England, the restoration has been followed by some temporary hardships of readjustment, but the policy has in each case been gratifying in its effect upon business generally.

"I believe that the nations which still have the step before them are determined to face the temporary hardships for the greater benefits of sound economic policy," he said.

New Metal Currency Created by Belgium

Brussels, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—A new metal currency, corresponding to multiples and subdivisions of the newly created Belgian monetary standard, the belga, was instituted today by a royal decree. The new currency will replace the 5 and 20 franc notes.

The present 5 and 20 franc notes will remain in circulation, but will be withdrawn gradually. Today's measure will place from 125,000,000 to 150,000,000 francs in metal money in circulation as compared with the 25,000,000 now in circulation.

2 Children Die in Fire; 2 Saved.

Elwood, Ind., Oct. 27 (By A. P.). When Mrs. Richard Leakey went across the street to a neighbor's today she left her four children playing in the house. She returned to find the house in flames. Two, Richard, 7 months, and Phyllis, 2 years, were burned to death.

RIGHT TO SEE PACKERS' BOOKS DENIED TO U. S.

Court of Appeals Upholds the Contention That Order Is Unconstitutional.

MANDAMUS IS SET ASIDE

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 27 (By A. P.). Litigation of several years between the government and the large packing companies over the government's right to examine the packing companies' books was decided for the packers today by the United States circuit court of appeals, which ruled the government has no right to examine or make copies of the books and ordered dismissal of mandamus proceedings instituted by the United States Attorney General and previously upheld by Federal Judge Cliffe.

The government action was based on the packers and stockyards act of 1921 which, the government claimed, gave the Secretary of Agriculture the right to examine and make copies of all books and records of the packers for the information of Congress and for use in the possible investigation of the packing business.

At the outset Swift & Co., Wilson & Co. and the Cudahy Packing Co. refused to comply with the order of the Secretary of Agriculture, alleging that the act was unconstitutional.

Mandamus proceedings were instituted before Judge Cliffe to compel the surrender of the books by the packers, and the government's contention was upheld in this court. The circuit court of appeals, in a decision written by Judge Samuel Alschuter, held that the demand of the government was unreasonable and in violation of the constitutional rights of the packers. The demand was also held to be too inclusive and even in excess of the authority of the Federal Trade Commission, which has wide powers in such matters.

REED TO RESUME HIS INQUIRY TODAY INTO INDIANA KLAN

OREGON EDITOR DENIES GETTING $35,000 FUND

Walter Hayes, Local Lawyer, Contradicts Testimony of Witnesses.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Turning its searchlight on the Indiana political situation again, the Senate campaign funds committee will begin the examination here tomorrow of more than half a dozen members and former members of the Ku Klux Klan in that State.

Primarily, Senator Reed (Democrat), Missouri, the committee chairman, will seek to establish whether Senator Watson, Republican, who is seeking reelection next Tuesday, was present at a conference of high klan officials at Washington last January at which Walter F. Brossert, an Indianapolis lawyer, resigned as grand dragon of the hooded order in the Hoosier State.

R. B. Bradford, of Crown Point, Ind., testified before the committee at Kansas City Monday that he had been told that the senior Indiana senator sat in on this conference and both he and Wallace C. J. Granger, of Logansport, declared that Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard, forced Bossert out because he would not agree to have the Indiana klan "go down the line" for Watson.

Bossert and Mayors Called.

Senator Watson promptly denied their testimony and Senator Reed decided to go forward with the inquiry in an effort to find out just what happened at Washington. To that end he has recalled Bossert and James V. Bolen, of Anderson, former secretary of the Indiana klan, both of whom were quoted by Bradford as having said Senator Watson was a tthe klan meeting at the National Capital.

In addition, subpenas have been served on Mayor John L. Duval, of Indianapolis, and Mayor Herbert Males, of Evansville, who, the committee has been told, were present at the conference.

Other witnesses called include George Myers, of Indianapolis, whose name has been to the committee as one of those who heard Bolen tell about the Washington conference, and Milton Elrode, of Indianapolis, former editor of the Fiery Cross.

Payment Story "False."

Portland, Oreg., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Charges that $35,000 had been paid to the Portland Morning Oregonian by power company interests for opposing the candidacy of Senator Robert N. Stanfield, of Oregon, were characterized as an outrageous falsehood from beginning to end by Edgar B. Piper, editor of the newspaper, here today.

Mr. Piper testified at the hearing into Oregon campaign expenditures opened today by Senator Charles L. McNary, of Oregon, a member of the Senate campaign committee.

Senator Stanfield, called to the stand, declared he had never stated and did not believe that any money had been paid to the Oregonian or to its editor for opposing him. His information with regard to money contributed in the campaign by power company interests had been merely of funds given for the campaign of Frederick Steiwer, Republican senatorial nominee, Stanfield said.

Defeated for renomination by Steiwer, Stanfield is seeking election as an independent.

The opening session was marked by the statements of two witnesses that the information upon which George Putnam, editor of the Salem Capital Journal, based his charge that $35,000 had been paid to the Oregonian by the Portland Electric Power Co., came from Walter Hayes, of Washington, D. C., vice president of the National Surety Co. and former private secretary to President Roosevelt.

Maj. William P. Simpson, of Salem, secretary of the World War Veterans State bureau, and Harry N. Crain, managing editor of the Salem Capital Journal, said that Hayes gave this information.

Denial By Walter Hayes.

(By the Associated Press.)

Walter Hayes, former private secretary to President Roosevelt, last night denied any knowledge of a $35,000 contribution from the Portland Electric Power Co. to the Portland Oregonian for the newspaper's opposition to the candidacy of Senator R. N. Stanfield, of Oregon.

"I never heard of the Portland Electric Power Co. in my life," Hayes said. "I have a pleasant recollection of meeting Mr. Putnam, but I never had any such conversation with him. He must have me confused with some one else."

Senator Cameron Charges $100,000 Arizona "Slush"

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Charging that a "slush fund" of $100,000 is "being thrown into Arizona during the last days of the campaign in an effort to control this State, part of it through a New Mexico bank, from Eastern copper interests," Senator Ralph A. Cameron, candidate for reelection on the Republican ticket, has telegraphed Senator Reed at Kansas City, urging that a senatorial committee convene here to investigate the situation.

"The forces contributing to this fund are presumed to be the same as those who recently expended over $300,000 in the primary held in Arizona for one candidate in laying the groundwork for the general election," Senator Cameron said.

imize their action as an individual act.

The Boston Post, chief Democratic organ of the State, with a circulation of almost 500,000, has taken the only other possible means of attack, and pictured Senator Butler as a selfish friend, unable to win on his own merits, unfit therefore for office and appealing in the face of defeat to his friend in the White House.

These appear at best to be weak weapons to combat the force of the Republican master stroke. Francis Prescott, chairman of the Republican State committee and son-in-law of Frank W. Stearns—which shows how closely the State machine in Massachusetts is knit to the President—said today that the only problem the Republicans faced was the one of getting out the vote.

Country Vote Difficult.

The feeling of the G. O. P. tactitians is, of course, that the request of the chief executive for support will do this and that cumulative force will be given by the trip of President Coolidge to Northampton. If the President can come 500 miles to cast his ballot, they reason, the rural Republican voter can not avoid getting into his car to drive a mile or two for the same purpose.

The fact that in this State Republican strength is centered in the country districts makes the task of polling the full vote increasingly difficult. The cities, with their large populations of Irish extraction and foreign-born citizens are by nature Democratic and because of their compactness easy to organize.

The task of organization has been attacked by the Republicans in thorough fashion in this campaign. Senator Butler, as a campaign orator, ranks considerably below par, but as organizers he and his associates have set an entirely new standard for the State. The machinery for getting out the vote has been considerably improved.

The problem has been whether even the well-oiled machinery could make any headway in conquering off-year apathy. Even in the last presidential year there was a difference of 74,000 votes between the totals of those cast for chief executive and in the senatorial fight. After going to the polling places 74,000 voters did not take the trouble to make a cross beside some names in the Senate contest.

Off-Year Apathy Seen.

There is, moreover, a normal off-year apathy in Massachusetts that keeps 200,000 individuals, who will cast a vote for the Presidency, away from the polls. Republican leaders and observers acknowledge frankly and sorrowfully that Republicans compose the majority of these apathetic voters.

There have been indications also in the past few years that Massachusetts has been losing its solidly safe Republican aspect. Not even the fact that a native son headed the national ticket in 1924 served to prevent a gain in the Democratic vote over the previous elections.

In the past two senatorial races, of course, Massachusetts has in each instance been a doubtful State. When Henry Cabot Lodge was returned to the Senate just before his death his majority over William A. Gaston was less than 8,000. The figure by which Frederick H. Gillett earned his promotion from the Speakership of the House to the Senate was approximately 17,000. The majority in each instance was small enough to worry the rival factions considerably.

Judged by the figures of 1924, the vote in Massachusetts in all parties reached in round figures 1,125,000. Of this number, 650,000 may be considered normally Republican in a gubernatorial contest, but not in a senatorial conflict with even less confusing currents than this one.

Progressives With Walsh.

Walsh this year, for instance, is backed by the progressive action committee in Massachusetts, composed of the progressive and radical vote that delivered a total of 142,000 to La Follette and Wheeler in 1924. The United Textile Workers of America have stamped Walsh as 100 per cent fair to union labor and attacked Senator Butler's record. The railroad brotherhoods have sent propaganda and money into the State to aid the Democratic candidates, and the "wet" sentiment can find expression only through support of the Democratic ticket.

These are all influences calculated to cut the Republican strength. Against them the G. O. P. throws improved organization and, it believes, the Coolidge vote, which in 1924 broke all party barriers and gave the President a 423,000 majority.

An indication of the infinite detail with which the Republicans have been working is the use of the new talking motion picture machine. This outfit, mounted on a truck, has followed the itinerary of the Democratic campaigners. Crowds leaving the opposition rallies have been caught by the device, which shows a picture of the President on the White House lawn synchronized to a speech on economy. Following the screen address Republican orators have addressed the Democratic supporters.

Ballot Tricks Employed.

Not even the tricks of ballot position have been overlooked by the Republicans. Senator Butler does not enjoy first place, a privilege which goes to John J. Ballam, candidate of the workers' party, but third on the list, and ahead of Walsh comes the name of Washington Cook. Cook, who is described by the Republican machine as a renegade Republican, made the race for the same office in 1922 and polled 8,000 votes, a defection from Senator Lodge that almost beat him.

That year Cook ran as a prohibitionist. Since he was forced to the "wet" side in politics, and after his name comes a designation strange to American politics. The ballot reads Washington Cook, modification Volstead act. It has been scented as a Republican move to pull antiprohibition strength from Walsh, and surely is an unorthodox designation of a candidate, if not so intended.

Summarized, the Massachusetts situation resolves itself as follows:

A week ago estimates of the Walsh majority, made in some instances by Republican adherents, ran as high as 75,000.

-Betting odds against Senator Butler had been quoted as high as 2 to 1.

Today, with the President's appeal four days old and less than a week of the campaign remaining, the consensus seems to be that the election may go either way.

Betting odds, which dropped first to 10 to 7 against Senator Butler, are now at evens.

Possibly the situation is too involved for definite statements, but if Coolidge popularity counts for anything—and there have been indications that the State has already risen to his message—and if Coolidge luck still holds, the two should turn the tide.

SEIZED SHIP'S LIQUOR IS REPORTED STOLEN

Indictments to Follow Loss of Part of Elma Cargo, It Is Said.

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The Wilmington News-Dispatch today says conspiracy indictments against a number of persons will be sought at the November term of the United States district court here as a result of alleged disappearance of whisky impounded when the rum ship Elma was seized off this port several months ago.

The whisky, about 4,000 cases, was stored in the custom house after being seized. Between the time it was impounded and the time the district court ordered it destroyed, several weeks ago, some of the liquor is alleged to have disappeared.

The News-Dispatch says the names of those against whom indictments will be sought have not been disclosed, but adds that Federal agents have been investigating some Federal employes.

"It is understood," says the story, "that secret service men are in possession of names of people reported to them as having obtained some of the liquor. Likewise, they were said to know the names of the persons alleged to have withdrawn the whisky."

SOLD FEDERAL DATA IN INQUIRY, IT IS SAID

Name of Former Department of Justice Agent Is Given to Jury.

Baltimore, Oct. 27 (By A. P.). A Federal grand jury today was given the name of a former Department of Justice investigator, alleged by United States District Attorney Ames W. W. Woodcock to have sold information regarding the department activities. At the request of District Attorney Woodcock, newspapers withheld publication of the name pending action of the jury.

The information divulged, it was indicated, dealt with a Department of Justice investigation of merger plans of Maryland fertilizer corporations. Officials intimated that the "leak" had not seriously hampered the investigation before it was discovered.

The Federal jury investigation, after hearing of the accused, was adjourned until Friday when, it was announced, two Washington witnesses were expected to appear.

Man Seriously Hurt In Four-Story Fall

Thomas Hall, 27 years old, 214 C street northwest, is in a serious condition in Emergency hospital suffering from injuries received yesterday when he fell from the roof of a four-story building at Conduit road and Little Falls road northwest. Physicians said he is suffering from internal injuries.

Hall, an employe of the United States Tile Co., 2020 Georgia avenue northwest, was working on the roof of the building when he slipped and fell. Fellow workmen summoned an ambulance.

RITES FOR MRS. STROBEL.

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Strobel, 74 years old, wife of George E. Strobel, who died Tuesday at her home, 2414 K street northwest, will be held at her late residence today at 2 o'clock. Interment, which will be private, will be in Prospect Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Strobel is survived by six children, John H. Strobel, of Lock No. 4, Pa.; George E. Strobel, jr., of Baltimore, and Mrs. B. F. Ashford, Miss Louise Strobel, William H. Strobel and Irving E. Strobel, all of this city. Eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren also survive.

INSIDE AND OUTSIDE MEN TELL ALLEGED WINE PERMIT DEAL

MAJ. OWEN IS NAMED AS RECEIVING MONEY

Agreement Made to Appoint "Reliable" Dry Agents, in Testimony.

Chicago, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The "inside" and "outside" men of the alleged conspiracy to violate the prohibition law through the illegal withdrawal of more than 1,000,000 gallons of sacramental wine told their stories of "arrangements" and alleged grafting at the Federal court trial today of Maj. Percy Owen, former Illinois prohibition director, and Lowell B. Mason, State senator.

Mason, who is seeking reelection next week as a dry, was involved in the opening statement yesterday of Leo Klein, assistant United States district attorney, as a "fixer" and "go-between," but his name did not figure in today's testimony.

First Illegal Graft.

The "inside man," Harry Schlaub, former bathhouse keeper, indicted with Maj. Owen and Mason, and five others, said the major's first bit of grafting in the wine conspiracy was a $50 bill he slipped into Owens' glove.

The "outside man," Louis Abelson, also indicted, was arrested, he testified, and Schlau brought him a $1,000 Liberty bond in a tobacco can with the statement: "That's from the Major; if you need any more, I'll get it."

The Liberty bond was to be posted as bail.

The testimony of Schlau and Abelson coincided virtually throughout and was a narrative of an agreement between themselves upon a scheme for having Owen appoint two "reliable" prohibition agents to inspect sacramental wine permits and of fixing graft of $300 for release permits for 2,000 gallons of wine, with certain divisions of the spoils.

$1,600 Once Divided.

The largest single collection from Abelson at one time was $1,600, Schlau testified, and that amount was divided with Maj. Owen. He testified to numerous other divisions with the former prohibition director and fixed the total amount received from Abelson at between $12,000 and $13,000.

Abelson testified that he had collected about $39,000 from persons representing congregations and that he paid $4,500 to the two "reliable" agents, A. E. Bennett and Bernard Rumps, also indicted.

REPUBLICAN CLAIMS DENIED BY DANIELS

Says Cotton Farmer Owes G. O. P. No Thanks for Good Or Hard Times.

Forest City, N. C., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, in a political address here tonight declared that if the Republicans claim credit for conditions of prosperity they must take the blame for the plight of the cotton farmer.

"Either Mr. Coolidge and the Republican party are responsible when prices are high or they are not," the speaker declared. "If they are to be credited with prosperity when it prevails, how can they escape responsibility for low prices and hard times when they exist?"

Mr. Daniels said that early in September the price of cotton afforded some profit and the song of Coolidge and prosperity was sung. A little later the slump came. Cotton hit the toboggan. Where was Coolidge, the magic maker of high prices and high wages and prosperity? The Republican administration is not responsible for any distributed prosperity. It did not put up the price of cotton and farmers owed no thanks to the party in power when the price was high. It did not put down the price of cotton last month. But it can not claim credit for one without inviting blame for the other."

N. D. Perlman Sued Over Election Fight

New York, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Maxwell M. Wallach, an attorney, today filed suit in the State supreme court for $250,000 damages against Representative Nathan D. Perlman and Abraham S. Gilbert, a former deputy attorney general, on allegations growing out of the congressional investigation into charges of crookedness in the election of Perlman in 1924. The charges were made by Dr. William Sirovich, defeated Democratic candidate. After the investigation, Perlman was seated by the House of Representatives.

Gilbert represented Perlman during the congressional investigation. Wallach alleges that Perlman and Gilbert imputed dishonest motives to his efforts to secure evidence to show the election was crooked.

ANTISALOON LEAGUES REPORT ON EXPENSES

(By the Associated Press.)

The Flying Squadron Foundation reported yesterday to the clerk of the House that it had spent $572.09 in congressional campaigns and had received $1,520 in contributions.

The Massachusetts Antisaloon league listed contributions of $276.50 and expenditures of $469.78. The Maryland Antisaloon league gave expenditures as $690.23 and contributions $1,290.38, including $500 received from the national antisaloon organization.

The Montana Antisaloon league reported contributions of $124 and expenditures of $101, while the West Virginia Antisaloon league stated it had received and spent $27.50.

Ray T. Baker, Democrat, in the Nevada senatorial campaign, reported that he had spent $2,150 and received $5,350 in contributions, including $5,000 from the Democratic National senatorial committee, $250 from J. D. Phelan, former Democratic senator from California and $100 from Joseph Tumulty, former Secretary to President Wilson. Senator Cameron (Republican), Arizona, reported personal expenditures of $1,450 and contributions of $6,050, including $5,000 from the Republican national senatorial committee.

Workhouse Apples Go to Playgrounds

A truck load of apples, gathered by the inmates of the Occoquan workhouse, were distributed among the children at the Rosedale and Hoover playgrounds here yesterday by Albert Zimmerman, evangelist of the Helpers from the Hills.

Had not the apples been gathered they would have rotted where they fell. Arrangements for gathering them were made by George S. Wilson, secretary of the board of public welfare, and M. M. Barnard, general superintendent of penal institutions for the District. The apples were brought to this city in a truck of The Washington Post.

Navy Officer Denies Wife's Divorce Charges

Commander Robert T. Darrow, U. S. N., in charge of the mine, net and depth section of the bureau of ordnance, Navy Department, who was sued for maintenance by Mrs. Virginia Darrow, Cathedral mansions, and charged with desertion, denied the charge yesterday in his answer filed in equity court through Attorneys Lambert, Yeatman and Canfield.

He explained that his wife's "nagging and abusing tongue, vicious temper and quarrelling" is responsible for the separation. He also states that "her vicious displays of temper" were such in 1923 that he suffered a nervous breakdown and went to the hospital for treatment.

Midshipmen Observe Navy Day With Drill

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 27.—A special infantry drill by the midshipmen of the Naval Academy marked the only observance of navy day in Annapolis today, aside from the fact that ships attached to the naval station were in "full dress" with flags and pennants displayed from stem to stern.

The midshipmen were reviewed by Rear Admiral Nulton, superintendent, and officers assigned to the station and members of their families.

Berlin Foreign Policy Held Criticized Here

Berlin, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The afternoon newspapers today displayed prominently Washington dispatches from Paris and London saying that the United States is disgruntled over the present German foreign policy. The dispatches intimate that Washington is not looking with favor at the recent suggestion for the sale of German railway bonds and the creation of the European steel trust.

While the papers of the left doubt the truth of the dispatches, the organs of the right and of the monarchists are using the reports as material for an anti-Stresemann campaign, insisting that American friendship is much more valuable to Germany than French.

Du Pont Stock Increased.

Dover, Del., Oct. 27 (By A. P.). An increase in the capital stock of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co. from 3,100,000 to 6,600,000 shares was authorized today by the state department here. Of the shares, 1,500,000 will be nonvoting and 100,000 voting debenture stock, with a par value of $100. The remaining 5,000,000 common shares have no par value.

MILLS ATTACKS SMITH ON HIS PRIVATE RECORD

Governor Asks Retraction or Says Opponent Will Answer for Remark.

LOST HIS HEAD, IS REPLY

New York, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Gov. Smith threw aside his prepared campaign speech at the Morris High school in the Bronx tonight to reply to the statement attributed to Ogden L. Mills (Republican), candidate for governor, that "he (Smith) can not be trusted in either his public or private life."

"There is such a thing as an ambitious man who is seeking office losing his head," the governor said. "I am satisfied that Mills lost his this afternoon. He shouldn't have done so, but if he did he must take the consequences.

"He'll either produce the evidence or retract that statement and explain that it was made in the heat of passion. If not, he will have to answer for it.

"My public life has been under the severest scrutiny of any living man in the past 23 years. One particular man with a vast fortune has tried to find out something about me, but he never has been able to do it. As for my private life, I will compare it any time with that of Mr. Mills."

The milk controversy in Greater New York again was a chief issue between Gov. Smith and Representative Mills, in their speeches today.

Senator James W. Wadsworth, jr., Republican candidate for reelection, continued his campaign in New York city tonight by discussing the tariff, prohibition and national prosperity, crediting the Republican protective tariff with being one of leading factors in the nation's prosperity. Robert F. Wagner, the senator's Democratic opponent, challenged the statement of former Secretary Charles Evans Hughes that Senator Wadsworth should be elected because of his experience at Washington.

"On the other hand," said Mr. Wagner, "he argued the election of Congressman Mills on the ground that Gov. Smith was more experienced—in fact, too experienced—and therefore should be replaced by a new broom."

STEPHENSON FILES HIS MURDER APPEAL

Former Klan Dragon, Center of Inquiry, Is Serving Life Sentence.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan today appealed to the Indiana supreme court from his conviction last November 14 of second degree murder in connection with the death of Miss Madge Oberholtzer of Indianapolis. Stephenson was found guilty by a jury in the Hamilton county circuit court at Noblesville, and sentenced to state prision for life.

Stephenson was charged with having abducted Miss Oberholtzer from Indianapolis and attacking her on a train enroute to Hammond. She took poison the following day and died several weeks later. The prosecution held that injuries inflicted on the girl by Stephenson and the withholding of medical treatment caused her death. It was brought out in the trial that Stephenson had met Miss Oberholtzer at Gov. Jackson's inaugural ball in January, 1925.

Recent allegations of political corruption in Indiana made by Thomas H. Adams, publisher of the Vincennes Commercial, resulted in a grand jury investigation which is now in its third week. Shortly after the grand jury began its inquiry Stephenson was brought from prison and testified briefly. Whether he revealed anything to the investigating body has never been disclosed.

Myer Cohen Indorsed For Rudolph's Place

Friends of Myer Cohen, Washington lawyer and insurance man, are contemplating steps to promote his candidacy for commissioner of the District of Columbia, to succeed Cuno H. Rudolph, it became known last night.

They point out that Cohen is a native of the District, a lifelong Republican and is thoroughly familiar with local affairs. They cite also his identity with local movements for the development of the District, and his wide acquaintance among business men and members of the bar. Cohen, they say, refuses to take the suggestion seriously.

Price fixing would not relieve the farmer's distress, he said.

A report was made at the afternoon session of an extensive analysis of the circulation of 74 national magazines. Stanley Resor, president of the J. Walter Thompson Co., explained that the study was for the purpose of learning just what kind of subscribers the various magazines had. It is likely that a similar study will be made of newspaper circulations, he said.

Survey for Quality.

Already there are agencies to determine the quantity of circulations, but the survey is to get at the quality. It was made under the direction of Dr. Daniel Starch, director of the department of research of the association, and formerly a Harvard professor.

The full scale of service which an advertising agency can render was run off by F. J. Ross, of the F. J. Ross Co., New York.

"It is generally conceded," Clarence D. Newell, of Newell Emmett Co., Inc., New York, said, "even by the critics of the present system, that the advertising agent as an institution has been and is largely instrumental in cutting down the hazard of advertising and thus effectively serves at least this major common interest of both advertiser and publisher. Mr. Newell was discussing the worth of the advertising agent in the general advertising scheme of things.

Other speakers were John Benson, of Benson and Gamble, Chicago; Stewart L. Mims, of J. Walter Thompson Co., and Dr. Daniel Stanch, director of the association's research.

Danger Signals Cited.

Some danger signals were cited by Edward T. Hall, of Ralston Purina Co., of St. Louis, and president of the Association of National Advertisers, at the dinner meeting. He said that increasing advertising costs were threateining the advertising industry. Mr. Young, presiding, said the advertising men accepted his challenge and that ingenuity would find a way of relieving the situation.

S. M. Holiday, of the General Outdoor Advertising Co., declared that increased prosperity must come from improved merchandising methods. There can be no wage reduction, he said.

B. Kirk Rankin, of the Southern Agriculturalist, Nashville, Tenn., sought to interest the advertising men in the possibilities of the South. He agreed with Mr. Charles that the farmer was being overlooked.

ADVERTISING AGENTS AT BANQUET HEAR COOLIDGE

Delegates to the American Association of Advertising Agencies, at their banquet last night in the Mayflower. President Coolidge made the principal address, stressing advertising as a means of developing American commerce. His address was broadcast to the country through nineteen radio stations.

ADVERTISING IS PRAISED BY PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

as the concern very largely of schoolmasters and clergymen. We have become so accustomed to the character of our whole, vast and intricate system of existence that we do not ordinarily realize its enormous importance.

It seems to me probable that of all our economic life the element on which we are inclined to place too low an estimate is advertising. When we come in contact with our great manufacturing plants, our extensive systems of transportation, our enormous breadth of agriculture or the imposing structures of commerce and finance, we are forced to gain a certain impression by their very magnitude, even though we do not stop to consider all their implications. By the very size and nature of their material form they make an appeal to the senses, even though their import does not reach the understanding. But as we turn through the pages of the press and the periodicals, as we catch the flash of billboards along the railroads and the highways, all of which have become enormous vehicles of the advertising art, I doubt if we realize at all the impressive part that these displays are coming more and more to play in modern life. Even the most casual observation, however, reveals to us that advertising has become a great business. It requires for its maintenance investments of great amounts of capital, the occupation of large areas of floor space, the employment of an enormous number of people, heavy shipments through the United States mails, wide service by telephone and telegraph, broad use of the printing and paper trades and the utmost skill in direction and management. In its turnover it runs into hundreds of millions of dollars ecah year.

Advertising Is Education.

When we stop to consider the part which advertising plays in the modern life of production and trade we see that basically it is that of education. It informs its readers of the existence and nature of commodities by explaining the advantages to be derived from their use and creates for them a wider demand. It makes new thoughts, new desires, and new actions. By changing the attitude of mind it changes the material condition of the people. Somewhere I have seen ascribed to Abraham Lincoln the statement that "In this and like communities public sentiment is everything. With public sentiment nothing can fail; without it nothing can succeed; consequently he who molds public sentiment goes deeper than he who enacts statutes or pronounces decisions. He makes statutes and decisions possible or impossible to be executed." Advertising creates and changes this foundation of all popular action, public sentiment, or public opinion. It is the most potent influence in adopting and changing the habits and modes of life, affecting what we eat, what we wear, and the work and play of the whole nation. Formerly it was an axiom that competition was the life of trade. Under the methods of the present day it would seem to be more appropriate to say that advertising is the life of trade.

Two examples of this influence have come to me in a casual way. While I can not vouch for the details, I believe in their outline they are substantially correct. One relates to an American industry that had rather phenomenal growth and prosperity in the late eighties and early nineties, being the foundation of one or two large fortunes. In its development it had been a most generous advertiser. A time came when various concerns engaged in this line of manufacturing were merged and consolidated. There being no longer any keen competition, it was felt that it was now no longer necessary to explain to the public the value of this product or the superiority of one make over another. In order to save the large expense that had been made for that purpose, advertising was substantially abandoned. The inevitable result followed, which all well-informed trade quarters now know would follow. But the value of advertising was not so well understood 25 or 30 years ago. This concern soon became almost a complete failure. As I recall, it had to be reorganized, entailing great losses. This line of trade was later revived under the direction and counsel of some of its old managers, and with the proper amount of publicity became a successful enterprise.

President Cites Bonnet.

But let us turn from the unfortunate experience of the loss that occurred through lack of advertising to an example of gain that was made through the shrewd application of this principle In a somewhat typical American community a concern was engaged in an industrial enterprise. Its employes were not required to be men of great skill. Oftentimes they were new arrivals in this country who had been brought up to be accustomed to the meager scale of living abroad. Their wants were not large, so that under the American rate of wages they found it possible to supply themselves and their families without working anywhere near full time. As a result, production was low compared with the number employed and was out of proportion to the overhead expense of management and capital costs. Some fertile mind conceived the idea of locating a good milliner in that community. The wares of this shop were generously advertised through window display, newspaper space, and circularization. I suppose that every head of a family knows that a new bonnet on the head of one of the women in the neighborhood is contagious. The result in that community almost at once was better wearing apparel for the women, which necessiated more steady employment for the men. The output of the plant was greatly increased, its cost units were reduced, its profits were enlarged, it could sell its product to its customers at a lower figure, and the whole industry was improved. More wealth was produced. But the reaction went even further. The whole standard of living in that locality was raised. All the people became better clothed, better fed, and better housed. They had aspirations, and the means to satisfy them, for the finer things of life. All of this came from the judicious application of the principle of advertising.

The system which brought about these results is well known to the members of this association. You have seen innumerable instances where concerns have failed through lack of advertising and innumerable others where they have made a success through the right kind and amount of publicity. Under its stimulation the country has gone from the old hand methods of production which were so slow and laborious with high units costs and low wages to our present great factory system and its mass production with the astonishing result of low unit costs and high wages. The preeminence of America in industry, which has constantly brought about a reduction of costs, has come very largely through mass production. Mass production is only possible where there is mass demand. Mass demand has been created almost entirely through the development of advertising.

Demand Is Needed.

In former days goods were expected to sell themselves. Oftentimes they were carried about from door to door. Otherwise, they were displayed on the shelves and counters of the merchant. The public were supposed to know of these sources of supply and depend on themselves for their knowledge of what was to be sold. Modern business could neither have been created nor can it be maintained on any such system. It constantly requires publicity. It is not enough that goods are made, a demand for them must also be made. It is on this foundation of enlarging production through the demands created by advertising that very much of the success of the American industrial system rests.

It will at once occur to those who have given any thought to these subjects how important it is to be the continuing success of the business which this gathering represents, and to the general welfare of the country, that the conditions under which these results have been secured should be maintained. It is our high rate of wages which brings about the greatest distribution of wealth that the world has ever seen and provides the enormous capacity for the consumption of all kinds of commodities which characterizes our country. With our improved machinery, with the great increase in power that has come from steam and electricity, with the application of engineering methods to production, the output of each individual engaged in our industrial and agricultural life is steadily increasing. The elimination of waste through standardization has been another most important factor in this direction. If we proceed under our present system, there would appear to be little reason to doubt that we can continue to maintain all of these high standards in wages, in output, and in consumption indefinitely, and with our home markets as a foundation increase our foreign commerce by a greater exchange of those commodities in which we are peculiarly favored for the commodities of other nations in which they have a special advantage. But nothing would appear to be plainer than that this all depends upon the maintenance of our American scale of wages, which is the main support of our home market.

Ministers to Development.

It is to be seen that advertising is not an economic waste. It ministers to the true development of trade. It is no doubt possible to waste money through wrong methods of advertising, as it can be wasted through wrong methods in any department of industry. But rightfully applied, it is the method by which the desire is created for better things. When that once exists, new ambition is developed for the creation and use of wealth. The uncivilized make little progress because they have few desires. The inhabitants of our country are stimulated to new wants in all directions. In order to satisfy their constantly increasing desires they necessarily expand their productive power They create more wealth because it is only by that method that they can satisfy their wants. It is this constantly enlarging circle that represents the increasiug progress of civilization.

A great power has been placed in the hands of those who direct the advertising policies of our country, and power is always coupled with responsibilities. No occupation is charged with greater obligations than that which partakes of the nature of education. Those engaged in that effort are changing the trend of human thought. They are molding the human mind. Those who write upon that tablet write for all eternity. There can be no permanent basis for advertising except a representation of the exact truth. Whenever deception, falsehood and fraud creep in they undermine the whole structure. They damage the whole art. The efforts of the government to secure correct labels, fair trade practices and equal opportunity for all our inhabitants is fundamentally an effort to get the truth into business. The government can do much in this direction by setting up correct standards, but all its efforts will fail unless it has the loyal support of the business men of the nation. If our commercial life is to be clean and wholesome and permanent in the last resort, it will be because those who are engaged in it are determined to make it so. The ultimate reformers of business must be the business men themselves. My conception of what advertising agencies want is a business world in which the standards are so high that it will only be necessary for them to tell the truth about it. It will never be possible to create a permanent desire for things which do not have a permanent worth. It is my belief that more and more the trade of our country is conforming to these principles.

Government Is Interested.

The national government has a large interest in all these problems, though many of them are confined in their jurisdiction to the States. The general welfare of the country, its progress and prosperity are very intimately connected with the commerce that flows from agriculture and industry. Unless that be in a healthy condition, constantly expanding, securing reasonable profits, employment begins to fail, sooner or later wages begin to fall, markets are oversupplied, movements of freight decrease, factories are idle, and the results of all these are that want and distress creep into the home. You can easily draw the converse of this picture. It has been the almost universal experience in American life of late. Local conditions here and there have brought contrary results, probably unavoidable for a long time to come, but in the main the country has been and is prosperous. Perhaps the most creditable aspect of our present prosperity is that wages are high while profits have been moderate. That means that the results of prosperity are going more and more into the homes of the land and less into the enrichment of the few, more and more to the men and women and less and less to the capital which is engaged in our economic life. If this were not so, this country could not support 20,000,000 automobiles, purchase so many radios and install so many telephones. From a recent fear of being exploited by large aggregations of wealth, the people of America are learning to make such great concerns their most faithful servants. This problem is not entirely solved yet. Here and there abuses occur, but business is gradually being taught that the only method of permanent success lies in an honest, faithful, conscientious service to the public.

You are familiar with the efforts which the Federal government has been making to contribute to peace and prosperity during the recent reconstruction period. We are steadily reducing our national debt, cutting down the interest charges. We have released hundreds of thousands of people from the unproductive field of government employment to the productive field of business life. The burdens of taxation have been so far removed that they are now for the most part lightly borne, and the disproportionate charges formerly made to supply the public revenues have been released to flow into the avenues of trade and investment. We have supplied large sums for the rehabilitation of Europe and the financing of South America to the advantage of our foreign commerce, which now stands at a peace-time record. Through international covenants limiting naval armaments we have reduced the cost of national defense and made large guarantees to the peace of the world. All of this has been a program of constructive economy, beneficial alike to ourselves and to other people. In making this economically possible, in spreading its benefit, in carrying its fruits into the homes of the land, advertising has supplied and will continue to supply a very important part. Without the advantages that accrue from that art these accomplishments would not have been possible.

Impatient for the Future.

But Americans are never satisfied with the past or present. They are always impatient of the future. Our history has been that of an increasing prosperity. There have always been fluctuations in trade, but with our present system of banking and our enormous capacity for consumption such fluctuations will apparently be much less violent and are unlikely to sink to the level of depression. We can not tell what a particular month or locality may develop, but over the broad face of our country seedtime will be followed by the harvest, the productive capacity will increase and our people will become more prosperous.

These results, however, can not be considered as guaranteed by our material resources alone. They will accrue to us not because of our fertile agricultural fields, our deposits of coal, iron and precious metals, nor even from the present state of our development of trade with its accompanying supports of manufacturing, transportation and finance. We can not rely on these alone. They could all be turned into instruments of destruction. Our chief warrant for faith in the future of America lies in the character of the American people. It is our belief in what they are going to do, rather than our knowledge of what they are going to have, that causes us to face the coming years with hope and confidence. The future of our country is not to be determined by the material resources, but by the spiritual life of the people. So long as our economic activities can be maintained on the standard of competition in service we are safe. If they ever degenerate into a mere selfish scramble for rewards we are lost. Our economic well-being depends on our integrity, our honor, our conscience. It is through these qualities that your profession makes its especial appeal. Advertising ministers to the spiritual side of trade. It is a great power that has been intrusted to your keeping which charges you with the high responsibility of inspiring and ennobling the commercial world. It is all part of the greater work of the regeneration and redemption of mankind.

BUSINESS LEVIATHANS.

Reports of prosperity made by Judge Gary and other captains of industry were corroborated this week when the financial statements of the Steel Corporation and General Motors, two of the so-called billion dollar organizations, were made public. These two corporations are important examples of the American policy of mass production; their output is greater in volume and value than any other similar concerns, and their respective pay rolls are the largest in the country. Prosperity could not have come to the stockholders of these companies without the prevalence of general prosperity throughout the United States, creating not only a demand for their products but the wealth with which to purchase them.

The record-breaking reports of these corporations are the result of conditions developed under the existing tariff law, which opponents of that fiscal policy are today promising voters they will change if vested with legislative power. One of these great plants manufactures steel in all its various forms, while the other is engaged mainly in the manufacture of automobiles and allied products. One is the mainstay of the building industry, the other provides the public not only with much of its necessities but a large portion of its luxuries. The pinch of adversity would greatly decrease the demand in both cases, but the evidence shows that the demand for these products has grown steadily throughout the year. The Steel Corporation reported for the third quarter of this year the highest earnings it has enjoyed since the last three months of 1918, when the influence of war orders was still apparent. Its net earnings for the first nine months of this year are larger than for any complete year in its history. The net earnings of General Motors not only exceeded any previous nine months but, as in the case of steel, exceeded any complete calendar year. This meant not only increased income for thousands of stockholders, but continued high wages to the hundreds of thousands of workmen. It is the wage earner, chiefly, who will decide by his vote next month whether these prosperous business conditions are tc be seriously threatened.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA'S BIRTHDAY.

Eight years ago today the declaration of independence of Czechslovakia was proclaimed. It was prepared by Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk in Washington and signed by him in Independence hall, Philadelphia, at the desk whereon the American Declaration of Independence was signed.

The independence of his country was more than Dr. Masaryk had dared to hope for, even as late as the early autumn of 1918. After the allies had taken the initiative on the western front he became confident that the central powers would be defeated, but he did not prefigure in his mind the extinction of the Austro-Hungarian empire. He expected the Hapsburg dynasty to continue at the head of a mock federation of the old constituents of the empire. He prepared a draft of a declaration of autonomy and not of independence.

At this stage Dr. Masaryk met Americans who impressed upon him the wisdom of declaring Czechoslovakia independent and not merely entitled to autonomy under the Hapsburg regime. "Before this war ends," he was told, "there will either be no United States or no Hapsburg regime. The United States and Austro-Hungary are at war, and the United States will not make peace without victory. The defeat of the Hapsburg and Hohenzollerns means that there will be no Austrian or German empires. If you believe that the United States, and not the Hapsburgs, will win this war, make your declaration of absolute independence and base your declaration upon the principles stated in the American Declaration of Independence—that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. That is language which Americans will understand. The United States will recognize your independence, and unless the United States is beaten in this war your country will be independent."

Dr. Masaryk followed this advice, although in the declaration which he drafted there is still apparent his expectation that the Hapsburg dynasty would survive. However, the document declares that "we accept and shall adhere to the ideals of modern democracy," and that "we accept the American principles * * * of the actual equality of nations and of governments deriving all their just power from the consent of the governed."

Before many weeks had passed the Hapsburg empire was a dream, and the dream of Bohemian independence was a reality. The Czechoslovak republic, like the United States, was fortunate in having the guidance of the "Father of His Country" during the critical period in which the constitution was framed and the government set in motion. Dr. Masaryk, still in good health, presides over his country, and has established it upon foundations which will not be moved while the love of liberty burns in the hearts of the people.

The independence and welfare of the Czechoslovak republic are matters lying close to the heart of the American republic. The people of the United States have always rejoiced when they have seen a nation gain its independence and establish a republic. When they note that the American idea of governments deriving their powers from the consent of the governed has been adopted as a foundation stone, they are sure that such a government will survive all chance and change. May the republic of Czechoslovakia live forever!

SENATOR CAPPER'S VIEWS.

Senator Capper, of Kansas, one of the leaders of the "farm bloc" in 1922, states that the threat of some agriculturists to smash the tariff in order to improve the conditions of the farmers is a mistake. He adds:

> It will be far better to work out methods which will bring agriculture to the high level of the rest of the business life of the country rather than to throw a monkey wrench into business, and bring the whole economic structure of the country down in a grand smash.

These are words of wisdom, and should be heeded by every farmer throughout the West, where there have been rumblings of discontent and demands for radical legislation involving the destruction of the present tariff. Furthermore, the Kansas senator says:

> I do not subscribe to the extraordinary statements * * * that the tariff has been of no benefit to agriculture.

The wheat growers, the dairymen, the cattle growers and the sugar-beet growers have been greatly benefited by the present import duties on those commodities, according to Senator Capper.

These views from a senator who during the fight over the McNary-Haugen bill made many discouraging statements about protection as applying to the farmer are hopeful and helpful. Senator Capper has great influence among the farmers. His views are indorsed by many thousands of the tillers of the soil. He is right in saying that protection aids the farmers against foreign competition, and gives them the best market in the world—the home market.

THE TRACTION MERGER.

Next Wednesday morning there will be held in the boardroom of the District building a public hearing on the proposal to ask Congress to compel the local traction companies to enter into a merger. Two questions will be propounded at that time—first, does the general public desire a merger of local street car companies, and second, what measures should be included in a bill to be recommended to Congress to bring about such merger? The second question, it is needless to point out, hinges on the first for which the answer is available immediately.

The general public is not interested in the prospective merger one way or the other. It does not care a whit whether there is one traction company operating in Washington or two or three. It is interested, however, in issuance of universal transfers; in service available at brief intervals at all important traffic junctions; in assurance that the company or companies are paying their just burden of municipal and franchise taxes; in as low a fare as sound and economic management can make possible, and in several other lesser matters.

Apparently the Washington street railway companies desire to maintain their separate identity. If, as individual units, the improvements the public desires may be effected, there will be no disposition to force a merger. If, however, as the public has been led to believe, the present rate of fare is higher than necessary to assure an adequate return for one company, whereas it is too low to guarantee proper income for the other; and if there is no possibility of cooperation in the issuance of universal transfers and the proper extension of service to growing communities; and if unified control would result in large operating economies which might be passed on in the form of lowered fares, then improvement can come only as the result of a merger, and every effort should be expended to see that Congress passes the necessary legislation.

CURRENCY STABILITY.

International currency stability has a vital bearing on commerce. There is nothing so deadening to business as uncertainty. Buying or selling on a future uncertain basis due to wide variations in the exchange value of money is hazardous and often ruinous.

Before the war, long years of experience had established the exchange value of units of monetary systems in all commercial countries, operating on a gold basis. During the war and afterward these fixed exchange values were thrown out of joint, and international business was done with great difficulty. With the value of the pound, the franc, the mark or the lira daily changing, it was most distressing to do business with a foreign business house. This international business is carried on by means of a system of debits and credits, with little or no gold actually used. So long as the exchange value of the different monetary units is practically fixed and well understood, there is no difficulty. When there is a disturbance and unstable condition, neither buyers nor sellers can count on the future.

Currency stability in the principal countries of Europe is the key to a complete restoration of international trade. It has been accomplished in several countries, and wherever achieved, commerce with that country has increased. In 1923, the year when Germany's currency was again placed on a gold basis, Germany bought commodities from the United States valued at about $316,000,000. In 1924 Germany's purchases from the United States were valued at about $440,000,000, and in 1925 $470,000,000. In 1924 the United Kingdom bought goods of the United States valued at more than $982,900,000, and in 1925 more than $1,031,000,000.

International trade is not barter; it is a system of debits and credits based on a fixed and known exchange value of money. It is the same as business between individuals or corporations in the United States; the unit of value, the dollar, must be fixed and understood by all. If the word "dollar" was constantly meaning different things in different States, business would be impossible under a system of debits and credits.

As soon as all the countries of Europe get back to a gold basis and the international value of units in all monetary systems is fixed, international trade will be completely restored. The United States is assisting materially and effectively in this direction.

POWER TO CONTROL TRAFFIC.

The District commissioners have ordered an appeal from three traffic decisions of the police court, which involve fundamental questions affecting the right of control of highways. These test cases grow out of violations of regulations prohibiting the use of horse-drawn vehicles and heavy trucks on Sixteenth street. It would appear that if the ruling of the police court is to stand the commissioners and the director of traffic would be shorn of all power to control street traffic, and an act of Congress would be required to designate specifically each of the innumerable offenses that may be committed and to prescribe the penalty in each instance.

It is argued for the men charged with violating the regulations in question that Congress has no power to delegate legislative authority to the commissioners, and that only Congress can define violations of law and prescribe punishments. Lawyers further contend that if heavy traffic or horse-drawn vehicles can be barred from Sixteenth street, the power could and might be exercised to prohibit them from all streets. The flimsy argument is also made that heavy trucks ought not to be expected to respond to traffic signals as can lighter and faster vehicles, and that if Sixteenth street can not stand up under the grinding of heavy trucks it should be repaired and the surface reinforced to withstand the pounding of vehicles of that class.

To the lay mind all these arguments are without merit. If these lawyers are right the sooner the District learns of its helplessness and seeks the remedy the better will it be for the community. The claim that an administrative officer has no power to make regulations under the law and enforce them has been disproved. It is common knowledge that regulations have been issued by the Treasury Department pertaining to prohibition enforcement that go outside of and beyond the requirements of the Volstead act itself. If such regulations can be sustained by the courts it is evident that the commissioners have power to make rules for the control of traffic upon the city streets and to safeguard life and property when so authorized by Congress.

A LEAK SOMEWHERE..

There is a shortage in the water supply of New York city, and a controversy has arisen over the cause. The Herald Tribune claims to have discovered positive evidence that there is a serious leak in the bottom of the Ashokan reservoir and that the water has found its way out through the bottom of that artificial lake instead of into the city's conduits.

The Sun intimates that the missing 112,000,000,000 gallons of fluid may have been stolen by the criminals who, according to Candidate Mills, are responsible for the wholesale adulteration of the milk supply of Manhattan. Other authorities scoff at both these theories and insist that the drought in the early summer is alone responsible for the plight in which the city finds itself on the verge of winter.

However, the theory of the leak in the bottom of the reservoir maye be based upon facts, after all. There are many lakes in this country which apparently have no outlets, yet the water in them is never stagnant; which shows that there must be invisible outlets somewhere. Besides, old timers recall that during his younger days, and long before he was even a candidate for mayor of Buffalo, the late Grower Cleveland, whose vocal repertoire was extremely limited when it came to singing, was very fond of a song in which the positive statement was made that "There's a hole in the bottom of the sea." His cronies, for he had several in those days, would shout the chorus: "Pour her down, pour her down, pour her down," followed by the demand, "Fill 'em up again."

Submarine convulsions off Japan, California, Iceland and Sicily have been explained by seismologists as the effect of volcanic fires coming into contact with the sea through holes in the bottom of the sea. Folklore often perpetuates in legend and song truths that are obscure to science. Let the New York city authorities inspect the bottom of Ashokan dam thoroughly before they abandon the theory that there is a leak.

PUBLIC FEEDING GROUNDS.

The Department of the Interior is about to inaugurate a new national policy for making available public lands as ranges for cattle and sheep. Of the original 2,000,000,000 acres of the public domain there still remain 200,000,000 acres unsettled. Nearly all of these lands are unavailable for homesteads, as they consist of two groups, the first of which includes arid regions where the rainfall is as low as four inches per annum. The second group embraces rough mountain lands where the rainfall is sufficient to produce a vigorous growth of vegetation, but which are unsuited to the cultivation of crops because of unfavorable climate and soils. To attempt tillage of such lands is a waste of time and money, besides being destructive of natural forest cover.

The department proposes in its new policy the establishment of grazing districts to be leased to stockmen, with the proviso that adequate water shall be available. If such leases are made on long time contracts it is assumed that the lessees will drill the necessary wells to provide water for their flocks and herds. But in cases where this plan is not feasible the government could drill the wells and later lease the range, being reimbursed for the cost by a charge for grazing privileges sufficient to cover the cost of administration.

The coming of the settler and the fencing of the farms along the streams throughout the West has built up a great population, but at the same time the free range has disappeared. The Interior Department, realizing that the demand for meat grows in inverse proportion to the disappearance of the grazing lands, proposes to ask Congress for the necessary authority to create feeding sections out of great areas now useless for any purpose. Thus the meat supply would be increased.

Tender Feelings

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

A great and wise man and an arrogant nobody sit in an outer office and cool their heels. They occupy the only two chairs in the room. A third man enters and a little drama follows. The nobody mutters to himself: "Huh! I got here first." But the great man gets to his feet and offers his chair.

You think it doesn't happen that way? Ah, yes; it does—always. For the great invariably are humble.

What is it that makes a great man humble? It is wisdom; nothing else. And what makes a nobody arrogant? The answer is equally obvious. It is ignorance.

Have you observed how important a boy feels at the age of 5? And how very important some of them feel at the age of 16? You know the explanation, of course. They haven't yet learned how large the world is. They feel important because they know about themselves and don't know much about anything else.

You can't blame them. An ant that has whipped another doubtless feels very complacent.

The great man is humble because he knows enough to realize how insignificant he really is.

Our great world and the planets and the sun and all the stars we can see are one small family in the heavens. Men who study these matters have discovered other such families. Infinite space is filled with them—the nearest so far away that the earth is just now receiving the light beams that began their journey a million years ago—and each family contains untold millions of suns, each with its little flock of worlds, peopled, doubtless, as this one is.

Billions and billions of worlds filled with scurrying people!

Does somebody hurt your feelings? Well, make a great fuss about it. It is a very important matter.

But if you have vision to comprehend the universe, you can say to the arrogant: "Snub me if it makes you happier; I am but a grain of dust."

A Southern Need.

Columbia State: Distribution of hydroelectric power and motor transportation over good roads are the two tremendous physical facts of the day. Why not little plants to manufacture stockings, shirts, overalls and scores of commodities made out of our cotton at Eastover, at Dentsville, at Hopkins, at Blaney, at Ballentine? In this vision is nothing new. Henry Ford is realizing it on the Rouge river. There farmers are working in factories without abandoning their farms.

Well Hedged In.

Philadelphia Record: The former kaiser has amused himself by inviting a hunting party to assemble at a castle that Prussia has left him in the ownership of, but it is added that the former kaiser will not attend his own party. He certainly will not. The present government of Berlin does not care to have him around, and Holland is under obligations to the allies not to let William II leave the Netherlands.

Pretty Pastime.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The courts of Minnesota have started a game that threatens to outdo the mah jong frenzy and last a great deal longer. It is the little joker of taking away the license of the drunken auto driver. The penal code permits it and the drivers dislike it even more than going to jail. In aggravated cases fine and imprisonment can be added for good measure. The beauty of this new pastime is that all the people agree in its justice, wisdom and beneficence. The offender loses whatever his license has cost him; he can not get a new one till the court authorizes it; he can not drive without one—not very long nor very far. It is automatic disbarment of the drunks from the diving wheel. Great!

Barber Shop Etiquette.

Indianapolis News: The National Barbers Supply Dealers association having changed its name to the National Beauty and Barbers Supply Dealers association, it would appear that it might be worth the while of publishers to give some attention to the question of including a chapter on beauty-and-barber shops in their books on etiquette. Puzzling and perhaps embarrassing questions are bound to arise. Should a gentleman get up and give his chair to a lady? Should a young and vigorous young lady give her place to a rather feeble old gentleman? In announcing that a chair has been vacated should there not be some change from the brusque "next!"? It looks as if there would have to be more courtesy and less bergamot in the tonsorial atmosphere.

Gene Is Safe.

Philadelphia Inquirer: When Gene Tunney was told that Mary Garden had expressed a desire to become engaged to that big, blonde, handsome boy, who knocked Jack Dempsey out of his title, the new champion smiled appreciatively over Mary's "little joke," and said "I'm not matrimonially inclined." Gene, however, need not worry; neither is Mary, if we have the record straight.

LIZZIE'S PAPA.

One of the literary lights of the capital of the commonplace, sometimes called New York, gulped a cup of black coffee the other day, according to the Seattle Times, turned back a frayed cuff and allowed his funny little mind to become active on the subject of Henry Ford.

"Henry remains a popular idol," wrote the lit'ry gent, "despite his vast wealth, because he says that history is bunk and because he has never been photographed in dress clothes."

As a matter of fact, he has been photographed in evening clothes, and darned if the old boy doesn't look pretty plenty. So far as his remark about "history being bunk" is concerned, he's quite right about that, too. If you don't believe it, delve into the lives of some of the gentlemen that history calls "great" and you'll realize that Lizzie's papa isn't far off the trail.

Henry remains a popular idol because he has never tried to be anything other than what the Lord intended he should be. He has also demonstrated not only that a man can be a genius and make it pay, but that it isn't necessary to wear fuzzy shirts, delirium tremens ties and have three or four wives at a time in order to qualify for rating in that class.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Noah Holds the Record.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I quote from "Special" dispatch from Boston first page of your October 25 issue under the headline "Zoo Ark's 2,000 Beasts:"

"He kept his animals afloat 45 days, whereas Noah's Ark did only a 40-day stretch."

In looking up the present championship record, your Boston correspondent has overlooked one authority—(possibly unknown in Boston) the book of Genesis, by a Hebrew authority. If he will consult this he will find that Noah still holds the endurance record by a wide margin.

The same authority will make it plain that the cause of Noah's endurance was the fact that he could find no place to land and not that he had anchored. If your correspondent finds difficulty in gaining access to this Hebrew work, the writer will take pleasure in sending him a copy. It contains several things of interest.

WILLIAM H. MCGUFFEY.
Washington, Oct. 27.

Congestion at T Street.

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: Ever since the automatic signal lights have been installed on Sixteenth street, the situation at T street has been so frightful that I am moved to write this letter. From T street to U, New Hampshire avenue is a one-way south-bound thoroughfare. For this reason, all traffic coming north on New Hampshire avenue and wishing to continue north either on Sixteenth or New Hampshire is diverted over T street. With a red light against Sixteenth street traffic, there is always a long line of automobiles on T waiting to make the left-hand turn, and when the color changes the congestion is complete.

I have been studying this matter for months hoping to be able to propose a solution to the traffic director. Surely he can not be ignorant of the situation, either, and I have come to the conclusion that he, too, is unable to solve the puzzle. If New Hampshire avenue is thrown open to north-bound traffic, it would possibly create an equally intolerable situation at U street. I write in the hope that some one who sees this letter may be able to present some scheme either to your valuable journal or the traffic director which will straighten out this tangle.

OLD SUBSCRIBER.

Drunkenness in Colleges.

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: Richard T. Crane, the Chicago manufacturer, made a most painstaking investigation of college conditions which revealed a shocking amount of drinking and drunkenness among the students.

For instance, in Harvard he reported that 90 per cent of the freshmen drank some kind of intoxicants and that in the senior classes the proportion was not less than 95 per cent. He found that 35 per cent drank heavily and that 15 per cent were drunkards.

"At Yale," so the report runs, "drinking is so great that clubs have their tables in bar rooms. The Cornell men are great on beer, as they are at Princeton. * * * At Columbia I believe that there exists more debauchery than at any other college.

"Ah!" one might ask, "does this not argue strongly against prohibition?"

Not at all, kind friend, not at all. This report was based on an investigation made in November and December, 1903, at which time there were but three prohibition States in the Union. Even the wets do not believe that any such conditions have existed, or could exist, under prohibition.

Internationally Famous French Pianist

M. MAURICE DUMESNIL

Appearing Next Monday Continental Memorial Hall, D. A. R., Auspices National League of American Pen Women

WITH CHOPIN'S PIANO

CHOPIN'S piano comes to America in the personal care of M. Maurice Dumesnil, distinguished French pianist of international reputation, friend of Debussy and Saint-Saens, acclaimed by the critics of Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Rome and Madrid, of Buenos Aires, Rio and Mexico, and of the principal cities of the United States.

Only with M. Dumesnil as its guardian, only with the assurance that no fingers, save his, should touch its keys, would the Maison Pleyel of Paris permit the priceless instrument upon which the great Chopin played, to leave the city where he lived and died.

In choosing M. Dumesnil for so sacred a trust, the Maison Pleyel unwittingly brought to fulfillment the pianist's lifelong dream—to play upon Chopin's piano—a dream that had its birth when, as a student at the Paris Conservatoire, he first stood before the instrument that Chopin loved.

For M. Dumesnil will play upon Chopin's piano in every city in which the piano appears on this present tour. His reverent fingers will summon into sound works that Chopin himself once played upon these yellow keys—Preludes, a Mazurka, a Nocturne, and one of the Valses. Those who love Chopin's music will hear it as Chopin himself heard it more than eighty years ago.

M. Dumesnil's superb artistry, his fine, sensitive understanding of the spirit of Chopin's compositions, will give to these performances, upon this historic instrument, a quality so authentic as almost to invoke the spirit of Chopin's own performance upon his beloved piano.

The moments when M. Dumesnil awakens Chopin's piano to sing again will be memorable.

CAPITAL SOCIETY EVENTS

THE President and Mrs. Coolidge have as their guest at the White House Mr. Charles Beecher Warren.

Her royal highness, the Queen of Roumania, is expected to return to Washington November 24, when she will pass several days. A number of entertainments are being planned in her honor, that she may meet many of the people of Washington. Among them will be a large reception given by the legation, possibly at the Pan-American Union. Mr. Radu T. Djuvara, charge d'affaires of the Roumanian legation will return to Washington today after accompanying her majesty to West Point. Mr. Andrei Popovici, attache of the legation returned yesterday, having left her majesty in New York. Mr. Djuvara and Mr. Popovici accompanied her majesty at all times during her visit to Washington, Baltimore and New York, but she is now traveling in the role of a private citizen.

The Minister of Panama and Mme. Alfaro have issued invitations for a reception at their home Wednesday afternoon, November 3, in celebration of the independence of the Republic of Panama.

Capt. Stopford Host.

Capt. A. Stopford, naval attache of the British embassy, entertained at luncheon yesterday at his home on Massachusetts avenue, when his guests were the naval attache of the French embassy and Mme. Willm, the air attache of the British embassy and Mrs. T. G. Hetherington, the naval attache of the Italian embassy and Signora Lais, the secretary of the Italian embassy, Signor Luciano Mascia and Donna Anna Domville Mascia; the commercial counselor of the Swedish legation and Mme. Weidel, and Miss Dorothy Mondell.

Count Francois de Buisseret entertained a company of twelve at the supper dance at the Club Chantecler Tuesday night.

The naval attache of the French embassy and Mme. Willm have moved into their residence at 1810 Wyoming avenue, which they will occupy this winter.

Baron van der Elst, second secretary of the Belgian embassy, will entertain a party of ten guests at dinner Saturday evening in the garden restaurant of the Carlton hotel and will later take his guests to the opening of the Carlton club.

Baron van Boetzelaer, the newly-appointed secretary of the Netherlands legation, arrived on the Veendam last Saturday with his small daughter Marguerite, and has taken an apartment at the Wardman Park hotel.

Gen. Hines Gives Dinner.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. John L. Hines entertained at dinner last evening in compliment to Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Hanford McNider. The guests were: Mrs. Trubee Davison, Maj. Gen. William Lassiter, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Robert C. Davis, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Hanson E. Ely, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Fox Connor, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Malin Craig, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Robert H. Allen, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Herbert B. Crosby, Maj. and Mrs. U. S. Grant 3d and Capt. and Mrs. John R. D. Cleland.

Gen. and Mrs. Hines will entertain at their last reception Sunday afternoon in their quarters at Fort Myer. Mrs. Hines will have assisting her Mrs. Trubee Davison, Mrs. Malin Craig, Mrs. Hanson Ely, Mrs. Paul Hayne and Mrs. Thomas Hammond.

Gen. and Mrs. Hines will have as their guests over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. James Quan, of Greenwich, Conn.

Senator and Mrs. Walter E. Edge are at the Ambassador hotel, in New York, and early in November they will return to Washington.

Grant—Gasch Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Irene M. Gasch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Gasch, to Mr. James W. Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Grant, took place yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Patrick's church, the Rev. John K. Cartwright officiating. The church was decorated with autumn flowers and plams.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of French blue georgette crepe, trimmed with blue filet lace and gold, made over a gold satin slip. Her large hat was of black satin, faced with gold lace, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Marion Cain, maid of honor, wore a dress of channel red with a large hat to match and carried pink roses. Mr. Bernard Grant was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. John Lyons and Mrs. Rudolph Mollar.

Mrs. Gasch, mother of the bride, wore a gown of blue brocaded velvet with a blue velvet hat, and Mrs. Grant, mother of the bridegroom, was in black satin.

The ceremony was followed by a breakfast at the City club, after which Mr. Grant and his bride departed for a motor tour to Atlantic City and through New York State. They will be at home after November 15, at 914 Ninth street. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McAllister, of Ohio, and Mrs. Fred G. Aulsbrook and Mrs. Ella S. Knight, of Madison, N. J.

RAILROAD REPORTS SHOW AN UNBROKEN PROSPERITY WAVE

Six Per Cent Increase in Net Operating Income Over 1925, Is Reported.

PENNSYLVANIA RAISES ITS DIVIDEND BASIS

Norfolk & Wstern Extra Dividend of $3 Voted; Other Roads Gain.

New York, Oct. 27 (By A. P.). Continuance of the unbroken prosperity which the great majority of the country's railroads have enjoyed in recent months is reflected in earning reports for September thus far made public by 33 of about 185 class one carriers, showing an increase of 6 per cent in aggregate net operating income compared with a year ago.

Total net for the 33 roads reached $73,651,000, against $69,494,000 for the same number in September, 1925, while their gross revenues aggregated $312,967,000 in contrast to $299,101,000, an increase of $13,866,000 or 4.6 per cent, indicating the heavy flow of freight traffic throughout the country.

Among Larger Gains.

Conspicuous among the larger gains reported for September were those of the Atchison, Topeka & Sante Fe, with an increase of more than $3,000,000 in gross and $2,362,706 in net operating income. The Pennsylvania, which today raised its annual dividend rate on its $50 par value stock from 6 to 7 per cent, or $3.50 a share, reported an advance of $1,116,028 in net operating income and the New York Central showed a gain of $77,000 in net.

Directors of the Norfolk & Western added to the generally favorable situation by declaring an extra dividend of $3 a share, while the New Haven railroad, which has been accomplishing steady recovery, month by month, reported a surplus of $1,234,374, after charges, against $990,378 in September, last year. Gross revenues of the Baltimore & Ohio were more than $1,000,000 larger and net operating income gained about $605,000.

Seaboard Air Line railway earned $3.82 a share on the common stock in the first nine months this year against $2.64 a share in the same period of 1925. Surplus rose to $3,071,849 from $2,635,344.

Northern Pacific Record.

September net operating income of the Northern Pacific declined to $3,432,426 from $3,703,098 in September last year, but for the 9 months of 1926 moved up to $15,599,676 from $12,589,584 a year ago. Surplus after charges for the 9 months was $11,680,263 against $8,540,273 in the same period of 1925.

Smaller gross revenues but larger net operating income are reported by the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway for September, while surplus after charges showed a gain of $122,678 over the same month last year. Gross fell $141,357 and net operating income increased $166,075. Surplus after charges for the 9 months of 1926 reached $5,374,456, a gain of $584,620 over the same period last year.

Profitable operations previously had been reported by the Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and several others.

CRIME WAVE THEME AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Vocational Training for Boys Is Stressed as Need of Country by Speaker.

"The crime wave that is sweeping the country is caused largely by the lack of vocational training in the schools," F. E. Thompson, secretary of the Boys club of Washington, declared before the Rotary club luncheon yesterday in the Willard hotel.

"A boy's danger time is the spare hours after school," Mr. Thompson said. "If a study were made relative to fitting them into trades, it would eliminate much of the mischief into which they get."

Walter T. Weaver will hold a corn-husking bee at his farm on the Chain Bridge road for the club October 28, at which a contest between John Weaver and T. C. Dulin, members of the club, will determine who can shuck the most corn. Sidney Straus, chairman of the boys' work committee, introduced the speaker. President Harry Cunningham presided.

ADMITS HE ROBBED BANK FOR 14 YEARS

Bluefield, W. Va., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The First National Bank of Pocahontas, at Pocahontas, Va., across the State line from here, closed its doors today and was placed in the hands of D. R. Wood, Federal bank examiner. James E. McNeer, cashier, admitted he had been taking money from the deposits for about fourteen years, according to Wood.

The bank's shortage, amounting to about $100,000, will exceed the capital and surplus, the examiner said, adding that the bank would be placed in the hands of a receiver at once.

McNeer, who lives here, exonerated all other bank employes in his statement to Wood. He was arrested, arraigned before a United States commissioner and released under $25,000 bond pending a further hearing after the affairs of the bank have been investigated.

Attractive

"I don't think anything has more to do with making a girl attractive and 'easy on the eyes' than just the right face powder," says lovely Miss Gladys Flynn, of 1329 New York avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. "The delightful Black and White 'Incense of Flowers' Face Powder seems to bring out the best in my complexion! This delicately fragranced powder is so soft and fluffy it goes on smoothly without rubbing in, and never makes my skin look dried out, but gives a natural-looking, velvety bloom which is flatteringly becoming."

Looking your best always is easy when you use the exquisitely textured Black and White "Incense of Flowers" Face Powder. You can get it in your favorite tint, most attractively packaged for 50c from more than 80,000 dealers all over America.

MISS RYAN IS BRIDE AT HISTORIC MANOR

Edward Thomas Baring Weds Granddaughter of Thomas F. Ryan.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 27.—Miss Virginia Ryan and Edward Thomas Baring were married today in St. Mary's chapel of Dougheregan manor, the historic home of Charles Carroll of Carrollton, built in 1740 by that signer of the Declaration of Independence. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Michael A. Ryan, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic church, Ellicott City.

The magnificent estate, located in Howard county, a short drive from Baltimore city, is now owned by a Carroll descendant, Philip Acosta Carroll, who married Miss Nina Ryan.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan, and a granddaughter of Thomas Fortune Ryan. The bridegroom is a member of the Baring family of England, and a nephew of Baron Revelstoke.

The honeymoon will be spent in Europe, and Mr. and Mrs. Baring will, it is said, make their home in London during the season, but expect to spend much of their time in this country.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping. . . . How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. TOLEDO CLUBBER'S BAR, USED IN KILLINGS, FOUND

Purse Taken From Murdered Teacher Also Picked Up on the Street.

SLAYER STILL AT LARGE

Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 27 (By A. P.). Recovery of a purse that was taken from Miss Lily Dale Croy, 26, murdered school teacher, and the finding of a heavy iron bar, believed to be the instrument with which she was beaten to death, brought the police nearer today to Toledo's notorious clubber.

The young woman's purse was found on a sidewalk downtown. It had been dropped, police believed, not more than half an hour before a pedestrian picked it up. This convinced detectives that the clubber still is roaming the streets here.

The purse was engraved with Miss Croy's name and address. When she left her home Monday night to attend classes at Toledo university she had $2 in the purse. This money was missing, as well as the automobile keys and calling cards which she carried.

An iron bar, about a foot long and weighing between six and eight pounds is believed to have been the clubber's weapon. It was recovered today by James Harrison, negro, on a refuse pile. The refuse pile was in the vicinity of Washington school where Miss Croy's body was found under a fire escape early Tuesday morning.

A suspect reported wearing a coat with blood spots and it was taken into custody today but subsequently was released when he established that he had no connection with the slaying.

Post-mortem examination has revealed that Miss Croy was struck on the head eight times and criminally assaulted. Her death has been attributed to the clubber who murdered three Toledo women last year.

Rewards for the capture of the slayer reached $3,200 today.

Patrolmen who failed to break into the home of Mary Alden, 47, after the report of a shooting there yesterday morning, were called before police officials today for questioning. They left the house when they found it locked. The woman's husband found her shot to death last night. Authorities announced that the clubber had no connection with the slaying of Mrs. Alden.

CHICAGO SOCIETY WOMEN BEGIN BUSINESS CAREERS

Mrs. John A. Carpenter Turns Decorator, as Also Does Mrs. Howard Linn.

OTHERS OPERATE SHOPS

Chicago, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—When the former Gladys Wallis announced her return to the stage in a theater leased for her by her husband, Samuel Insull, the utilities magnate, she attracted attention to the extensive pilgrimage of Chicago's wealthy or socially prominent women who are turning avocations to profit.

Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, wife of the manufacturer who turned his talent to composing, has struck out for herself as an interior decorator.

Mrs. William Swift, whose father is Mark Morton, salt and sugar magnate, and whose husband is a member of the family of packers, owns with her sister Virginia an antique shop. Another unmarried sister, Jane Morton, sells motor cars.

While Kellogg Fairbank practices law, his wife Janet writes successful novels. Philip Brooks Maher, designs skyscrapers while his wife, the daughter of A. A. Michaelson, University of Chicago scientist, serves a downtown department store as gift secretary. Mrs. Howard Linn, whose husband is president of the National Aeroplane Co., makes interior decorating pay her a profit.

The wife of Volney Foster, manufacturer and public utility director, amuses herself profitably with a women's ready-to-wear shop. Mrs. David Adler, another architect's wife, has sent her first novel to the publisher.

Even Daphne Field Kelly, daughter of Stanley Field, has felt the urge and is compiling a cook book containing the recipes made famous for generations in the family of her mother, that of the Baltimore Browns.

Illness Halts Hearing Of Camp Lee Case

Richmond, Va., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Serious illness in the family of Judge D. Lawrence Groner, of the United States district court here, caused further hearing of the $3,634,000 suit of the Federal government against Rhinehart & Dennis, Inc., of Charlottesville, to be postponed today until Monday morning.

Attorneys for the plaintiff rested the government's case today at noon, concluding with the testimony of Col. S. B. Williamson, of Charlottesville, Va. Counsel for the defense will begin presentation of the case for Rhinehart & Dennis Monday morning, seeking to establish denial of the government's allegations that the contracting firm was guilty of negligence and waste of time and material in the construction of Camp Lee, at Petersburg, Va., 1917.

Half-Tone Inventor Speaker at Dinner

Stephen H. Horgan, secretary of the American Institute of Graphic Arts, and inventor of the half-tone plate, addressed the members of the Washington club of printing house executives, at their dinner last night in the Hamilton hotel. He outlined the development of photo mechanical engineering.

Others who spoke were George H. Carter, public printer; David E. Roberts, assistant chief, division of prints, Congressional library, and John Deviny, first assistant director of the bureau of engraving and pringting. Stephen H. Horgan and Alvin Hall, director of the bureau of engraving and printing, were elected to honorary membership.

Fire at Logan Field Destroys 3 Buildings

Baltimore, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The club house and two other buildings on Logan field, concentration point of the Maryland national guard air forces, were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin today.

Some airplane equipment stored in one of the burned buildings was consumed, but the hangars, housing a dozen planes, escaped the flames.

Cantor Sings Prayer In Visiting Coolidge

(By Associated Press.)

President Coolidge said farewell yesterday to the Rev. Seibel Rovner, of New York, 71-year-old dean of Jewish cantors, who is returning to Palestine to spend the rest of his life and rewrite there the psalms of David and the music for them.

A special prayer arranged by Mr. Rovner and dedicated to the President was chanted to Mr. Coolidge during the visit. The cantor was presented by Representative Perlman of New York and accompanied by a delegation of Jewish leaders.

OLD W. K. VANDERBILT PROPERTY HERE SOLD

To Be Rebuilt for P. E. Wire Company's Offices; Price Reported $125,000.

The old William K. Vanderbilt property at 1612-14 K street northwest was purchased yesterday by the Preston E. Wire Co. from Roy Newhouser and Sol Lansburgh, joint owners, who acquired the property several years ago from its original owners. The sale price was, reported as approximately $125,000. Charles Daly, jr., represented both parties in the transaction.

The Preston E. Wire Co. will use the property for its own offices. Work on reconstruction of the property will begin in fifteen days.

During the last year many old landmarks in K street between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets northwest have been sold to business concerns who have turned the once palatial residence street into a commercial district. The old Vanderbilt property is some of the last of the old landmarks to fall before the march of commercial activities in this district.

Graduate of Howard Wins Toledo Prize

Albertus Brown, colored attorney of Toledo, Ohio, yesterday was announced the winner of the News-Bee achievement award, a recognition of work among negroes of his community through the Frederick Douglass community association. He received a certificate of honor and a check for $50.

The winner was a graduate of the business department of the Dunbar high school, and of the Howard university school of law. He relinquished a government position to take up legal practice in Toledo in 1908.

ONE TITLE IN MOVIES IS "COMMA DETECTIVE"

Holders Pass on the Subtitles; "Wrist-Watch Hounds" Scan Crowd Scenes.

LINGUISTS ARE IMPORTANT

Hollywood, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The "Comma Detective," the "Wrist-Watch Hound" and the "Human Spectroscope" are three queer sounding dignitaries whose influence is a potent one on the screen.

These are three of a myriad of unheralded workers whose efforts help make the motion pictures of today. They work under cover; their names do not blaze in electric lights—but they are, in a measure, the heart and soul, of the screen plays of today.

The "comma detective" at the Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer studios is Danny Gray by name and chief film editor by title. One of his duties is to pass on every subtitle made in the studio, to see that the artists painting them have left no misspelled words, misplaced commas or superfluous punctuation. It is a task akin to that of a copy-reader on a newspaper.

The "wrist-watch hound" searches the crowd scenes with his eyes, lest the glitter of a wrist watch mar an ancient scene in a historical picture. The champion "wrist-watch sleuth" of the studio is Charles Dorian, an assistant director. They say no wrist watch has ever escaped him. Extras are prone to forget to remove them when getting into costume.

The "human spectroscope" is John Nicholaus, superintendent of the laboratory. From long practice, he can glance at a setting or costume and tell exactly how its colors will appear in the black and white of the finished film. He goes over each setting with the chief of the art department, who designs them, to check on "reds" and "blues"—which photograph as basic black and white on the film.

Linguists also have their uses in the silent drama. The make-up expert has an important place. Then there is the military authority, who knows every detail of European and military and court etiquette. His services do much to make "foreign" stories authentic.

Among others are historians, research architects, artists and a staff of costume designers.

Nancy Goes A-Shopping

For information regarding the shops at which articles described in this column may be found, call Nancy Carey, The Washington Post, Main 4205, Branch 40.

1. That it is wise and advisable to shop early for the coming Christmas gift season can not be doubted. Therefore we have an eye to gifts as well as necessities at this time and shall continue to keep an eye out for small gift articles from now on. The first thing to attract our attention was a tray of handmade handkerchiefs. These handkerchiefs are all linen and made entirely by hand. The hems are hand hemstitched and there are hand-drawn designs in the corners. The linen is sheer and the handkerchiefs are white. They have been reduced from 50 cents each to three for $1 and can not fail to make an acceptable gift when presented in a Christmas box to the friend to whom we do not wish to present an elaborate token of affection, but whom we wish to remember.

2. Many calls have come to us regarding expense account books, and we have decided that it will not be amiss to go shopping for them and state the results in the column. No better book for the purpose was to be found than the one that we have used as a sample here at the studio. The book is complete in design and will accommodate the details of expense for either a large or small family. It is well bound, with a cardboard cover, and sells for 50 cents.

3. Gloves and more gloves. This time it is a sale of gloves that are attractive and of good value. They are more of the mannish type, heavier than the dress glove to which most of us are accustomed, but for the cold days to come they will be just the thing to stand hard wear either when marketing or doing the usual round of shopping. These gloves come in various colors and there is a range in the price. The average is $2.50, many of them being reduced from a higher price and, therefore, a better glove than can usually be had at that figure.

The Housekeeper

Nancy Carey—

LET us devote today rather than Saturday to our plans for Halloween, as we may in that manner have tomorrow to go about our details and make use of anything in the column that may be adaptable to our especial needs. Not all of us, to be sure, anticipate entertaining at this time, and we shall not, therefore, go into detail regarding a special Halloween party. But it seems to me to be an unhappy circumstance when the occasion of this holiday need be entirely overlooked even if the coming of Halloween be noticed merely with cider and a pumpkin pie.

We have planned for several readers rather elaborate entertainments. We hope to hear that each affair was a successful one and that the guests were sufficiently impressed with spookiness. Let us hope that nothing more than a good ducking in the apple tub will result from any of the festivities, but at least one ducking is apt to occur, is it not?

If there are small boys in the household who wish only to have dinner and be liberated that they may set forth for an evening out of doors their evening will be made doubly delightful and memorable to them if they have a suggestion of the night's importance at the dinner table before they leave the house. There are many ways in which this may be accomplished from the very simple to the elaborate. A happy medium will not be amiss, and we shall, therefore, plan a Halloween dinner in our menu, and for those who wish to go somewhat into detail, give a few suggestions as to table and room decorations.

Two readers have requested that we help them through the column to entertain their boys at home with a very few other young gentlemen. We can not devote our brief space entirely to their answers, but if the suggestions that we give are somewhat added to with freak games and a bit of ghostliness in the lighting effects the desired result will very nearly be accomplished.

First, then, a dinner menu, then a suggestion of a menu for evening refreshments.

Halloween.
Orange Baskets
Salted nuts Celery
Cold roast chicken or Boston baked beans
with
Steamed brown bread
Apple sauce
Vegetable salad
Pumpkin pie
Cheese
Cider

Evening Refreshments.

The orange baskets are very easily made and very effective. Except that the color is not as bright, grapefruit may be used quite as well if they are preferred to oranges. Cut a line around the orange in the usual way, but do not allow it to meet for about a half inch on each side. The handle is left going up and over the top of the open basket from the uncut inch at each side. Scrape out the pulp, add sugar and cherries and a bit of the juice from the bottle of cherries, and return it all to the basket. Chill the whole before it goes to the table. We need not go into detail regarding the chicken, although it may be suggested that walnuts in considerable quantity be added to the stuffing, which is made in the usual manner. When the chicken is served cold the stuffing may be sliced as is the chicken on a parsley-garnished platter and be both more tasty and more interesting if pieces of nuts are in evidence. Do not break the nuts into very small pieces and add less of the sage or poultry seasoning than is usually the case. This takes the place of chestnut stuffing very satisfactorily.

Boston Baked Beans.

Put one quart of beans in a saucepan and cover deeply with warm water. Allow them to soak overnight. In the morning, as early as 8 o'clock, put them in a closely covered vessel with a nice piece of fresh pork, a streak of fat and a streak of lean, with a little salt and just enough water to cover them. Only open the vessel long enough to replenish the water should it boil away. By 11 o'clock they are ready for the oven. Drain them, place the pork plus a piece of salt pork in the center of the dish, fill with the beans, pour over all a tablespoonful of salt, one of molasses and three of sugar mixed with one cup of boiling water. Cover the beans with water, cover the baking dish closely and bake slowly six or eight hours. Nothing is more delicious than this old New England dish.

Brown Bread.

One-half cup of graham flour, 1 cup each of rye flour and corn meal, 1 cup of sweet milk, ½ cup of molasses, 1 even teaspoonful of salt, the same of soda, 1 tablespoonful of lard. Sift soda and salt three times with meal and flour then put into a bowl. Mix milk, lard and molasses together, warm slightly and add to the flour and meal, gradually stirring in well. Steam three hours in a tightly covered can or steaming dish that is placed in a larger covered cooking vessel.

Our vegetable salad is constructed of all or any of the fresh vegetables of saladable sort. Cauliflower, beans, cooked carrots and green pepper is one splendid combination. Yellow beans and raw grated carrot is another. Stuffed tomatoes are attractive when filled with a vegetable pulp. This salad is suggested in this instance that we may have the proper balance to this meal that is likewise planned with an eye to color scheme and to the special occasion for which it is designed. Be sure that whatever vegetables are used are well chilled and they are made especially attractive when allowed to stand in well-seasoned French dressing for a period of time before serving.

May I add that the recipes for beans, brown bread and pumpkin pie are all very old and splendid ones. They come to us from a cook who was in the height of her glory in 1887.

Pumpkin Pie.

One pint of stewed pumpkin or squash run through a sieve, three well beaten eggs, one large teaspoonful of ginger, a lump of butter the size of an egg (melted). Cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg to taste, one tablespoonful of brandy (?) fine sugar enough to make the whole pretty sweet, one pint of sweet milk or (preferably) cream. Mix all together well and bake in an unbaked open pie shell. This makes two good-sized pies.

The table may be made festive with a few very simple measures. Scrape out a small pumpkin, small, unless the table is a large one, and cut the time-honored ears, eyes, nose and mouth of the Jack o'Lantern. Put in a short candle, return the top that has been removed and place the gentleman in the center of the table. Simple enough and not in the least unusual it is true. There are other ways and means but we are taking up here the more simple manner in which to remember it is Halloween. About the base of the pumpkin arrange colorful autumn leaves. Let small bright sprays of them extend out from the centerpiece toward the corners of the table. If the tablecloth is one that covers the whole table lay strips of orange crepe paper from one end of the table to the other lengthwise, and another across, or use the paper in place of the cloth. Little yellow paper pumpkins may be purchased at small cost for nut dishes, and for light in addition to the one candle in the Jack there may be four orange or black candles placed in your candlesticks around the centerpiece. If one wishes a delightful effect may be obtained by draping sprays of bright leaves over the curtain rods at the windows and little ones over the doorways, tacking them lightly into place. The buffet may be banked with them, and the plant replaced for the occasion with a great bowl of them. It is not a great effort and delightfully effective. These same effects may be carried out in the living room if there is to be an evening party. We shall close this column for today with a suggestion of refreshments to be served later in the evening and any recipes that may be necessary to carry out the suggestions.

Refreshments

Doughnuts Sandwiches
Pumpkin pie Cheese squares
Salted nuts
Taffy candy
Cider and Coffee

Doughnuts.

One cup of sugar, one cup of sour cream, one teaspoonful soda, half teaspoonful cream of tartar, one teaspoonful cinnamon and flour sufficient to roll out; three eggs, beaten and added separately. Fry in hot lard or crisco.

Halloween Sandwiches.

1. Cream a third of a cup of butter until it becomes soft. Mix with the butter a half cup of finely chopped or ground cold ham and a half cup of ground or chopped chicken. Add one pimento that has been mashed to a pulp and spread the mixture between thin slices of bread. Allow to cool until the mixture becomes firm from the butter.

2. Mix a half cup of chopped walnuts with two Philadelphia cream cheeses that have been worked until they are soft. Add a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce and two drops of tobasco and mix the whole well. Spread between thin slices of brown bread or graham. Either of these breads makes a more attractive sandwich with this mixture than white, although the latter may be used. Let the sandwiches stand until the cheese has become firm before serving them.

For salted nuts for this occasion it is well to buy unsalted pecans and "do" them at home. Turn the nuts into a large flat surfaced pan and add to them just enough salad oil to mosten them slightly, stirring them around until each has a film of the oil over it. Place in the oven until the nuts are heated through thoroughly, being careful not to let them scorch, which they do easily. Turn onto a brown paper and salt when they come from the oven and are hot.

Taffy Candy.

One cup molasses, 2 cups of brown sugar, lump of butter the size of an egg. Cook the whole until it forms a firm ball in cold water. Then add a tablespoon of vinegar, a half teaspoon of soda and a bit of vanilla. Cool and pull, cutting with scissors when the candy stiffens.

Kallipolis Grotto To Have Halloween

Under the auspices of its band and drill corps of Kallipolis grotto will hold its annual Halloween dance Saturday night in the ballroom of the Willard hotel. The room will be decorated for the occasion, and special light effects will play over the dancers.

Prizes will be awarded for the most appropriate costume. This feature, in former years, has provided a riot of color and grotesqueness. A special program of music has been arranged by the Grotto band and orchestra.

Why Chestnut Farms Milk Is Rated Highest
By The D. C. Health Department

More Weighs Than One

ONE way to weigh the value of milk is in the way children gain weight when they drink it. The greater the weight of butterfat in a given amount of milk, the shorter the wait for results in child weight on the milk diet. In the butterfat are the two precious vitamin elements which aid so much in the growth of children. Our milk contains much more butterfat than is required by the Health Department. Every inducement, help and guidance is given to the dairyman to increase the butterfat in the milk by proper selection, conditioning and feeding of the cows. Chestnut Farms Milk, rich in butterfat vitamins, will enrich you and your children in health advancement and reserve strength. The conditions under which Chestnut Farms Milk is protected here are so ideal that they have excited world-wide interest. You are protected and benefited by inspections and equipment which are the most perfect that vigilance and science can achieve. Order Chestnut Farms Milk NOW!

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS. John Parrish has left the home of his rich, young wife, Audrey, angry at her too frequent references to her own wealth and his poverty. Audrey goes to Bitter Springs, a mountain resort, to wait for her father, who is hurrying back from London. She leaves Marcie Allen in charge of the home. Marcie, who is lovely, young, a firm believer in woman's right to do as she pleases, makes frank love to Parrish, which he rather weakly resists. As the last chapter ends, she has refused to go riding with him, but as he comes to her on the lawn of his wife's home, she tells him she's been waiting for him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIX.

"I THOUGHT you said you'd be busy all day," he accused.

"I was fibbing," she told him, withdrawing her foot from the other chair, and sitting erect. "Sit down here so I can look at you."

He took his seat, revolving his hat between his hands.

"What made you say you were waiting for me—you said you couldn't see me."

She arranged her skirts, and brushed a stray lock of hair from her eyes.

"Just some more experimenting," she told him. "I've been running after you. Now it's your turn to run after me."

Parrish's air was sulky. "But suppose I don't run after you?"

The girl laughed, with a mocking lift to the corners of her mouth. "But you are doing it!"

"I am not," he said. "I came after my clothes."

"But I thought you were going to send a boy after them! You're a fibber."

He colored as he answered the charge. "I was going to send him, but the boy was busy, and——"

She bubbled over, and held her handkerchief to her eyes as she shook with merriment. "When on earth was an office boy ever busy?" she said, as she dropped her hand. "John, dear, you're just a big boy yourself! You come here pretending you just dropped in on an errand—honey, don't you realize I'm educated, and know all about men? What's the use of trying to fool mamma? You came to see me."

She raised her hand, and halted the indignant speech that rose to his lips.

"I wanted you to come," she went on.

His wrath visibly subsided, and she continued, soothingly: "Marcie'll go in and get his clothes for him and maid'll bring them out."

"I can get them myself," he said.

"But isn't he afraid to go in the house with a bold, bad girl?"

He arose without replying, and with Marcie following, went into the house and up the stairs. He glanced at her uneasily as they went into his dressing room.

"Hadn't you better go outside in the yard?" he suggested.

"I'm not afraid—are you?" she answered promptly.

He shrugged his shoulders and drew two suit cases from beneath the draped window seat. She moved with him about the room as he took down his clothes and packed them, watching him with serious absorption.

"Thunder—there's no room left for these things."

He pointed to a heap of silk underwear and linen hosiery and pajamas that he had dumped from his dresser drawers.

"Hasn't Audrey any spare bags or suit cases" she inquired.

"A whole cargo of 'em—but I won't use her things." He stuffed some socks into chinks among his packed clothing.

"I'd lend you a bag—but, you know, I haven't any," she said. "What pretty underwear!"

She picked up a knitted silk union suit and regarded it admiringly. He blushed fiery red and snatched it from her.

"Do I fuss him to death?" she cooed. "Then I'll sit over here and be good."

She settled herself on the window seat.

"Only one thing to do, I guess," he said. He went into his bedroom and returned with two large pillowcases. Taking these one at a time, he shoved his intimate garments into them, haphazard.

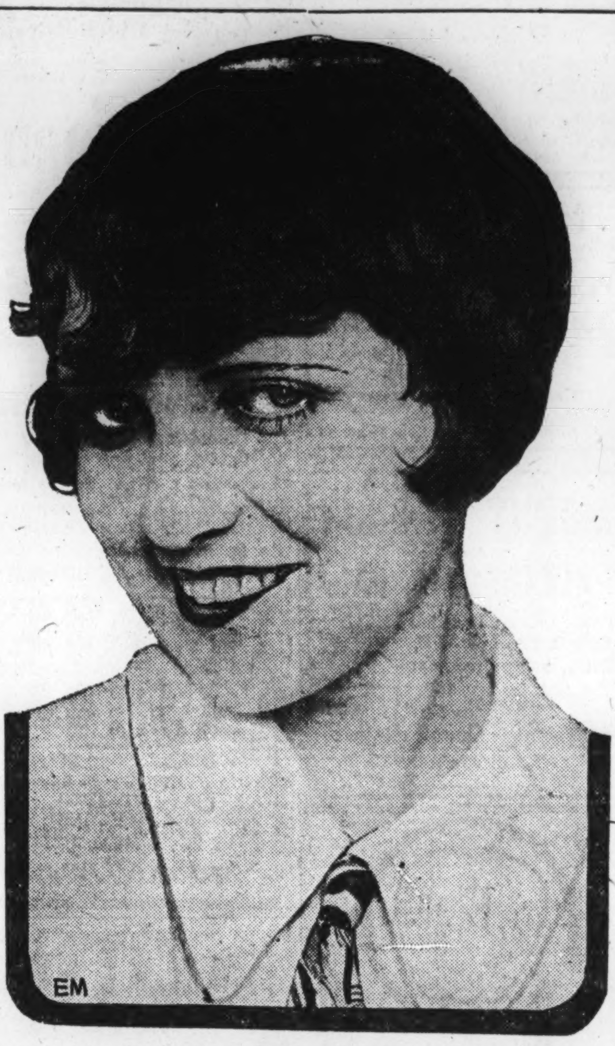
"They'll think I'm a rag man," he said, as he swung one of the improvised bags over his shoulder, and hauled the other after him toward the stair. "I'll load these in your car, and be back in a minute."

The two suit cases went with him on a second trip.

"Now how'll I carry this?" he inquired, holding up his tall silk hat.

"You might wear it," said she.

Ignoring the suggestion, he thoughtfully regarded the tile.



"Me?" Marcie's eyes were wide and innocent. "How can you say such a thing, John Parrish?"

"Dern the thing—I don't see what I ever got it for." Putting it carefully on the floor, he set his foot upon it and crushed it. "There," he said, throwing the ruin into a wastebasket. "That's that."

He looked around. His eye caught the comb and brushes on his dresser. "Lordy, I almost forgot my shaving kit," he said. Plunging into the bathroom, he brought out a safety razor box, two brushes, an assortment of straight razors and a strop. "I've got some shaving soap at the hotel," he explained.

Bestowing the razors and their aids in his pockets, he gathered together his brushes, comb and collars and held them in his hands. "That's all, I guess."

She slipped off the window seat, and sedately walked behind as he went out the door again. A woman's figure vanished into another room as they passed.

"Did you see that housemaid?" he asked, as they reached the front walk. "She's been listening!"

"I know," Marcie said. "She arrived just after you jerked your silk pretties out of my hand, and I went over to the window. I heard her apron rustle."

"But——" Parrish said.

She tucked away a corner of one of the pillowcases, where it showed beneath the lid of the baggage compartment of the yellow car.

"Don't worry," she said, interrupting him. "She didn't hear anything to tell Audrey. When will I see you?"

He was getting into the car. "Don't know," he replied. "I ought to be stirring around, looking for a new job."

She backed away, and with nothing more than a nod received his brief good-by." He had not yet started the car when she went into the house and shut the door.

Twenty minutes later the telephone rang.

"I want to apologize," he said over the wire, as she answered the call. "I was rude when I went away—I'm afraid I hurt your feelings."

"Mine?" she said. "Why, no! Thank you for calling, though. Good-by."

She hung up the receiver, and almost immediately the bell rang again.

"I wasn't through talking," he explained. "You asked when we would see each other, and I didn't answer. Would you care to take dinner with me tonight?"

She did not reply at once. "I'm awfully sorry I didn't say I wanted to see you again today, but I meant it," he proceeded anxiously.

"Well—I've ordered dinner here at home. You can come here," she said, at last.

"All right," he agreed, and again she hung up.

She sang happily as she ascended to her own room, and disrobed for a bath. She luxuriated a long time in the warm water, splashing the surface with her hands, and idly dabbling with the stiff bath-brush. Then she turned on the cold shower, hugging herself as the icy stream ran over her body.

Glowing from a rub-down, she dressed her hair, and leisurely dressed. The garment she chose was of the golden brown she liked, and she studied her reflection in the pier-glass when the dress was hooked and pulled into place.

"Pretty," said she.

Parrish was waiting in the drawing room when she finally came down.

"It seems funny, calling on another girl, here in this house," he said, rising.

She gave him her hand. "It's all right for you to be in your house, isn't it?" She did not drop his fingers.

"You know, I came up and rang the bell and the maid looked at me so oddly," he went on.

"I should think she would—you're not supposed to act like such a stranger," she told him. "What did you say to her?"

"I asked if Miss Allen was in." His face looked a trifle foolish.

"You men!" She let go his hand to make a gesture. "Next time, you say: 'Is dinner ready?' or breakfast, or whatever, it is—and act as if you belonged here." She laughed. "Men are such amateurs!"

She sat down, and he took a chair next to hers.

"I feel funny about this, coming here this way," he said. "It doesn't seem right."

"It isn't," she replied serenely. "You're carrying on a shameful flirtation. Aren't you?"

"But look here," he protested. "You started it, you know!"

"Me?" Her eyes were wide and innocent. "How can you say such a thing, John Parrish?" Then, as she saw his look of startled amazement, she continued: "Of course, I started it, John—and you're playing up beautifully."

The maid appeared in the doorway and announced dinner.

As they seated themselves at the table, Parrish regarded her for a time.

"Marcie," he said, slowly, "if Audrey does go ahead and get a divorce, will you—I mean to say, what is in your mind now, exactly?"

Conduct and Common Sense

By ANNE SINGLETON

WHAT IS BACK OF A SLOVENLY ACTION

I HATE slovenly, unfinished actions much more than I hate the devil. Yet all day long I am surrounded by them. It's the exception when I see any one carry any action further than his or her stupid selfish need. You watch people (and watch yourself) and you will find that from the moment personal interest stops any connection with the action stops in nine out of ten cases.

I can prove it by any number of examples. Take the man who goes through a car on a cold day and leaves the door open behind him. His connection with the door-action finishes when he goes through. To complete the action by shutting the door he opened doesn't concern him, either because too stupid to notice or too selfish to care. Take the disgusting, vulgar crowds who scatter papers, cigarette stumps, odds and ends of food in the public parks, and on the subway and elevated stairs. They have finished with whatever they threw away, and they are either too stupid to notice that they make the parks and the stairways loathesome to decent people, or they are too selfish to care.

You can always tell a common man or woman by the litter either one makes or is willing to have made about him. Take the washrooms of any public or any business place. I've seen nice-looking girls come in to powder their noses and smooth their heads, and I've seen them perfectly content to go out leaving paper towels streaked with rouge on the dressing table or floor, and a rain of powder over everything. They don't take the trouble to turn off the taps, they don't even mind leaving little tufts of cut off hair (in these days of the boyish bob that soon grows long) on the edge of the basin or even in it. Their ignoring of any one's convenience but their own shows a coarse, gross spirit which, to look at them, you would hardly believe possible. But you can always measure any man's claim to be a gentleman or any woman's to be a lady by the amount of trouble they take to carry any of their actions to the considerate, orderly conclusion.

FULL-BLOOD OSAGES ARE GROWING SCARCE

Rolls of Tribe Show Only 600 Are Not Diluted by White Descent.

Pawhuska, Okla., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Full-blood Osage Indians, around whom much romance has been woven, are disappearing as the white man's blood is being mixed in the veins of each succeeding generation.

Brought into Oklahoma from the Southland and placed on the beautiful hills of the Osage country, the Osage erected his teepee and raised cattle. White men settled among the hills. Land was allotted by the government to the Indian. Then oil was produced and the Osage tribe became the wealthiest in the world.

White blood began to mix with Osage and at present but 600 full-blood Osage Indians are enrolled on tribal rolls, the agency here said, out of a total of 2,000 whose signatures or marks appear.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Heart—or Liver?

DEAR Miss McDonald: I have been reading your wonderful advice to all your readers, and now that a problem of my own has sprung up, I hope you will help me, because I seem to be at the end of the rope.

I am a girl of 20 years of age, and have been engaged for a year. My fiance is a young man of 24 years, and very settled for his age, while I am very unsettled—just an exactly opposite type to him, even in tastes, &c. I was happy until 3 months ago, when I lost all my pep, good nature, and laughter. I don't know what has come over me. I have lost considerable weight, and seem to be an altogether different person. I have no desire to get married at all, although we had intended to do so next spring. In fact, I have no desire to even think of it, or make any plans. During the day I am so sullen and tired, and hate to even go home. I don't look forward to anything any more—have no desire to live. I have been getting very moody lately and have cried my eyes out before falling asleep. I can't even help crying at work—or wherever I am. I have lost my appetite and can't sleep well at all. You will probably tell me to confide in my mother, but Miss McDonald, I could never do that because my mother isn't that kind. I have a mother and father, but it seems in name only. My father has never shown me any fatherly love—he doesn't even say hello to me when I come in from work, or ask me about myself. My mother has never been a real mother to me—not like I have wanted her to be or as my girl friend's mother seems to be. I seem to hate to go home any more. I know just what life is at home, and still I don't want to be married, although I know that it impossible.

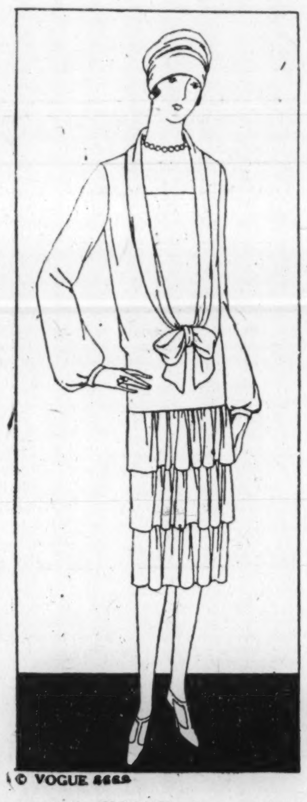
I don't know what I shall do, if this keeps up, as I am so disgusted with life—so miserable, that I hate to think of tomorrow. And yet I have been so happy, and my fiance will do anything to make me happy.

I have graduated from high school, three years ago, and I should know better than act as I do, but I don't seem to. I have no one to confide in—only myself, and I seem to make myself miserable by thinking of everything as it is. Please help me, Miss McDonald, and scold me hard if I need it.

Thanking you very much, I am,
FLORENCE.

You do not need scolding, but oh my, how you do need a good doctor! It is often very hard to distinguish between heart ache and liver disturbance. Your trouble is the latter. So stop crying all over and get a really good doctor to prescribe a diet and exercise for you. Have a thorough examination made so that you may know exactly the cause of your condition, which is by no means one to be neglected. Most of the whining tones one hears in women's voices today are the consequences of some past attack of glooms. Do not form the whining habit, nor the crying habit, nor the habit of having no interest in life. About seven people in every ten are glooms and that's why the world seems gloomy. See a doctor, Florence and get back your dimples.

In Black Velvet



© VOGUE 4663

DEAR VOGUE—I am not so young as I used to be, or as slender. I want an afternoon frock that I can wear for teas and bridge—one that my friends will not tire of, because I can afford far fewer dresses than most of them have.
ADELINE K.

Black is one of the smartest colors of the season and certainly the color of which one tires most slowly. Velvet is one of the smartest of the season's fabrics. And tiers are smart details. So we are giving you a frock of the new black transparent velvet, with tiers.

As for the neckline, you will find it very slenderizing. The bit of pale color at the top of your black velvet turban should be in beige velvet to match your beige stockings. Your shoes should be of black suede, and, if you get a new bag, have it in black suede, too. Incidentally, if you have any green jade jewelry or anything really lovely in coral, you will find your black an ideal back ground for it. Otherwise, just wear a pearl choker similar to the one shown in the sketch.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

GERMANY CUTS ITS DEATH RATE.

THE German people are determined to win the war in spite of their failure before the god of battles. The thorough discipline to which they are accustomed makes them more a match for the competitors who are under the disadvantageous tyranny of license and personal liberty.

It is generally agreed that financially few European nations are economically sound.

Under the empire the German people never had a low death rate. Their general death rate, infant mortality rate, consumption rate and even typhoid rate—all these were higher than those of Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Great Britain, New Zealand, Australia, and perhaps the United States. But Germany, in the last few years, has another story to tell.

Soon after the war the death rate of Germany began to fall. By 1920 it was 15.1. In 1924 it was 12.12 and in 1925 11.9. The United States can show no better record. Norway held the record for low death rate for nearly a century. New Zealand has the lowest rate of all—8.3. This is not wholly dependent upon good sanitation, good climate, or even good racial stock. Age is a dominating factor. The average age of the New Zealander is lower than that of the average American and considerably lower than that of the average German.

Australia had a rate of 9.2 in 1924. Holland has had rates of 9.9 and 9.2 in very recent years. The average age of the Hollander being relatively high, these rates mean that Hollanders are virile and also that they protect their health intelligently.

Other very satisfactory European rates are: Denmark, 11; Norway, 11.1; Sweden, 11.4; England and Wales, 11.6; Switzerland, 11.8; Germany, 11.9. But all of these countries had much lower death rates than Germany under the old regime.

The infant mortality rate of Germany is 10.8. This is a long way above New Zealand's 3.9, but New Zealand is improving slowly, whereas Germany's gain is rapid.

The tuberculosis rate of Germany is also falling rapidly. It threatens to reach the low level attained by Denmark, Holland and England before many years.

As an offset the birth rate of Germany is falling rapidly. This decline started about a decade before the world war. It is now very little higher than that of France. Thanks to the greater decline in the death rate, the population of Germany has increased every year.

There are some years when the deaths in France exceed the births. In the first three months of 1925 the deaths exceeded the births by 4,576. In the same period of 1926, France made a net gain of 9,091 by excess of births over deaths. But there are those who claim that the apparent gain is due to the presence of about 3,000,000 foreign laborers who have come into France to do the work which their population is unequal to.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

YOU.

If you have the will to learn, knowledge you can surely gain,
It is near for you to earn, you can have what books contain.
All the wisdom of the age waits for you on many a shelf
But to know the printed page you must read it for yourself.

Lad, remember as you go, not in others lies your fate,
What you wish to be and know rests with you alone to state.
Give no thought to chance or luck, only they who work are wise;
Fortune oftener smiles on pluck; victory comes to him who tries.

Each must for himself decide what his destiny shall be,
Each must in himself take pride; none from such a choice is free.
Reputation must be earned. If you'd own a worthy name
Never must your feet be turned to the crooked paths of shame.

Life is something you must plan; what you will be you must say;
Chance will never make a man, thus the thoughtless go astray.
Pleasure will not make you great. By your courage let men see
As you work and as you wait, what you've willed yourself to be.

Two New Women's Coats
That Are the Talk of Paris

In Replica, 145.00

THE one illustrated at the left is a perfect interpretation of the Paris penchant for inverted tucks cleverly manipulated to achieve the blouse silhouette and, of course, it is a study in grey, for that is the choice of "Les Elegantes" this season. Kashmir Suede is the medium and rich, natural Siberian squirrel forms the full length tuxedo collar and cuffs. A women's coat, 145.00.

THE coat, illustrated on the right, carries out another very fashionable color scheme in Paris—Filbert Kashmir Suede combined with beautifully-toned natural beaver in full length tuxedo collar and deep cuff treatments. This coat, too, illustrates effectively the Paris insistence on blouse treatments—a new treatment, however, handled with unusual grace, 145.00.

Women's Happiness

Rests largely on solving their oldest hygienic problem this new way—true protection; discards like tissue

TO be fresh and charming every day, to live every day unhandicapped, to wear sheerest frocks without a second thought, any day, anywhere . . . you can now do all, a new way.

It is called "KOTEX." Ends the insecurity of the old-time sanitary pad. Five times as absorbent! Deodorizes, too. And thus ends ALL fear of offending.

NO LAUNDRY

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying, "KOTEX"; you ask for it without hesitancy.

Costs only a few cents. Eight in 10 better-class women employ it. Proves the unnecessary risk of old ways.

Choosing a Silhouette is the Smart Thing to Do

Mitzi, most assuredly would approve the bouffant—or wide-skirted silhouette that finds such a smart place in new Winter fashions.

There Is a Frock of lustrous, soft black velvet, the skirt gathered to achieve the wide effect—and for chic contrast, there are sleeves of French nude crepe Elizabeth, with glistening paillettes, $42.50.

A Wide-Skirted Coat

so well illustrates this fashion; the wide effect is created by small dart-like tucks below a definite waistline; in beige-tan Tuckana; a very soft fabric, lavishly trimmed with French beaver, $125.

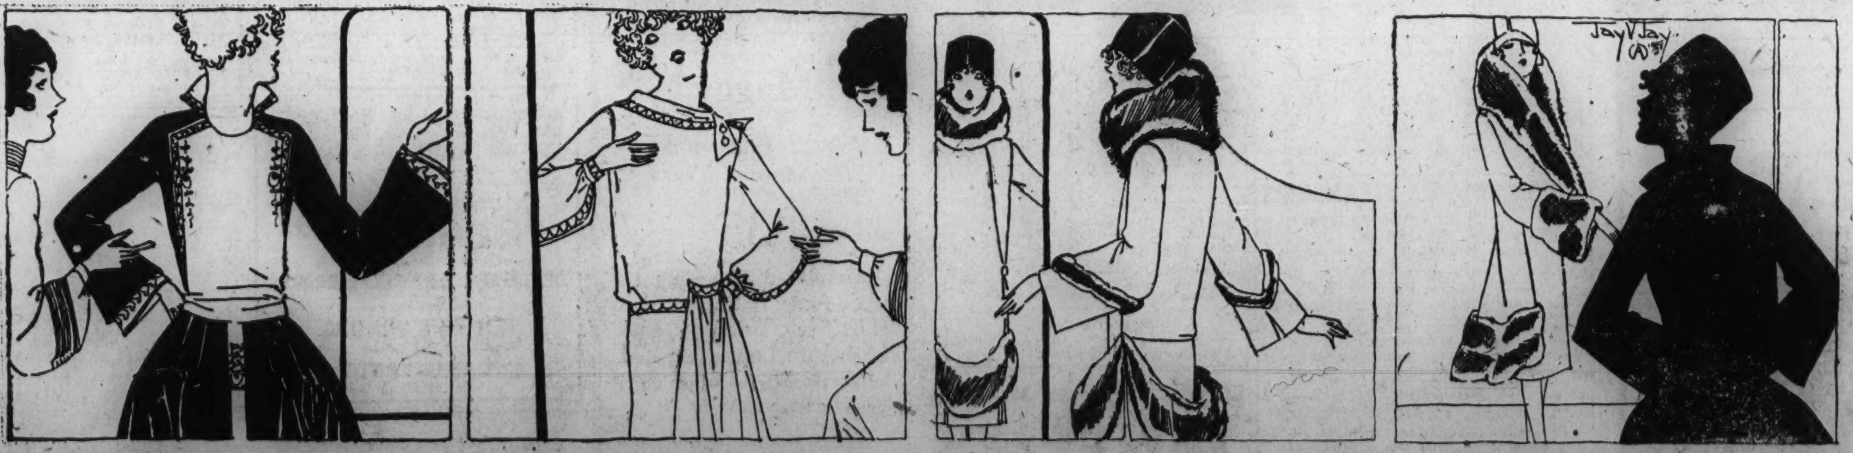
Polly Finds Clothes for the Wide Skirted Silhouette.

By Jay V. Jay



Polly is enchanted by this frock, and well she may be. Other seasons the bouffant silhouette was found only in evening dresses, but this afternoon dress is quite obviously a product of this season and no other.

There are other ways than bouffancy to attain the silhouette that is wide below the hips. Flares and drapes correctly placed will do it. This simple dress simply trimmed shows one of the proper tricks.

Coats, too, besides flaring from the waistline use bands of fur for below the waist width. When the bands of fur are placed in curves or slanting lines they are even smarter than when straight.

"A coat that started to have a train," thinks Polly and wonders where the lady bought it. It is just such a coat as Polly actually needs—the poor child will suffer without it—since it's Polly's pet silhouette.

CHURCH NEWS CENSOR VETOED BY LUTHERANS

President of Richmond Convention Demands Freedom for Bureau.

SESSIONS ARE CLOSED

Richmond, Va., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The fifth biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church of America closed here today after a hot debate on a resolution which sought to subject the work of the news bureau of the church to the censorship of church officers. The resolution was lost after Dr. F. H. Knuble, head of the church, made an earnest plea for the continued freedom of the news bureau.

The resolution was introduced by Dr. J. W. Haas, of Allentown, Pa., as an outgrowth of the discussion of the report of the committee on moral and social welfare. The report dealt with problems such as war debts, campaign expenditures, divorce and marriage, crime and law and liberty. It was referred back to the committee for restatement at the next biennial gathering in Erie, Pa. Previously the section opposing remarriage by Lutheran ministers of any divorced person except the innocent party in a suit based on adultery or desertion had been referred to the commission of adjudication, high court of the church. This action was later rescinded, and the whole report ordered omitted from the minutes.

The report of Dr. J. A. Morehead, executive director of the national Lutheran council, paid tribute to the newspapers of the country and stressed the need of the church in cooperating with them.

"The public press," it said, "undertakes to report the news concerning every phase of the life of the people, including the vital factor of religion. Their religious life functions through the churches. Whatever may have been the temporarily disturbing effects of the war, the newspaper press of the country in general honestly undertakes to be fair to every church and to report without prejudice the facts about its life and achievements."

QUEEN'S DRY LUNCH SURPRISES MONTREAL

pin, who gave a gala performance in the forum, the largest auditorium in the metropolis. There are 10,000 seats and every one was taken. Following the performance the royal party embarked on a special train for Ottawa, the Dominion capital.

On arrival at the civic reception in the hall of honor at the new city hall, at the service in the Roumanian church, and during a drive around the city, Queen Marie wore a coat of black caracul with lynx collar and cuffs and a broad band of lynx at the bottom. She carried a large lynx muff. Her hat was a draped turban of black with an ostrich mount drooping over her right shoulder. Her gown was of Valencia blue duvetyn with black fox collar and band at the bottom of the skirt and with a lace V-vest. She wore two long ropes of pearls and pearl earrings.

Princess Ileana wore a squirrel coat over a Burgundy crepe dress, and a Burgundy crush hat. Her shoes, stockings, bag and gloves were of beige. She also wore pearls.

Prince Nicolas was missing for several hours here today. When he turned up about the middle of the afternoon and joined in the tour of suburbs it became known that he had passed the intervening hours in the railway shops of the Canadian National railways. Later, railway officials entertained him privately at one of the clubs.

One of the surprises of the day was the nature of the liquid refreshment served at the civic luncheon. Mineral water and ginger ale only were served, despite the fact that Quebec is "wet." Any Montreal luncheon or dinner of pretension usually includes wines in the menu, if not stronger drink. It was not ascertained if the royal visitors were disappointed, but the invited Montreal guests exhibited their disgust in bitter undertone conversation among themselves.

W. C. T. U. Calls on Queen To Deny That She Smokes

Kokomo, Ind., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The Kokomo Women's Christian Temperance union hopes Queen Marie of Roumania will deny that she indulges in an after-dinner cigarette, as has been reported.

The hope is expressed in a letter from the organization which will be delivered to the queen at Denver.

"We deplore the rumor that the press hands out that Roumania's honored and beautiful queen is a smoke addict, and was are loath to believe she does not understand the pernicious effects of smoking," says the letter.

Closing of Sesqui On Sunday Decreed

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Dismissing exceptions to its former ruling closing the Philadelphia Sesquicentennial on Sundays, the Dauphin county court today reaffirmed its previous decree and issued an injunction to enforce its closing order.

Philadelphia, Oct. 27 (By A. P.). An appeal to the State supreme court from the decision of the Dauphin county court holding as illegal the operation of the Sesquicentennial exposition on Sundays will be taken at once by City Solicitor Joseph P. Gaffney. Meanwhile the supreme court will be asked for a writ of supersedeas staying the execution of the Dauphin county court's injunction.

$82,000 ALLOWANCE TO MRS. VANDERBILT

Widow of Reginald Accepts Compromise in Suit for Her Dower Rights.

Portsmouth, R. I., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt was granted a total of $82,000 today by the town council sitting as a probate court to hear her petition for her dower rights in Sandy Point farm, $2,000 a month widow's allowance and the proceeds from the sale of equipment and furnishings at Sandy Point farm.

In accepting the $82,000, Mrs. Vanderbilt waived her dower rights to the farm and is understood also to have waived the same rights in the New York home of her late husband. In lieu of these rights she is to receive $33,000.

The court refused to grant her the full $2,000 monthly allowance and reduced it to $1,000 on the grounds that if the amount sought were granted bills against the estate could not be met.

H. J. COUNCILOR HEADS SUNDAY SCHOOL GROUP

800 ATTEND THE MEETING

Homer J. Councilor was elected president of the Sunday School Council of Religious Education last night at the final session of the thirty-third annual convention of that organization, which opened Monday evening in the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. Councilor succeeds E. H. DeGroot, who was chosen a member of the executive committee.

Other officers elected were: John C. Rundles, first vice president; Dr. A. C. Christie, second vice president; Mrs. H. D. Kizer, third vice president; Mrs. R. A. Mitchell, fourth vice president; C. B. James, fifth vice president; Everett F. Haycraft, sixth vice president; Norman M. Blake, secretary, and Thomas P. Hickmann, treasurer. Approximately 800 persons participated in the balloting.

Members of the executive committee elected were: W. W. Millan, the Rev. Charles H. Butler, John E. Dawson, Charles A. Baker, Norton M. Little, A. M. Cooper, Page McK. Etchison, E. H. DeGroot, Roy W. Prince, D. H. Johnson, E. B. Shaver, Maj. W. O. Tufts, A. C. Ridgeway, E. R. Troxell and the Rev. J. C. Millian. Dinner preceded a series of conferences at which affairs of interest to the convention were discussed. W. W. Millan was in charge of the dinner and delivered a brief address on the aims and purposes of the Sunday School council.

ARLINGTON COUNTY MEETING TO AWARD PRIZES IN CLEAN-UP

Civic Federation to Honor Cleanest Communities Tomorrow Night.

BALSTON CITIZENS AID MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

Mrs. Catherine M. M. Rogers Will Head Committee in Drive Beginning November 13.

BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Arrangements for the mass meeting to be held in the auditorium of the Washington Lee High school tomorrow night in connection with the annual clean-up campaig under the auspices of the Arlington County Civic federation have been completed.

The program which has been arranged by the organized women voters of Arlngton county will open with the invocation by the Rev. Perry L. Mitchell, pastor of the Clarendon Baptist church. Among the speakers will be Maj. Ernest W. Cushing, William Kleysteuner, mayor of the town of Potomac, and Maj. E. W. R. Ewing. There will be community singing under the direction of Frank B. Bryan, with Mrs. Mary P. Snyder at the piano.

Mrs. Ruby Lee Minar, general chairman of the committee in charge of the clean-up campaign, will preside, and the program will conclude with the presenting of the prizes for the cleanest community.

Unanimous indorsement was given at the monthly meeting of the Ballston Citizens association last night to the drive for membe-s in the interfederation council as outlined by the Arlington County Civic federation. The drive will start November 13 with Mrs. Catherine M. Rogers leading a special committee of 25.

President Maj. E. W. R. Ewing announced the appointment of Grover E. Payne as a delegate to the civic federation.

A communication was read from H. G. Shirley, chairman of the Virginia State highway commission, informing the association that the matter of resurfacing Glebe road would be laid before the commission at its meeting in December, when allocation of funds for the year 1927 will be considered.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Clarendon Civic club held at the home of Mrs. Nat Hines last night plans were made to hold a card party on the afternoon of November 5 at the home of Mrs. Mary Lockwood.

The next meeting of the club will be held next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. L. Young, 451 Oak street, Lyon Park.

Plans were formulated for a community rally at a meeting of the Arlington Citizens association last night. George Collier, acting president in the absence of Dr. H. C. Corbett, announced the appointment of the following committee to arrange a program for the rally which will be held in the Old Columbia Pike schoolhouse on the night of November 30: C. C. Cook, chairman; Harry Whitehead, Mrs. George Collier, Mrs. Florence Cannon and James Flinn.

Reporting on the progress being made on the resurfacing of Columbia pike to the Fairfax line, Harry Whitehead, general foreman of the county road forces, stated that owing to the delivery of some poor material the work was being slightly delayed.

Mrs. Florence Cannon spoke of an amendment to the constitution, giving the county privilege of electing a county council or some similar modern form of government. The president instructed the delegates to the Arlington County Civic Federation to bring the matter before the federation.

The Clarendon Baptist union was last night awarded the efficiency banner at a largely attended meeting of the Young Peoples federation held at the Cherrydale Baptist church. The Clarendon union showed the highest percentage of weekly Bible reading, church attendance and devotional meeting. The meeting was presided over by the president, Vernon Pierce.

The board of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce at its meeting held last night completed plans for the second quarterly meeting. The meeting will be held on the night of November 4 in the auditorium of the Washington-Lee High school with Chester Leasure of the "Nations Business" as the principal speaker. According to Walter U. Varney, who presided in the absence of the president, Clarence R. Ahalt, a complete program will be announced later.

BUS CONTROL VIEWS CONFLICT AT HEARINGS

Grange Representative and Railway Executives' Counsel Appear Before I. C. C.

(By the Associated Press.)

Conflicting views on the advisability of Federal regulation of motor vehicle transportation over highways were put before the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday, with the National Grange on one side and the chief spokesman for railroad executives on the other.

T. C. Atkeson, Washington representative of the Grange, said the farmers' interest "lies in the utmost freedom of highway use from interference, regulation or impediment," while Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives, declared legislative control of the highway carriers was necessary.

There is a constitutional objection to Federal attempts to regulate bus and truck transportation, Atkeson argued, because their commerce could not be declared properly as interstate. Thom, on the other hand, contended that commodities moved by the vehicles mostly constituted articles in interstate commerce, even when the vehicles themselves were not engaged in common carriage.

12 Moros Are Killed By the Constabulary

Manila, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Twelve Moros were killed in a fight today between Philippine constabulary troops and a band of Moro outlaws in Lanao province. There were no casualties among the constabulary.

The constabulary was attempting to arrest three Moros who recently murdered Otto R. Seifort, an American citizen. The outlaws took refuge in a cota, or fort, which the constabulary stormed.

BIGGER ALEXANDRIA "WHITE WAY" SEEN IN PLAN BY MORTON

Proposes Extension on King Street, From Patrick West to Russell Road.

PRESENTED TO PUBLIC UTILITIES OF THE CITY

Each Would Bear 25 Per Cent of Cost; Owners to Pay the Remainder.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
124 N. Patrick St., Alexandria, Va.

Tentative plans are being prepared by City Manager Paul Morton for the proposed extension of the "white way" on King street from Patrick street westward to Russell road, a distance of approximately eight city blocks, and the plans as already worked out have been presented to the public utilities commission of the city with a view to obtaining its cooperation. No definite agreement has been reached, however.

The plans provide for the three public utilities interested, the Washington-Virginia railway, the Virginia Public Service Co., formerly the Alexandria County Lighting Co. and the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., each to pay 25 per cent of the cost of installing the additional lights, the remaining 25 per cent to be paid by the property owners. The estimated cost of the improvement is approximately $20,000, and the cost to each property owner, according to City Manager Morton, probably would not exceed $1 a front foot.

The present "white way," extending on King street from Fairfax to Patrick streets, was provided in a similar manner, the Western Union Telegraph Co. also being one of the contributors to its installation. This company, however, has no wires in the area to be served by the extension of the project. The cost in this instance was borne, 60 per cent by the utilities and 40 per cent by the property owners, the cost to the latter being $2 a front foot.

The city will bear the increased cost of lights should the extension project be adopted, which will amount to approximately $3,000 a year in excess of the present lighting costs. The project calls for six lights, three on either side of the street to each block, mounted on ornamental iron poles, which poles also would carry the wires of the public utilities and would improve the appearance of King street.

The season for the shooting of ducks and geese in Virginia will open Monday, and will not close until January 31. In anticipation of the opening of the season, hunters are getting out and oiling up their shotguns, and dealers are reported to be doing a brisk business in guns and ammunition.

The seasons for shooting migratory birds are governed by regulations which vary in the different States, although the States have the right to enact and enforce laws restricting Federal seasons and bag limits, so as to give migratory birds additional protection.

The individual hunter is limited to a bag of 25 ducks of all kinds; geese, 8 in the aggregate of all kinds; brant, 8; rails and gallinules (except sora and coot), 25 in the aggregate of all kinds, but not more than 15 of any one species; sora, 25; coot, 25; greater and lesser yellowlegs, 15 in the aggregate of all kinds; Wilson snipe or jacksnipe, 20; woodcock, 6; doves, 25, and bobolinks no limit.

It is unlawful to hunt, capture or kill migratory game birds between sunset and one-half hour before sunrise, or with a gun larger than No. 10 gauge, or by or with the use of an airplane, powerboat or sailboat.

35 Saved From Ship In Delaware River

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The Danish steamship Fredensbro, laden with coal, was sunk in the Delaware river today after colliding with the British steamer Manchester Shipper, bound for this city from Baltimore. The Danish steamer sank a few minutes afterward and it was only through the quick work of three tugs that its crew of 35 was rescued. All were taken off without mishap. The Manchester Shipper was not much damaged.

CITIZENS COMMEND RECORD OF RUDOLPH

Rhode Island Avenue Group Backs Residence Rule for Commissioners.

The Rhode Island Avenue Citizens association last night at its meeting in the Sherwood Presbyterian Church hall went on record as against any material change being made in the existing law governing the appointment of District commissioners. A resolution to this effect offered by William S. Torbert was adopted by the association. Three years of bona fide residence here was said to be indispensable as a requirement for the appointment.

A resolution commending the record of Commissioner Rudolph was also adopted.

Active support of the association was voted for the city-wide membership drive of the Federation of Citizens association and the $10 guaranty appropriation was made as well as a promise of 25 per cent of the dues from new members. Chester R. Smith, president, presided.

Crowds See Suicide On Riverside Drive

New York, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Clarence T. Birkett, 60-year-old real estate dealer, jumped to his death from a Riverside drive viaduct today as persons hurrying to a ferry watched him. He fell 110 feet. No reason for his act could be learned.

We could get Technical!
WE could give you a technical explanation of why AMERICAN GAS will give you more miles per gallon and why it does not "knock" anywhere near as much as other regular motor gasolines. We could give you a chemical analysis, we could discuss volatility and all the other things it would take a chemist to really understand.
But all we could say in that way wouldn't impress you nearly as much as a test of AMERICAN GAS in your own car.
That's what we'd like to see you do! Pull up at the first Yellow and Black Pump—the Pump with the Red, White and Blue AMERICAN GAS Globe. Fill your tank with this new, better, altogether different motor gasoline.
Roll out into traffic or along the streets and roads which climb the steepest hills. You'll find your car has greater pulling power, that there's new snap to the way it starts—and that you're getting more mileage between filling stations.
AMERICAN GAS is colored ORANGE to make it easy for you to identify it. Sells at the same price as other regular motor gasolines—but how much better AMERICAN GAS is!

RAPID TRANSIT LAWYER ENTERS VAIN PROTEST

early in December, the position of attorney will be discontinued.

"The commission felt, however, that additional legal assistance was needed at the present time and Mr. Clayton has agreed to help out in the difficulty.

"It is to be remembered that it was Mr. Clayton who raised the question of legality of the purchase of the Washington Rapid Transit Co. by the North American Co., which question caused the abrupt discontinuance of the valuation hearing before the public utilities commission."

Clayton Explains Point.

Prior to the offer having been made to him, Clayton expressed himself on what he deems the far-reaching significance of the commission's decision of yesterday, as follows:

"This is not a mere examination of the status of a half-million-dollar bus company. It is a question going to the very foundation of the policy of the District and Congress as to control of local utilities.

"The same point I made as to the illegal status of the bus company lies with equal force as to the street car companies. The main question is shall interests outside the District be permitted to come in here in the face of specific prohibition by Congress and, by gradually buying up securities of utility corporations, bring about merged control of the utilities without proper merger obligations.

"It is a question of whether Congress and the public utilities commission are to permit control of local utilities to slip from their hands through acquisition by foreign holding companies that they have no means of regulating or controlling.

Cites La Follette Law.

"The La Follette amendment to the public utilities act, sometimes called the antimerger act, expressly forbids that type of merger. It is not an antimerger act, in that it opens the way for combination of utilities by special authorization of Congress.

"The La Follette amendment was aimed at just such merged utility control as looms before us now as a result of the operations of the North American Co. At that time there was organized a Virginia corporation for the purpose of acquiring Washington utility companies. Some securities were actually bought. It was to stop that kind of unification that the La Follette amendement was passed.

"I do not know whether Congress still adheres to the view that it should keep control of District of Columbia utilities in its hands and those of the commission, but its act has been violated and we should find out. At any rate I wanted the operations of the North American Co. brought into the open."

Counsel Denies Violation.

George P. Hoover, counsel for the Washington Rapid Transit Co. in the pending proceeding and for other utility concerns, denied that his clients had violated the law. In protesting to the commission against its action in indefinitely postponing the hearing pending clearing up of the legal status, he said:

"We ought to have a chance to show that the indirect control acquired by the North American Co. is not a violation of law. But even if it were, the Washington Rapid Transit Co. has done nothing wrong. It is here on a rate question that has nothing to do with transfer of ownership. Each of the companies is a corporate entity separate and distinct with rights of stockholders intervening. There is no warrant for your commission preventing this company from continuing its showing of necessity for increased revenue."

Not only did the commission adjourn the hearing indefinitely, but it also postponed decision on the application made last month by the bus company for permission to negotiate with the Capital Traction Co. to convert the basement of one of the latter company's car barns into a bus garage, naming the same ground, namely, that no further consideration would be given until the company cleared up its legal status.

Says Courts Must Decide.

The action of the commission places a heavier burden on the bus company, due to the circumstance that indefinite adjournment of the hearing prevents increased fare, which the company asks.

Corporation Counsel Stephens' opinion on the legal question raised against the bus company was read at the hearing yesterday. It was the same as formerly unofficially stated by him for publication. He held that while the law may have been violated in the bus company transfer, he would not rule on it, because it was a matter for courts to decide and that, anyway, the commission could not do anything about it, although he might, if they saw fit, refuse to decide pending questions until the point was cleared up.

COMING THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS

NATIONAL.

"Yes, Yes, Yvette," the new Frazee musical production, will hold the center of interest among the offerings of the coming week at the National next Monday night. The new work is introduced as the younger sister of that other famous Frazee offering, "No, No, Nanette," which was such a triumphant success that it is now being played in every English-speaking country on the globe, with Paris and Berlin thrown in for good measure.

"Yes, Yes, Yvette," is based on the play, "Nothing But the Truth," by James Montgomery, which in turn was adapted from a story of the same title by Frederick S. Isham. Irving Caesar wrote the lyrics and the music is by Caesar and Philip Charig. The cast is of genuine stellar quality, including Lynne Overman, Herbert Corthell, Jeanette MacDonald, Roberta Beatty, Leo Henning, Jere Delaney, Arnold Lucy, Helene Lynd, Amy Revere, Leslie Stiles and a large chorus of fifty. One week is the limit of the engagement, with a popular matinee on Wednesday.

KEITH'S.

Dunninger, the master mind of modern mystery, who recently baffled a large gathering of local newspaper men at the Willard hotel, will headline the bill at B. F. Keith's theater for the week of October 31. This is his first stage appearance and he is the only entertainer of his kind in the world. He uses no confederates and is given no assistance as ordinarily employed by such acts.

Arthur and Morton Havel will be the big feature of the week. They appear with Helen Lockhart in "Oh! Uncle," with Dolores Griffin nad Charles Randolph.

Pretty, vivacious Ruby Norton will give her "A Song for Every One." She is assisted by Clarence Senna at the piano.

Fresh from Spain, on the last lap of a world tour, come the four Karreys, the human elastic bands. Their's is contortionism plus exceptional gymnastics.

Paul Sydel and Spotty will be seen in a "Sensation in the Skill and Art of Balancing and Juggling."

Emile Nathane and Julia Sully follow. presenting "A Dainty Dance Of fering."

The usual screen features will complete the bill.

AMBASSADOR.

Corinne Griffith, charming First National star, will be seen in the principal role of "Syncopating Sue" at Crandall's Ambassador theater the first three days of next week, beginning Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. In this subject the star is cast as a piano song plugger in the Tin Pan alley section of the roaring forties on Broadway, who scorns the attentions of New York's foremost theatrical producer to fall in love with an idle young Irish trap drummer.

Jetta Goudal, supported by William Boyd, will occupy the Ambassador screen on Wednesday and Thursday in Producers' release of "Her Man o' War," a new type of melodrama which gives this fascinating actress her first stellar opportunity. The added comedy will be Mack Sennett's "Muscle Bound Music," in addition to which Topics of the Day will be shown.

On Friday Marie Prevost will be seen in "Almost a Lady," which will be supplemented by Clyde Cooke in "He Forgot to Remember," a special United States navy reel and a new issue of the Pathe Review.

Anna Q. Nilsson will be the star at the Ambassador on Saturday in "Miss Nobody," with auxiliary attractions, including a juvenile comedy, "Raisin' Cain;' a new Grantland Rice Sportlight, and the sixth installment of the mystery chapter play, "Snowed In."

CENTRAL.

"Whispering Canyon," announced as chief feature of the photoplay bill at Crandall's Central theater the first two days of next week, beginning Sunday afternoon at 3, brings Jane Novak to the screen supported by an admirable cast in an engrossing tale of strife, romance and adventure in the redwood forest regions of California. The supplementary offering will be supplied by Our Gang in "Shivering Spooks," and a special United States navy reel will be shown.

Francis X. Bushman and Billie Dove lead the cast to be seen at the Central on Tuesday and Wednesday in "The Marriage Clause." The comedy for the second bill of the new week at the central will be Cameo's "Radio Bug."

On Thursday and Friday Marie Prevost will be the pictured star in "Almost a Lady." The auxiliary comedy will be furnished by Charlie Chase in "Mum's the Word," in addition to which a new Pathe Review will be shown.

"Hold That Lion,' Paramount's riotous comedy of the jungle, brings Douglas McLean, former Washingtonian, to the Central's screen on Saturday. The supplementary offering will be "Kiss Pappa," a new comedy in which Lige Conley appears as the star.

EARLE.

Rahman Bey, announced as headline attraction of next week's bill at the Earle theater, beginning Sunday afternoon at 3, is one of the wonder men of the current age. His stage offering consists of an amazing demonstration of the miracles of the Orient, including astounding experiments in cataleptic anesthesia, when knives, daggers and long pins may be thrust into his body without pain to him. In addition to this hypnotism, the ability to be buried alive with a complete suspension of breathing and circulation for periods ranging from twenty minutes to six hours, thought reading and transmission are among the weird endowments of this strange individual. The extra added attractions next week at the Earle will be a gypsy camp, described as the fastest dancing act in vaudeville. Not only is the dancing in this offering of a superlative nature but the settings and gypsy atmosphere add much to the attractivenses of the stage spectacle which it presents.

Other inclusions in the vaudeville portion of next week's entertainment are the Five Petleys, aerial comedy and cleverness combined in daring proportions; Murray and Dougherty, who present an act called "Always Trying" and Frank X. Silk, celebrated tramp comedian.

The photoplay feature for next week at the Earle will be "The Devil Horse," written from incidents in history that is authentic of the West by Hal Roach with his famous Rex, the black wild horse in the title role.

AUDITORIUM.

Seats are now on sale for the engagement of Robert B. Mantell and Genevieve Hamper at the news stands of the following hotels, New Willard, Carlton and Mayflower. They will open a two week's engagement at the Washington auditorium beginning Monday night with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

These local favorites, supported by a notable cast, will offer the first week the following schedule of plays: "King Lear" Monday night, "Hamlet" Tuesday night, "As You Like It" Wednesday matinee, "Julius Caesar" Wednesday night and Saturday matinee, "Richelieu" Thursday night, "Macbath" Friday night and "The Merchant of Venice" Saturday night.

The largest mail order seat sale that has been experienced for this kind of drama in recent years indicate a record-breaking engagement here. The Mantell-Hamper organization owns several attendance records in other cities, their company being often referred to as the "troupe that made Shakespeare popular."

It is reported one city school alone has bought a block of four hundred seats for the opening night's performance. The opening bill is one of the best in the repertoire of the Mantell-Hamper organization which is now considered the greatest on

POLI'S

Poli's theater will offer next week, commencing Sunday night, October 31, the latest of the Shubert harlequinades to appear under the title of "Artists and Models." For the purpose of identification and description, the forthcoming version is designated as "Paris Edition."

The Paris edition ran for an entire season at the New York Winter Garden, and comes here after an all-summer run at the Apollo, Chicago. In both Gotham and Fort Dearborn, the show broke revue-run records by many weeks.

The cast and production is promised intact. As in New York and Chicago, Phil Baker and the eighteen Gertrude Hoffman girls are featured in large type. There are 150 persons in the entourage. The seat sale begins Thursday morning at the box office. Mail orders now. Special bargain matinee is announced for Wednesday; there will be no afternoon performance Thursday. The regular Saturday matinee will be provided.

TIVOLI.

Jetta Goudal, one of the most picturesque of the feminine players on the screen achieves stellar eminence in Producers' release of "Her Man o' War," to be seen at Crandall's Tivoli theater the first two days of next week, beginning Sunday afternoon at 3. In this different sort of war picture Miss Goudal is supported by William Boyd. The comedy feature will be Mack Sennett's production of "Puppy Love Time." In addition the bill will include a new release of the "Topics of the Day," a new Pathe Review, and pipe organ accompaniments and solo interludes.

"Three Bad Men" is announced as the attraction at the Tivoli for Tuesday and Wednesday. The supplementary offering will be a new Aesop Fable.

On Thursday and Friday Colleen Moore will appear in First National's production of "It Must Be Love." The companion attraction will be Sennett's comedy "Meet My Girl."

On Saturday George O'Hara will be pictured in "Going the Limit." The supplementary offerings will include Lige Conley in a comedy "Solid Gold," a new Lyman H. Howe hodgepodge, a special navy reel, released by the United States government, and the seventh installment of the chapter play "Snowed In."

RIALTO.

"The Flaming Frontier," which is the feature photoplay at the Rialto for the week starting Sunday, is a soul-stirring epic of the West of the early seventies done in a most realistic manner, and with a close attention to true historical detail, coming to a climax with the battle of the Little Big Horn, at which Gen. George A. Custer and his entire command were wiped out. Through the colorful pattern of political intrigue, Indian warfare, and life at a frontier post runs the love story of a young Custer scout and the daughter of a United States senator.

Where "The Flaming Frontier" touches on the historical, it is said, that the producers have adhered closely to facts and detail. West Point and life at the famous military school have been carefully reproduced as they were in the seventies. The interior of the President's office in the White House is an accurate picture as it was in the days of Gen. Grant.

COLUMBIA.

Rafael Sabatini, famous author of "Scaramouche" and "The Sea Hawk;" King Vidor, brilliant director of "The Big Parade," "La Boheme" and other celebrated photoplay successes, and John Gilbert, the fascinating hero of "The Merry Widow," "The Big Parade" and "La Boheme," have combined their talents to produce for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer a spectacular film version of Sabatini's latest novel, "Bardelys, the Magnificent," which is announced as the featured attraction at Loew's Columbia theater for the week starting next Sunday afternoon.

"Bardelys, the Magnificent," is a rich, glamourous tale of romance, adventure and thrilling action, laid in medieval France at the time of Louis XIII and offers Mr. Gilbert what is probably his greatest role as Bardelys, the gentleman adventurer who undertook to win a rich heiress on a bet and under an assumed name.

Added stage and screen attractions, including Aesop's Fables, Topics of the Day, Pathe newsreel pictures and symphonic embellishment by the Columbia Symphony orchestra, Leon Brusilof, conductor, will supplement the chief feature.

MUTUAL.

"The big parade of burlesque." That is the manner in which "Step Along," the coming attraction at the Mutual theater, has been heralded.

Long an established trade name, "Step Along" has grown to be such that the mere announcement of the title assures an excellent evening of entertainment, says Harry O. Jarboe, manager of the local Mutual.

For the current season the producers have again secured the services of Harry Jackson, one of the best known Dutch comedians in his field of endeavor.

Others in the company include the Nicholas Sisters, also remembered from last season; Abe Gole, Frank DuFrane, Harry Ramear, Eloise Dwan, Mae Lorarine, Winnie Nichols, Mae Mason and Kitty Altman.

GAYETY.

Aaron Hoffman's greatest comedy, "Give and Take," produced by Hurtig & Seamon, with Age Reynolds the star, will be next week's attraction at the Gayety theater with beautiful Florence Mills the leading lady in a company that boasts a chorus of twenty singing and dancing girls. "Give and Take" is a comedy with music done in two acts as a musical offering in the newly constituted series of Columbia burlesques. Abe Reynolds has long been a favorite comedian on the Columbia "wheel" as is now disclosed as a character in more pretentious ways than burlesque has previously afforded.

Special Midnight Show.

Manager Ira J. La Motte, of the Gayety theater, announces a special midnight show at the Gayety theater tomorrow night, beginning promptly at 12 o'clock. The current attraction is Hurtig and Seamon's all-colored musical novelty sensation, "4-11-44," featuring Eddie Hunter. This extra show will be exactly the same in performance as the regular daily shows and will be complete in every detail.

CHALIAPIN COMING.

Feodor Chaliapin, celebrated Russian basso, and a special company that includes Elvira de Hidalgo, entrancing Spanish prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company will give ashington its first grand opera treat of the 1926-27 musical season with a performance of Rossini's "Barber of Seville" at Poli's theater next Thursday afternoon, November 4, at 3 o'clock, as the first attraction in Mrs. Wilson-Greene's artists' course of musical offerings.

This performance of "The Barber of Seville" will be a full-length operatic performance and not, in any sense, a tabloid version thereof. Chaliapin himself will sing the role of Don Bastilio, the village organist and music teacher, while Elvira de Hidalgo and Joseph Bobrovich, Lithuanian tenor, will sing the principal romantic roles of Rosina and Almaviva, respectively.

Two Performances Here.

By special arrangement with the management of the Mordkin ballet Washington secures two performances by this organization. The matinee will take place at the usual concert time of 4:30 and the evening affair at 8:30 at the Auditorium. With this procedure in effect it is believed all who desire to attend will be afforded the opportunity of doing so without inconvenience. At each performance the program will be completely altered. Mikhail Mordkin will take part in a large part of the offerings, supported by leading principals from many of the foremost ballets in the world. In addition to the choreographic features there will be a full symphony orchestra to take care of the complicated scores.

BELASCO.

Presentation by David Belasco of "Lily Sue," at the Shubert-Belasco theater, Monday night, November 1, is Mr. Belasco's first melo-dramatic offering of the year to Washington one week in advance of its opening in New York.

"Lily Sue" is a story of the early '90's by Willard Mack, author of "Tiger Rose," "The Dove," "Canary Dutch," "Fanny" and numerous other successful plays.

In addition to Jack Rosely and Beth Merrill in the leading roles, are several favorites in Washington including Curtis Cooksey, William Courtleigh, Florence Gerald, Beatrice Banyard, Joseph Sweeney, Huron L. Blyden, Leslie M. Hunt, Robert Wayne and James Grady.

"Lily Sue" is described as a play of extraordinary character acted with extraordinary power, and presented with the touch of genius that sets a Belasco production apart from anything else the stage can offer. It is said to hold the interest unwaveringly through three stirring acts, and that there is fine drama and much humor in the scenes, situations and dialogues.

The story of "Lily Sue" provides Mr. Rosely and Miss Merrill with characters perfectly fitted to their respective artistic abilities, strong in nature, tender in sympathies and rich in human notes.

Mr. Rosely in his characterization of the leading role opposite Miss Merrill is said to have a role that will be acclaimed as the finest part of his career.

Miss Merrill, who achieved success as "Kay Beatty" in "Ladies of the Evening," in the title role of "Lily Sue" is said to surpass all previous portrayals.

STRAND.

Beginning next Sunday afternoon the Strand Theater will feature Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog, in "The Hero of the Deep Snows," a gripping drama of romance and heroism neath the northern lights.

On the stage will be presented five big acts of Loew's vaudeville topped by Ed Pressler and Blanche Klaiss in a highly entertaining number entitled "Songs, Comedy and Pantomine." Other numbers on the vaudeville program will include Japanette and Edward in "Symphonic Dawn," with Jeanette and Alice; James Kennedy in a new comedy skit, "Paradise;" Mabel Clark and John Crosby in a hilariously funny comedy turn entitled "They Don't Understand;" and Tom Davies Trio, three sensational motorists from the Coliseum, London, ad Alahambra, Paris.

Short film features and orchestral numbers under the direction of Arthur J. Manvell will complete the program.

Piano Recital Monday.

M. Maurice Dumesnil, who comes to Washington in a piano recital on Monday evening, November 1, at the Continental Memorial hall, will land in New York tomorrow. He will have with him the beautiful piano which belonged to Chopin himself.

Washington music lovers will welcome the opportunity to hear this noted French artist interpret Chopin on the same instrument which the great master's own fingers coaxed his transcendent melodies.

His first appearance will be in Washington. His tour will include all the leading cities of America. A large part of the proceeds of his recitals will be used for the wounded musicians of France. It was on this condition that M. Dumesnil secured the famous Chopin piano for this American tour.

The National League of American Pen Women have invited a large group of our own wounded musicians as their guests for this occasion.

METROPOLITAN.

Corinne Griffith, star of First National's production of "Syncopating Sue," to be seen for the first time in Washington at Crandall's Metropolitan theater next week beginning Sunday afternoon at 3, reverts to the type of characterization that won such wide acclaim when she assumed the stellar role of "Classified." In other words, Miss Griffith for the time being, abandons serious drama and offers a portrayal that abounds in comedy, effervescence and charm. "Syncopating Sue" is a comedy drama which has as its background the theater and the jazz activities of the roaring forties along Broadway known as Tin Pan alley.

On the stage next week at the Metropolitan, three artists popular on the phonograph records, radio, and stage will offer the added attraction. The Ponce sisters are familiar to players of Columbia phonograph disks as well as to those who have listened in on station WEAF, New York. These exponents of "advanced styles in harmony" will be assisted by John D'Alesandro, a banjoist and singer of singular ability.

In addition to these major offerings the Metropolitan's bill for the coming week will embrace the customary features.

PALACE.

One of the most delightful and perfectly blended stage and screen presentation de luxe programs yet presented is announced for showing at Loew's Palace for the week starting next Sunday, October 31, when "War Paint," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, featuring Tim McCoy and Pauline Starke, will be the principal photoplay feature, while the stage attractions will include Ben Bernie's famous Hotel Roosevelt orchestra, led by Ben Bernie himself, "Broadway's jester and favorite son."

"War Paint," the Palace chief screen feature, is a Western dramatic romance of a brand-new type, which brings to the silversheet a new star in Col. Tim McCoy, a real Indian fighter and product of the West. The story itself is by Peter B. Kyne, famous author of "Cappy Ricks," while the beautiful Pauline Starke has the role of leading woman opposite the bold, fearless and good-looking McCoy.

PRESIDENT.

The President Players depart abruptly from the realm of racy comedy to broad farce for the new week, commencing Monday night, when they will offer Irene Bordoni's starring vehicle of last season, "Naughty Cinderella."

The story centers around Gerald Gray, who has been in love with Claire Fenton. The two plan a quiet month in Venice but unfortunately the lady's husband is a bit jealous. Bunny Banton, a friend of Gray's, hits upon the idea of providing Gray with a lady who shall also travel to Venice and, under cover of a supposed flirtation, deepen Claire's interest in the said Gray. The little relief worked proves to be a disturbing, though lovable influence and the complications arising from her ardor in flirting, generate most of the laughs of the piece.

The role of Germaine proved a successful one for Irene Bordoni as it probably will for Leona Powers, for French types are among the best things Miss Powers portrays.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

New York, Oct. 27 (By A. P.). Ingersoll-Rand Co. declared an extra dividend of $1 a share on the common stock and the regular quarterly of 75 cents, payable December 1 to holders of record November 8.

Reports that the Northern Pacific would bid on the Puget Sound extension of the St. Paul railway next month were denied today by Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific, who said not the least thought had been given to the subject. "I understand considerable progress has been made between shippers and railroad representatives looking toward an early agreement on class A freight rate schedules in western trunk line territory," he declared.

Stockholders of the Corn Exchange bank will vote November 30 on a proposed increase in capital stock from $10,000,000 to $11,000,000. New stock will be offered at $200 a share to holders of record December 15, payable January 3, 1927.

Stockholders of the United Fruit Co. have approved the stock ownership plan for employes at a purchase price of $96 a share.

Pig iron prices have been advanced one dollar a ton in the Eastern Pennsylvania district to $22.50 for No. 2 foundry grade.

A deficit of $45,490 for August reported by Atlantic Gulf & West Indies Steamship Lines, reduced surplus of $1,451,928 in the same period of 1925.

The upward trend in gross business of General Gas & Electric Corporation System was maintained in operating revenues and other income for the year ended September 30, amounting to $23,831,933, an increase of 14 per cent over the year before. Balance after all charges and dividends was $2,755,068, against $1,632,151 a year ago.

Arrangements have been made to transfer the controlling stock of the new Rochelle Water Co., supplying various sections in Westchester county, New York, to the Community Water Service Co., of New York city. The property is valued at $5,000,000.

Net profit of Wheeling Steel for the nine months this year rose to $3,582,684, equal, after preferred dividends, to $4.03 a share on the common, from $2,720,471, or $1.85 a share in the corresponding period of 1925.

A dividend of 8 per cent in common stock and $2 a share in cash was declared today on the common stock of the Butterick Co., payable December 1 to holders of record November 10. This is the first dividend common shareholders have received since September, 1916.

Superior Steel Corporation declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, payable December 1 to stock of record November 15.

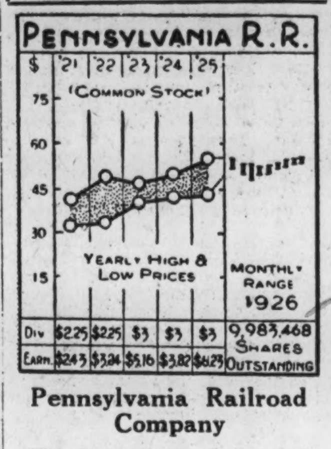
What's Behind Your Stock



Pennsylvania Railroad Company

The Pennsylvania Railroad Co., incorporated in 1846, is one of the best known transportation systems in the country. It operates 11,628 miles of first main track, while the total mileage of all track operated is 27,806. This system is a very highly developed one and comprises a tremendous net-work of roads and branches which cover the section between New York, Washington and the Eastern seaboard westward to Chicago, Burlington and St. Louis.

During the past ten years revenue freight tonnage has practically doubled. Over 60 per cent of this tonnage consists of mine products; nevertheless, manufactured goods and miscellaneous freight carried have shown a steady growth and now amount of about 25 per cent of all freight tonnage.

In 1925 gross revenues reported were the largest in the company's history excepting for 1923. Net income available for application to stock was the largest in the road's history, being equal, after all charges, to $6.23 or to 12.46 per cent per share on the common stock. This figure compares with earnings of $3.82 reported in 1924 and earnings of $5.16 per share in 1923.

The Pennsylvania railroad has one of the longest unbroken records of dividends payments of any corporation in the country. Payments have not been missed in any year since the initial declaration in 1856 and have ranged between 10 per cent and 2½ per cent. The present rate is 6 per cent per share per year.

BANK DINNER SPEAKER BACKS INSTALLMENT PLAN

Isolated Cases Should Not Condemn System, Alfred Reeves Tells Institute.

STOCK PRICES HOLD FIRM

By F. W. PATTERSON.

"As we frequently have foolish cash buying, so we have foolish installment buying, but that should not condemn either form," said Alfred Reeves, of New York, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, last night in an address on "Installment Financing," delivered at the forum dinner of Washington chapter, American Institute of Banking, at the City club.

"No one can defend the city man who on $40 a week salary buys a fur coat, a diamond ring, a radio and an automobile on time payments. He is the isolated case who supplies the example for those who oppose buying out of income," declared the speaker. Stating it as his belief that installment buying is sound economically, he pointed out that the real problem is to embrace the good element and eliminate the bad, "which I am glad to say is the program now being followed by dealers, manufacturers and finance companies."

"Many attacks have been made on installment selling which developed only the bad cases," said Mr. Reeves. While admitting some features which he said those engaged in installment selling are anxious to improve, he proceeded to tell a few good points of this modern method of selling articles, and presented eight advantages of installment purchasing which the public enjoys. The advantages enumerated were:

1. Installment buying encourages thrift, as it is an enforced form of saving. People will economize to meet recurring payments due, when they might not economize for the mere purpose of accumulation.

2. It enables people to get at once things of value or utility to them which they would otherwise have to do without or might have to wait a long time to own.

3. A buyer is enabled to enjoy the use of the article while paying for it. He pays while using, as in the case of railway equipment certificates.

4. It leads people to put money into articles of real value which might otherwise be wasted on articles of transient gratification.

5. An economic advantage is that increased and steady production gives even the time buyer the article at a lowered cost.

6. It has the merit of increasing the cost only to the time buyer. The cash buyer enjoys a lower price as against the installment buyer, whereas the average charge account gives one who pays his bill every 60 days the same price as the cash buyer and sometimes gives him better service.

7. It permits the financing of consumption, whereas in the past financing has generally been only for production and for retailing.

8. It puts a responsibility on a person which insures his doing more and better work. Many economists declare this nation can live as well as any other nation by working six hours a day. It is the other two hours of work which supply things that maintain our high standard of living.

Following the address an interesting discussion of the subject was indulged in by many of the more than 100 bankers who attended this, the first forum dinner of the 1926-1927 season.

Harold W. Burnside, chairman of the forum committee, presided and brief talks were made by W. W. Spaid, vice president of the District Bankers Association; Harry V. Haynes, chairman of the Washington Clearing House Association, and T. Hunton Leith, president of Washington chapter.

The committee having the dinner in charge consisted of Mr. Burnside, chairman, I. J. Roberts, chairman of the educational committee, F. H. Cox, Commercial National Bank, and Oscar A. Thorp, manager bank service department, Rand, Kardex Co.

Stock Prices Remain Firm.

Yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange was little different than that of the day before so far as volume was concerned, but despite the light dealing prices remained firm.

The interesting development of the day was the attempt to find out just where the market stood with regard to Washington Railway & Electric common, in which the last sale was made at 190. A single share was promptly sold at 190, with bid thereafter at 180, while asked remained at the higher level. The preferred stock of the carrier gained ⅛, to 90¼, on a sale of 10 shares. Potomac Electric Power preferred began the day at 108, gained to 108¼ and on final sale recovered to 108½. National Mortgage & Investment preferred sold to the extent of 50 shares at 8¼.

Bond dealing was limited to Washington Railway & Electric 4s which sold at 83¼ and the general 6s which moved at 103.

Banker Shows Films of Trip.

Lanier P. McLachlen, president of the McLachlen Banking Corporation, who was a member of the party of local bankers who journeyed to the Los Angeles convention by the Panama canal route, took reels of motion pictures both on the trip by water, at the convention and on the return by rail. These pictures were shown to the employes of the bank yesterday afternoon, and it is understood that the film will play an important part in future entertainment of the District Bankers association.

B. & O. Income Increases.

Net operating income of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for September amounted to $5,408,427, an increase of $605,373 over the corresponding month last year, according to statement of earnings and expenses made public yesterday. Operating revenues totaled $22,751,234, a gain of $1,248,603 over September, 1925, while operating expenses, which were $15,962,059 showed an increase of but $670,603 over the corresponding month last year.

PUBLIC BUYING BROADENS

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Oct. 27.—With the turn about of the market's two commanding issues—United States Steel common and General Motors—stocks firmed up today in slightly more active dealings on the New York Stock Exchange, with a turnover of approximately 1,600,000 shares registered and a generous number of net gains up to 3 points and better sprinkled through the active descriptions.

Wide swings, however, were not the rule, despite the much better financial news which faced the investing and speculating public this morning, and Reynolds Tobacco B, with a rise of 4⅞ points and Ingersoll-Rand, which netted a 5½ point improvement, were the most spectacular, from a viewpoint of bullish movement, while 500 shares of Worthington Pump preferred A stock sold down 8 points on the other side of the picture.

In spite of the publication of Steel Corporation's and General Motors' big earnings, the $3 extra dividend on Norfolk & Western, the increase of the regular Pennsylvania railroad dividend from 6 to 7 per cent and continued reports of improvement in other railroad earnings, the market did not achieve the activity which might have been looked for on such a series of good business barometer readings.

However, the advance was a general one, even if unimpressive, and few losses were shown on the day. The ease of call money, which lent at 4½ per cent on the stock exchange and at concessions outside, was another factor to which little attention was given. The only pessimistic note, and that a minor one, was sounded by the steel trade reviews, which stressed the falling off of demand from automotive and building industries for steel products. This was felt by some of the lower priced motors, without, however, causing any appreciable loss of ground.

General Motors, up 3¾, and Steel common with a 3⅛ point rise, between them accounted for about a fifth of the day's total transactions. American Can was active, rising 3⅜, and all three of these leaders closed at their top notches on the day. Montgomery Ward and Sears, Roebuck were again in moderate demand, showing small advances.

While trading was still largely professional, commission houses reported that there was a slight increase in public buying. There was undoubtedly some investment accumulation of a few of the highest grade industrials and railroads. Pennsylvania shares were lifted to the highest level since 1917, when the rails were again taken up by pool operators, Atlantic Coast Line moving up sharply, while Southern Railway, Delaware & Hudson and Illinois Central were in demand. Realizing in the last hour brought some slight recessions from the best levels.

The Roumanian leu went to the highest point in two years. Francs were steady and sterling fractionally lower. The new Belgian unit was steady and barely changed.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Conflicting views about the due effects indicating likelihood of prompt settlement of the British coal strike led to rapid wheat price changes today. In the end, the Chicago wheat market, although nervous, closed at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅝ higher, corn unchanged to ⅝ up, oats at a shade decline to ⅛ advance, and provisions varying from 7 cents drop to a rise of 5.

Numerous holders of wheat here were jarred by a sharp setback in Liverpool quotations and there was also something akin to a speculative selling drive at prices here. The prevailing opinion, however, appeared to be that a settlement of the coal strike, while construed as bearish abroad, should properly be regarded as bullish about wheat on this side of the Atlantic. Trade leaders here said the expected settlement and the consequent lease of vessel tonnage should cause increased shipments of wheat to Europe, inasmuch as transatlantic countries have long been on a virtual hand-to-mouth basis.

It was asserted in this connection that stocks of wheat in Europe are at a minimum, and that the amount of ocean passage is 10,000,000 bushels less than early in July. This implied, according to a Chicago authority that Europe is in urgent need of wheat available for quick delivery, supplies which must of necessity come from North America. Meanwhile, however, export demand today for North American wheat was slack and announcement was made the world's available stock had increased 9,431,000 bushels for the week, mostly in Canada.

Corn was relatively strong today from the outset, May in particular, owing to broader demand with news that husking returns are poor. Vessel room was chartered for 500,000 bushels of corn to Buffalo and 200,000 bushels to Georgian bay. Oats held within narrow limits.

Provisions were easier on account of scattered selling. Cash demand was light.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The cotton market was quieter today with fluctuations rather irregular. After selling off to 12.15 for January contracts in earlier trading, prices ruled generally steady with that delivery selling up to 12.29 and closing at 12.27. The general market closed steady at net declines of 1 to 4 points.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 3 to 5 points under overnight selling orders which seemed to come largely from the South, combined with local and commission house selling on the fairly favorable weekly report of the weather bureau and rumors of an easier spot basis in the Eastern belt.

These rumors were colored by the increased Southern selling here, and the market worked off to 12.06 for December and 12.40 for points on active positions.

The Southern selling tapered off after the first hour, however, while the decline brought in a good deal of buying, much of which was attributed to the trade and prices steadied up during the afternoon. Later fluctuations were irregular, but practically all the early losses were recovered, December selling at 12.21 and March 12.55. Last prices were within a point or two of the best. On the whole local brokers said it looked as if the trade buying on scale down orders was insufficient to offset Southern hedging, and general business was less active today as if trades were waiting further developments in the Southern spot markets. Killing temperatures were reported at some additional Eastern belt points, but were without apparent effect on sentiment to the probable size of the crop. Otherwise weather conditions were considered favorable, both for the development of the late cotton and picking over the greater part of the belt.

Private cables reported further trade calling in Liverpool, but said it had been offset by increased hedging and liquidation.

Exports today, 63,483, making 2,263,612 so far this season. Port receipts today, 85,039. United States port stocks, 2,329,313.

FAMOUS AUTHORS

Oliver Goldsmith

TALES of Goldsmith's profligacy with money abound. At twenty-three after numerous escapades, he resolved to study law. A generous uncle advanced £50. Goldsmith went to Dublin and lost his stake in a gaming house in one night.

His famous novel "The Vicar of Wakefield" is the subject of an amusing tale by Samuel Johnson. Goldsmith, according to the story, was being ousted by his landlady and applied to Johnson for aid. Johnson took the manuscript of "The Vicar of Wakefield," went out and sold it for £60 and returned in time to save his friend.

Gambling and easy living have been a menace to financial success in all ages. Today the wise man invests his surplus earnings so that he may have an independent income during his later years. And if he invests in our 6½% First Mortgages, he is assured of safety and a liberal, regular return for the rest of his life.

DEMPSEY TO DELAY "COME-BACK," RICKARD TOLD

Intersectional Games Top Program

4 Midwestern Teams Face Foes From Other Sectors.

Notre Dame, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri in Big Games.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The battle for intersectional gridiron supremacy this season, in which the East has set the pace so far, will find the middle West on the warpath this Saturday, seeking revenge in a series of notable college engagements.

Four of the middle West's strongest elevens—Michigan, Illinois, Missouri and Notre Dame—are after the scalps of foes from other sectors, reinforced in the conflict by the Redskins themselves, the Haskell Indians, and Michigan State.

Michigan's Wolverines, invading the Navy's stronghold in a game at Baltimore, and Knute Rockne's Hoosiers, tackling Georgia Tech, at South Bend, Ind., are strongly favored to win, but the other middle Western contenders face less promising prospects of victory. Neither Michigan nor Notre Dame has tasted defeat so far, and both figure in the front ranks of teams seeking national championship recognition.

Illinois entertains one of the East's most powerful bidders for title honors in Pennsylvania, which will go West with high hopes of atoning for the stunning reverse that Red Grange and the Illini handed the Quakers in the mud of Franklin field last fall.

Missouri, champion of the Missouri Valley conference in 1925, meets another strong and unbeaten array in West Virginia. The Missourians haven't been defeated either, but they have been tied twice and the Mountaineers appear to have an edge for the contest scheduled at Morgantown, W. Va.

The Haskell Indians have their war paint on for Bucknell, which has not measured quite up to its usual standard this year in spite of the coaching efforts of "Uncle Charley" Moran, who guided the Centre Colonels to national fame a few years ago.

So far the East has made almost a runaway of the intersectional tussle and figures to keep the lead regardless of the outcome of this week's games. With 25 major intersectional tilts recorded up to date, the East has won seven out of eleven from the middle West and nine out of ten from the South, the other being a tie.

	East.	Midw.	So.	Sw.	Total Won
East	x	7	9	0	16
Midwest	4	x	2	0	6
South	0	2	x	1	3
Total lost	4	9	11	1

Ties—South and Midwest; South and East; Southwest and Midwest.

Army and Syracuse Heads To Investigate Rough Play

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The New York Evening Post today said that Chancellor Charles Wesley Flint, of Syracuse university, and Brig. Gen. Merch Bradt Stewart, superintendent of the United States Military Academy at West Point, will open an investigation next Monday into the Army-Syracuse football game on October 16, in which three Syracuse and two Army players were badly hurt. Baysinger, Syracuse quarterback, later resigned from the squad because of an altercation with the referee.

Reports that Army officials have been checking up on the extent of the Syracuse injuries for the last few days were denied at the academy today, the paper says.

"Whippet" Car, star of the Orange backfield and leading point scorer of the Eastern colleges, suffered a severe knee injury that probably will keep him on the side lines for the remainder of the season.

Injuries to Goldman and Friedman, members of the Syracuse squad, were not so severe. Trapnell, big Army back and foremost kicker of the team, was badly hurt about the head and face, but probably will return to the game in time for a part of the Yale contest Saturday. Elias, a sub tackle on the Cadet eleven, is believed out for the season with a twisted knee.

Play during the game, the first played between the two institutions in several years, was extremely hard, and following the contest reports that Army and Syracuse would sever relations could not be verified. Baysinger was banished from play for assaulting Referee Schartz.

After a conference between Coach "Pete" Reynolds and Chancellor Flint, Baysinger announced his withdrawal from the team. At that time the coach issued a statement in which he declared the young man showed his courage and manliness by admitting his fault. His teammates also expressed their belief in him.

Cornell Not at Ease About Columbia Game

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 27.—The line-up in doubt, an uneasy Cornell football team is putting on the finishing touches for the Columbia game in drills on Schoellkopf field and in the baseball cage. The Cornell squad of some 30 players will leave Ithaca Thursday night for New York, conscious that they face a man-sized job on the Polo grounds Saturday and by no means convinced that they will come out on top.

Memories of last year's hair-raising contest, which Cornell won in the last five minutes of play, and the uncertain, erratic team-play of the eleven so far this season have created an air of uncertainty and doubt on the Cornell campus as to the team's chances against the Lions.

If Coach Dobie's views are shared by the players, and there is every reason to believe that they are, the Red eleven will face Columbia conscious that it must play better football than it has at any time this year to come off with victory.

Two 150-Pound Games In League on Sunday

The Northern and Brookland elevens meet on the Brookland field, at Michigan avenue and Perry street, and the Southern Preps tackle the Wintons on the Washington barracks gridiron, in the Capital City league 150-pound series games Sunday. Both contests start at 3 o'clock. Charley Guyon, Eastern coach, will referee at the barracks with Toney Barbra in charge at Brookland.

100-POUNDERS READY.

Instructors Plan Pro Tennis Body

New York, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The first definite step officially to establish American lawn tennis professionals in the competitive field will take George Agutter, instructor of the West Side club at Forest Hills, N. Y., on an invasion of Europe tmorrow. Agutter and his assistant, Paul L. Heston, will sail to compete in the French professional championship next December on the Riviera.

Agutter's move gives another twirl to the professional tennis wheel set in motion by Charles C. Pyle, who invaded the amateur fold to sign Suzanne Lenglen, Mary K. Browne, Vincent Richards, Howard Kinsey and others for a tour of America and Canada.

While Pyle has announced tentative plans for an open championship tournament on the Pacific coast, Agutter expressed the opinion that only through an organization of American instructors, properly conducted, will the paid player ever be able permanently to establish himself on a sound footing in this country. Open competition eventually would be an outgrowth of such an organization and the recognition its players would command, he believes.

Penn State Ready For Hatchet Invasion

State College, Pa., Oct. 27.—Experience gained in the Notre Dame and Syracuse games proved costly to Penn State, but it promises to be the best teacher for the scrappy youngsters who are upholding the Blue and White on the gridiron this fall. Greenness has played a prominent part in the two defeats already suffered, but each succeeding week finds the Lions improving and that is all that can be expected.

The coaches have been easing up somewhat this week for the George Washington game on Saturday should not be overly difficult. The Washingtonians have a strong team, according to reports, but they hardly compare with Syracuse or Notre Dame.

If the Lions can get by this game without injuries, they should be in their best shape of the season to face the University of Pennsylvania next week.

Nebraska, Syracuse Meet Next 2 Years

Lincoln, Nebr., Oct. 27 (By A. P.). Nebraska and Syracuse universities have signed a two-year contract calling for football games in 1927 and 1928. The first game will be played at Lincoln, October 29, 1927. The next will be played on the Syracuse gridiron.

Ohio Looming as Winner in West

Powerful Backfield Likely to Trample Chicago Eleven.

Yost Warns Michigan Not to Take Navy Team Lightly.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Romping into the stretch of the 1926 football season, Ohio State's first formidable team since Chick Harley's day is reaching toward a Western conference title with a backfield whose power has not yet been revealed.

Karow, Marek, Eby and Grim stand in the van of the Buckeye's brigade as it advances on the University of Chicago, but Coach John W. Wilce expected to hold several of these thunderers in reserve for still another fortnight, against the contest with Michigan November 13, which he believes will decide the championship.

Karow, a plunger, passer and kicker, has been the bulwark of the Ohio State backfield in easy victories over Columbia and Iowa. Grim and Marek have worked in shifts, and both have starred when they played. Eby is the Buckeye dark horse, a sophomore find.

Nor does this count all of the Buckeye attackers, for Clark, quarterback, is an able general and kicker. Kruskomp, a regular halfback thus far, is a star at interference and defense, and Hunt, a reserve quarterback, is a dependable performer.

With these aces and with a line which has lost its greenness fast and which contains from last year the all-American guard, Hess, the Ohio State team expects to win under wraps from the lowly Maroons Saturday, thus avenging a 3-3 tie a season ago.

Defeats by Penn and Purdue, a backfield riddled by injury and illness, and a green and awkward line have not abated, however, the loyalty of Chicago fans to A. A. Stagg, their grand old man. Stagg and his team were guests of the alumni at a banquet tonight. The Maroons are not hopeful of victory, but Stagg promises they will play the game as Chicago teams always play.

Illinois and Pennsylvania, having settled their scrap over the Easterners' yellow elbow pads, did the Alphonse and Gaston act today, but there was no tea served at the Illini practice. Zuppke sent his squad into a stiff scrimmage against the famous "hidden ball" play with the admonition that his defense would do well to break through the Penn line Saturday and smash the concealed play before it gets started.

School Fives May Play at Night

Annual Central-Tech Grid Game Booked for Tomorrow.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

FRIDAY night double-headers in this winter's high school basketball series will be played on the Arcadia court, if the plan of Seruch T. Kimble, athletic advisor, is sanctioned by the high school principals.

The move is bound to be a popular one, not only with the students of the various schools, but with the thousands of high school graduates and plain basketball enthusiasts who prefer the scholastic brand of the game and follow ever phase of the races.

The plan to stage "night" games has been considered for the last few years but has been dropped heretofore for the reason that a hall with sufficient seating capacity could not be obtained.

Recent improvements are the Arcadia, and a generous offer by John S. Blick, manager of the establishment, have made the plan a feasible one at this time.

High school football followers come face to face with the Tech-Central game tomorrow. Standings of the teams will be forgotten for the moment for the battle immediately at hand. So it is with meetings of the old rivals.

As many as 10,000 rooters have witnessed the battle in other years and the largest crowd of the series to date is expected.

Tech enters the game favorite, a position it has held, excepting last year, for a number of seasons. In fact Central has beaten Tech only once in the last four seasons. Coach "Mike" Kelley's eleven turned that trick last year and the victory gained the Public High championship for the Blue and White.

Tech broke into the limelight last week with its fine exhibition against Western, which culminated in a tie game. Central, in its only series start, was beaten 12-0 by Eastern.

If two players can change a team, Central will be a much stronger aggregation than the one that bowed to Eastern. Capt. Frank Blackistone and Birthright, both side-tracked by injuries before the series started, will play. Blackistone is expected to bolster the Blue and White defense, while Birthright is being depended upon to give Central an offensive punch

Coach Hardell, of Tech, will stick to the same combination which tied Western.

Tex Rickard "Outfumbles" Jack for Luncheon Check

Dempsey Becomes Host in Last Minute of Tete-a-Tete—Articles for Fight May Be Signed at Later Date.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Only mildly impressed by the eager, but floundering demonstrations of the new group of heavyweight prize-fighters, Tex Rickard took Jack Dempsey to lunch today, and, as they nibbled refinedly at rare viands and exotic fruits, endeavored to employ him for one or more farewell exhibitions in the ring.

As a rule, when Mr. Rickard wishes to employ a prize-fighter, he does not take the prize-fighter to lunch or even buy him a hot dog. He merely jabs a mother-of-pearl button on his desk, which has more mother-of-pearl buttons than a costermonger's trousers. summoning Mr. Jess McMahon, his matchmaker, to whom he says: "Call up that feller that handles Young Stumbles and tell him we'll give his feller $3,500 to fight some feller a week from Friday night, and if he says yes, then get some feller to fight him."

But Mr. Dempsey is almost as refined as Mr. Gene Tunney himself, and he must be taken to lunch, although, as happened today, Mr. Rickard sometimes contrives to outfumble Mr. Dempsey for the check, whereat, in the last moment of play, Mr. Dempsey becomes the host.

This gives the negotiations a sporting tang, although there are some cynics who insist that there is no sport but only greed in prize-fighting today.

Of course, nobody expects Mr. Rickard to make a match with Dempsey at the luncheon stage of the negotiations, and, therefore, it was not expected that they would sign articles today. That will come later, but for a luncheon, the affair went off very well and Mr. Rickard was able to state that he had signed Dempsey for another luncheon Thursday or Friday, at which Dempsey will endeavor to outfumble him.

Furthermore, he brought up the subject of prize fighting in a delicate way and induced Mr. Dempsey to say that he would like to fight slightly before he retires. This shows that, regardless of the damage that Mr. Tunney inflicted on Mr. Dempsey's comeliness in Philadelphia, he did not impair Dempsey's mental mechanism.

For if Jess Willard could return to the ring, years after he established the inglorious precedent of losing the heavyweight championship while sitting in his corner and earn $150,000 by fighting ever so slightly, then Dempsey doubtless can earn at least that much without exerting himself to any serious extent.

He and Mr. Rickard lunched today in Hotel Algonquin, which fact may indicate that Dempsey has gone in for refinement in a serious way, hoping one day to outgentleman Mr. Tunney. The Algonquin is a place where authors gather to talk pleasantly about the books they are going to write and unpleasantly about other books that other people already have written.

Mr. Rickard felt ill at ease among so much potential literature, but Dempsey carried himself with confidence because it is well known that he is a journalist, having written extensively for the papers when he was champion.

After Mr. Rickard had outfumbled Dempsey for the check, and they had redeemed their own hats, respectively, Mr. Rickard said he would prefer to present Dempsey against Herr Diener, the Bremen bologna connoisseur; Jim Maloney or Jack Sharkey, of Boston, or Harry Persson, an animated art gallery from Sweden.

He particularly favored Persson, indicating that he hasn't much hope for him anyway, and might as well use him in the process of rebuilding Dempsey. They might fight in the Garden in March, he said, but they may not meet until the open-air season returns.

EAGLES ARE PREPARING.

The Anacostia Eagles will prepare for their game Sunday with the St. Stephens eleven by a practice tonight and tomorrow night on their field at 7:30 o'clock. All players are expected to be present.

Bobby Jones Too Busy For Next British Open

Atlanta, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Bobby Jones, first American amateur to win the British open golf championship, said today that he would be too busy next year to defend his title. He added that he will defend his title as American open golf champion and that he probably will enter the American amateur tournament.

Jones said that his business interests and the study of law at Emory university here, which he started this fall, will prevent him from playing in any winter tournaments this season. Then, referring to big tournaments in which he is a veteran with an outstanding record, he added with a smile:

"The United States open and the United States amateur are all I can see for 1927, and darn little chance to win them. They seem to be getting tougher and tougher."

Devitt Prep Swamps G. W. Freshmen, 74-0

Devitt Prep's eleven wore the chalk off the George Washington University Freshman's goal line yesterday in running up a 7-to-0 score in their game on the Tidal basin field. Devitt's points consisted of five touchdowns for Hartigan, two for Harris, three for Moyna and one for B. Kennedy. Moyna also made good on seven of nine tries for the extra point.

The game was the second played by the G. W. Yearlings, who have only lately been organized.

NORTHERNS STAGE DRILL.

All Northern players are requested to report at the Park View playground tonight at 7:30 o'clock for a workout in preparation for a game with Brookland, Sunday. The Northerns will be strengthened Sunday with the return of Ady, who has been unable to play for the past week, due to an injured ankle.

Fallen Champ to Resume Training

Sharkey, Maloney and Persson Named as Opponents.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Jack Dempsey today told Tex Rickard he would make no immediate comeback in the ring.

The dethroned champion said that next week he would return to his home in California, where he will go into training for two months.

"If I find I haven't gone back too far to give a suitable account of myself, I will attempt to regain the title," Rickard quoted Dempsey as saying.

The .former title holder, Mrs Dempsey and Rickard discussed the possibliity of Dempsey's comeback this afternoon. They also discussed possible opponents. possible opponents.

"But nothing definite was decided upon," said Rickard. "Dempsey wants to be sure he is 'right' before we go ahead with a match and if he does fight again, he probably will not be seen in the ring before February, at the earliest."

Rickard admitted, however, that he expected to confer again with Dempsey in a few days. "Dempsey is still a young man," he said. "But he may decide that he has made enough out of the game to quit."

Rickard said that Jack Sharkey and Jim Maloney, of Boston, and Harry Persson, the Swedish heavyweight, were among prospective opponents he discussed with Dempsey. The name of Paul Berlenbach, former light-heavyweight title holder, who has been eager to fight Dempsey, was not brought up. Rickard indicated that he considered Berlenbach was not big enough to make a good match against the former champion.

"I probably will not hear from Dempsey until December," said Rickard. "He is going to give himself a thorough test. When he says the word, I will sign a suitable opponent."

Sharkey Offered $150,000 To Fight Jack Dempsey

Boston, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—An offer to match Jack Sharkey, conqueror of Harry Wills, with Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, for a bout in Chicago next June has been received by Sharkey's manager, it was announced here today.

Johnny Buckley, manager of Sharkey, said that William Clements, of the Chicago Coliseum Co., had offered the Boston boxer $150,000 to meet Dempsey. Buckley said he would not be able to announce a definite decision in regard to the offer for two weeks.

Catholic U. Eleven Entrains For New Orleans Tonight

Brooklanders Meet Loyola Sunday—G. U. Working Hard for Lebanon Valley Game. Busy Days Ahead of Marine Gridmen.

FACING the longest trip ever made by a Catholic university football team, 26 Maroon and Black gridmen, Coach McAuliffe and Manager John J. Daly, entrain tonight for New Orleans, where the Loyola college eleven will be met Sunday.

A light workout in the stadium yesterday marked the Brooklanders' final preparation here, although Coach McAuliffe is hopeful of a practice session en route and another when the team arrives at New Orleans.

Catholic University is aware of the man's sized job it faces if it means to bring back the scalp of the Southerners, who followed a decisive victory over Detroit University with a swamping of Fort Benning eleven.

Fortunately, the Brooklanders will be able to present their full strength, except for Capt. Mayer, who is out for the season.

It was a real "Bloody Wednesday" scrimmage at the Hilltop yesterday, as Coach Lou Little drove his varsity eleven against the Freshmen squad long after the sun had set. It was probally one of the stiffest drills staged this year. Coach Little made no bones in telling members of the backfields that he was far from satisfied with the way they have played in previous games.

Parker Scott, former Akron high school star, worked the majority of the time yesterday with the first string backfield. His ability to punt, play a great defensive game and carry the ball makes him a dangerous candidate to displace one of the members of the present first string backfield.

Coach Lou Little and his staff are not expecting an easy afternoon Saturday, when the team clashes with Lebanon Valley. The Keystone Staters have plenty of power in their eleven and may drive the Georgetown combination to the limit. In its opening contest of the year, Lebanon handily beat Villanova, 30 to 12. The latter in its second game, turned around and beat the powerful Bucknell eleven, 17 to 3. Therefore Coach Little will most certainly start his first string line-up Saturday.

The Freshmen squad tried Syracuse and Lebannon Valley plays during the two-hour drill. Each and every time the varsity backs intercepted forward passes or grounded them. It was a much improved backfield defense.

Little intimated yesterday that he would not let up on the team until after the Syracuse conflict. Each and every day will be hard drill with the usual rest on Friday.

The Quantico Marines, with the scrimmage yesterday with Maryland at College Park, completed their final hard work for the game with Providence college Saturday at Providence, R. I. Coach Keady will give his proteges a light workout today at the Quantico camp and tomorrow will be spent in packing grips for a trip which finds them visiting three cities before they return to their home base on the Potomac.

The Leatherneck contingent will leave Quantico tomorrow night for Providence. The party will include 30 players, trainers and coaches. Before returning, Canisius will be met in Buffalo Tuesday, November 2, and John Carroll will be played at Cleveland Saturday, November 6.

Jack McQuade, backfield ace, who was injured in the Catholic U. game, will not accompany the eleven. He has left the hospital and is now recuperating at h home here. He expects to get back in the line-up in about two weeks.

GAFFSMAN BEATS FAVORITES IN LAUREL FEATURE

$2,000 Purse Is Won by Outsider

Prince of Wales Loses After Five Straight Victories.

Just in Fun Rewards With $70 Mutuel in Opening Race.

Special to The Washington Post.

LAUREL RACE TRACK, Md., Oct. 27.—Prince of Wales suffered his first defeat in six starts here this afternoon when the Seagram stable's Gaffsman gathered in the Greenock purse, feature of an ordinary card. Ridden by O. Bourassa, and trailing off the leaders until making the turn out of the back stretch, Gaffsman moved up on the outside of his field rounding the far turn and, in the stretch run, closed with a good burst of speed that carried him to the front the last hundred yards. He won going away.

Prince of Wales, showing his usual brilliant speed in the early stages, set a dazzling pace. Raced under slight restraint, he ran his first mile in 1:38. Fields hugged the rail with him and he never lost an inch the entire trip.

At the end he was all in to beat Princess Doreen out half a length for the place. The absence of Sarazen robbed the race of much of its interest. The winner ran the mile and 70 yards in 1:42 2-5, within 1-5 of a second of the track record for the distance.

Form players experienced their first stumbling block when the choices for the opener failed to gather any portion of the purse, which was accounted for in a furious finish by J. C. Fletcher's Just in Fun. Scissors, another at long odds, raced to the place, while the Ally drove into the show position. The public fancied E. F. Whitney's Offspring, but its view was decidedly wrong when Offspring failed to beat a horse winding up in last position.

Brookmeade stable supplied the winner of the juvenile race, the second event of the afternoon, in Santrock which, under capable handling by Albert Johnson, raced along with the pace set by the Major until reaching the main stretch, where he was roused sharply and gaining the lead at the furlong pole gradually increased his advantage.

He was a length to the good of Golden Volt, who in turn beat out Purple Pirate. Hobcaw, the medium of an intended coup, failed to live up to expectations and at no stage of the journey did he warrant the heavy play he received.

Twelve faced the starter for the 6 furlongs of the third race, and with the running came one of the most interesting contests decided during the meeting, when the field in this number raced closely bunched for the greater part of the journey.

The finish found Gymkhana in front by a scant half-length over Pillager, while a nose further back came Everglade. The remainder of the starters finished well lapped with the exception of Deronda, who failed to leave the barrier with his opposition.

Aucilla entered the ranks of double winners at this meeting, when he raced his second consecutive set of brackets in the running of the fourth number which brought to the post a rather shifty field to test their merits over the mile and one-sixteenth route. The winner was entered for the top price of $8,000 and the public made no mistakes when they favored him.

Peternell, who had the mount on the victor, forged to the front in this race with Sande for the leading rider at the meeting. Laddie Buck after racing in the van of his opposition for seven furlongs managed to save the place by a neck over Golden Billows while Commissioner, one that was well meant, finished among the also ran.

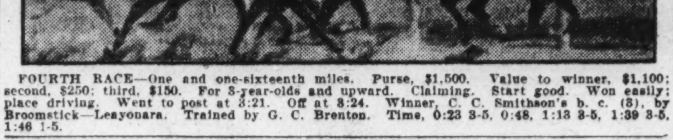
Millwick	106	7	9	9	9	9	9	9	Banks	5.90

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Aucilla, $6.70, $4.00, $3.50; Laddie Buck, $10.40, $7.30; Golden Billows, $4.80.

Aucilla followed in nearest attendance of the pacemaker; gained the lead after a break duel rounding the far turn, and came away as if much the best. Laddie Buck displayed keen early speed. Saved ground all the way and held on gamely. Golden Billows raced evenly throughout.

AUCILLA ROMPING HOME IN THE FOURTH NUMBER.



FIFTH RACE—One mile and seventy yards. The Greenock handicap; purse, $2,000. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $400; third, $200. Start good and fast. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 3:54. Off at 3:55. Winner, Seagram stable's b. c. (3), by Jim Gaffney—Pilante. Trained by W. H. Bringloe. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:12 4-5, 1:38, 1:42 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Gaffsman, $19.50, $6.50, $4.10; Prince of Wales, $4.10, $3.10; Princess Doreen, $4.50.

Gaffsman raced under stout restraint in the early racing; was not hurried when he went after his field; was forced wide in stretch turn and, closing with splendid speed through the stretch, was going away at end. Prince of Wales quit badly in stretch run. Princess Doreen tired chasing the early pacemaker.

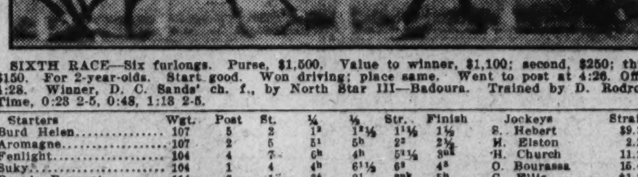
Two-dollar mutuels paid—Burd Helen, $20.60, $12.20, $7.00; Aromagne, $6.50, $4.90; Fenlight, $7.50.

Burd Helen, quick to get under way, showed keen early speed, saved ground all the way; she held on with good courage at end. Aromagne, as usual, slow to get going, moved up stoutly rounding the far turn, and closed fast. Fenlight improved her position steadily and closed fast on the outside of the leaders.

BURD HELEN BEATING AROMAGNE IN THE SIXTH.



SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $200; third, $100. For 3-year-olds. Claiming. Start good. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 4:59. Off at 5:00. Winner, J. W. Lewis' ch. f., by Braxted—Frummenty. Trained by A. J. Plack. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:41, 1:48.

Starters	Wgt.	Post	St.	¼	½	¾	Str.	Finish	Jockeys	Straight

Davenport	103	4	3	7^1	$7^{1½}$	7^h	8	8	R. Peternel	37.05

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Lady Braxted, $25.20, $10.60, $8.00; Ensile, $6.10, $5.00; Blowhorn, $5.60.

Lady Braxted, messed about in the early stages, saved much ground when the leaders went wide at the stretch turn and, holding on gamely under a weak finish, just lasted. Ensile raced Telluride into submission, opened up a winning lead rounding the far turn, but bore out badly entering the home stretch; came again and just failed to get up. Blowhorn, prominent all the way, was forced wide, but finished resolutely.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Changing Moods, $6.40, $4.20, $3.20; Sniper, $6.00, $4.60; O'Girl, $3.60.

Changing Moods began slowly and was shuffled back and went so greenly in the drive that her rider was lucky to get her up. Sniper was hustled into command, but began tiring a furlong out. O'Girl moved up with rush after reaching stretch, but tired badly.

THIRD RACE—One and three-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward. Claiming. Start bad. Won easily. Went to post at 2:55. Off at 2:57. Winner, B. McDade's b. g. (5), by Sweep—Sanrose. Trained by D. McDade. Time, 0:26 3-5, 0:52 1-5, 1:19 1-5, 1:46 2-5, 2:00 2-5, 2:07 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Mac O'Boy, $8.60, $4.40, $2.80; Magnetic, $2.80, $2.40; Norsman, $3.60.

Mac O'Boy sprinted into command without effort and was gamely holding his advantage at the finish. Magnetic bore in sharply, entering contention in first quarter, raced in close pursuit of leader and was tiring final sixteenth. Norseman, almost knocked down at start, was prominent entire race.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,400. For maiden 2-year-olds; claiming. Start good. Won driving. Went to post at 3:20. Off at 3:23. Winner, Mrs. T. Maloney's ch. c., by Golden Guinea—Supple. Trained by J. Maloney. Time, 0:25, 0:51 3-5, 1:21.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Carrickfergus, $57.80, $24.60, $11.00; Black On White, $8.00, $4.60; Realization, $8.80.

Carrickfergus, hard ridden to keep up early part, saved much ground in stretch, but was driven to the limit to win. Black On White closely attended early pace, but was forced wide in stretch and tired in final drive. Realization had most speed, but weakened at stretch, but came again near finish.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,700. For 2-year-olds. Start bad. Won easily. Went to post at 3:48. Off at 3:51. Winner, W. S. Dudley's ch. c. (2), by Golden Broom—Ida Claire. Trained by T. P. Hayes. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 3-5, 1:16 4-5.

†Coupled.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Good Shepherd, $9.80, $6.60, $4.20; Billy Baughn, $8.20, $4.60; General Haldeman (entry), $3.20.

Good Shepherd sprinted into lead immediately, was well rated to the stretch, where he came away slowly. Billy Baughn was in contending position from start, began moving up last turn and after coming wide disposed of General Haldeman, but could not get to winner. General Haldeman forced winner's pace gamely to last furlong, where he began to falter.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward. Claiming. Start good. Won driving. Went to post at 4:16. Off at 4:17. Winner, J. B. Respess' ch. g. (5) Meridian—Queen of Paradise. Trained by L. Gentry. Time, 0:24 4-5, 0:49 3-5, 1:17 1-5.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

ALL VIRGINIA.

Well, boys, there have been specials, then again there have been specials, but if ever there was a wopsy tiger here is the baby. In support of this, I want to say one of the biggest commissions ever placed hereabouts arrived overnight—right slam bang on the old beezer. Recently I wagered on this trick over at Jamaica, but she is a slow beginner. With a break today, it will be kitty bar the door. Third at Laurel, that's the spot.

JOHN W. WEBER, THE CODE and SPANISH CASTLE for what is last.

The Arthur connections seem to have opening dash sewed up. Adolph fancies DECLARE, hence there yez are.

The fourth will be a tight race between JENNY DEAN and LONG JOE. I find a shade in favor of the latter.

Over at Latonia, where the gumbo is sticky and gooey, Little Johnny sends me STEINWAY to win right back. Now that was a mighty nifty effort of his last—when he copped a hatful.

ADA BLACKJACK has been working well but seems to be rank and sour in her races. ESTIN, SANDHURST and QUINCE GARDEN are bunched, while I look for MICKEY FREE to be withdrawn.

ARCHITECT, which turned three furlongs in 34 1-4 as a speed test is the outstanding melon in the second. This is a real cush gatherer.

CANTERBURY was bet on overnight, and, ARCHITECT withdrawn, I can make him the winner.

That last effort was even better than cold dope would indicate. I know something.

BROAD AXE is another that seems to have a wide call. However, with track conditions such as they are, it is not a place to overbet.

TORMENTOR, which finished second on Tuesday, seems well placed and inasmuch as "Tatsy" is always shooting I look upon her as a very safe bet. OUREIDA is better than some of her races would indicate. Only needs a good hustling rider to prove real troublesome.

CUP BEARER found keen overnight support—from people who seldom gamble now unless you're solid ivory—from the shoulders up—you will have the two megs riding right slam bang on the front end.

Ye wekkum.

NAVY PROMISES TO GIVE MICHIGAN REAL BATTLE

Middies Hold Strenuous Workout

Shapley Rejoins Team But May Not Get Into Game.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 27.—With only two more days before the big game with the Michigan Wolverines in Baltimore stadium, enthusiasm is running high at the Naval Academy as the players go through the final practice for the battle, and regardless of the much heralded strength of the Michigan eleven, the middies will be "all set" for the contest.

The prediction is freely made that it is going to be one of the greatest games of the season, and Michigan will have no easy time of it, as many incline to believe. However, the local contingent will be satisfied if the naval lads hold the Westerners to a close margin.

Today's practice session was prolonged and intensive, with the coaches following the idea that the best defense is a strong attack. Hence the varsity players were kept on the offensive during most of the scrimmage period.

Although Allan Shapley, rated as a backfield flash last season, has rejoined the squad after nursing an injured knee for several weeks, and will be available for use against Michigan, it is unlikely that he will be seen in the line-up at the start. Other lads, such as Ransford, Hannegan, Schuber, Caldwell and Goudge, in addition to Hamilton, the latter a mainstay, have developed so rapidly, that Shapley's absence has not been materially felt.

Hence there is no indication of changes in the line-up from that which faced Colgate Saturday, with the exception that Russell Lloyd, the giant youngster who sprang into fame in the Colgate game when he recovered a fumble and ran 99 yards to a touchdown, will be on the left flank in place of Bagdanovitch.

Commander Jonas H. Ingram, director of athletics at the Naval Academy, tonight spiked a rumor that has been adrift about Annapolis to the effect that a rupture with Colgate was impending because the New York institution has a negro player on its football team, and protested negotiations for a game again next season.

"I know nothing of a protest," said Commander Ingram. The negro player in question is named Vaughn, it was learned. He plays end on the Maroon outfit, and is said to be regarded as a star.

Ingram followed up his statement by adding he knew Colgate had a colored player through a letter he had received, but that the Hamiltonians took the initiative in the matter by not bringing him to Annapolis. The Colgate management, it is said, realized that it would be impossible to have other than white students in the line-up against a Southern institution.

Wilbur Is Asked to Probe Objection to Negro Star

New York, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—A telegram protesting against the attitude of the Naval Academy which "refused to play Colgate university unless Ray Vaughn, a negro player, was kept on the bench," has been forwarded to Secretary of the Navy Wilbur by the National Association for Advancement of Colored People. An investigation is asked.

The telegram said in part:

"The association is informed that United States Naval Academy football team refused to play Colgate university unless Ray Vaughn, colored player, was kept on the bench. Such action on part of the academy would be most unsportsmanlike, undemocratic and un-American and one against which this association protests on behalf of the colored citizens of the country. We respectfully request that the Navy Department investigate this matter and take steps to remedy the situation if it is as reported."

OHIO SECONDS PLAY.

Columbus, Oct. 27 (By A. P.) The Ohio State university second football team will meet Wilmington college here, November 6, it was announced today. The Ohio State team had no game scheduled for that date.

Finnegan Fights Suggs For Feather Title Nov. 8

Boston, Mass., Oct. 27.—Honeyboy Finnegan and Chick Suggs will meet here November 8 in the Boston arena in a bout sanctioned by the Massachusetts boxing commission as a world featherweight championship encounter. As that body has working agreement with the New York boxing commission, the winner will probably get national recognition as the successor of Louis (Kid) Kaplan, who forfeited the title because he could not make the weight. A $1,000 championship belt will be presented to the victor. The bout is expected to draw a $45,000 gate. The fighters will weigh in at 126 pounds at 3 o'clock the day of the battle.

They All Were Mr. Murphy For a Minute

HERE I AM!
FOOTBALL FIELD

By AL DEMAREE
Former Pitcher New York Giants.

Sol Metzger told me a football story the other day from which I got quite a kick.

"I was coaching Washington and Jefferson in 1917," he said, "and we came to Toledo, Ohio, to play the Camp Sherman team. 'Big' George Little, now football coach at Wisconsin, was playing with the Camp outfit.

"Football interest ran high and the field stands were crowded to capacity with khaki-clad soldiers.

"Between halves a soldier accompanied by a beautiful girl walked to the center of the field and turning to the stands packed with soldiers, shouted through a megaphone:

" 'Is Sergt. Murphy in the stand?'—if he is, his old overseas nurse wants to see him!'

"There was a moment of silence and then fifteen thousand soldiers rose as one man and yelled, 'Here I am!' "

OHIO NOW FAVORED IN CONFERENCE RACE

Minnesota and Wisconsin, rounding into shape after slow starts, held their last scrimmage for their tussle at Madison. Wisconsin's goal has not yet been crossed, but the Badgers have faced no offensive as formidable as Minnesota's.

Northwestern drilled on forward passing in preparation for Indiana, deeming its sky attack against Notre Dame full of flaws. Indiana, beaten once by the Wildcats, vowed that since it held them for three periods at Evanston it can hold them for four at Bloomington, before a home-coming crowd.

Stoy Gains Revenge By Two-Round Kayo

Youngstown, Ohio, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Rosey Stoy, of Lancaster, Pa., knocked out Benny Gershe, of Cleveland, in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight. They are featherweights.

A right hook to the chin put Gershe away. It was the pair's second meeting this year, Gershe stopping Stoy in two rounds in Cleveland last March.

PIN LEAD AT STAKE.

Leadership in the National Capital league may change hands this week when Meyer Davis meets Joseph Phillips Co. tonight and King Pins roll Belmonts tomorrow. King Pins have a one-game advantage over Meyer Davis at present.

WAVERLYS CALL PRACTICE.

The Waverly gridmen will travel to Baltimore Md., Sunday to engage the Homestead team and, in preparation for this battle, will drill tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. Sunday all members of the squad are asked to report at the McGill building at 11 o'clock.

PALACE AT ALEXANDRIA.

The Palace A. C., of Southwest, will again go on the road for their Sunday game. This time the club will journey to Alexandria, Va., where the Virginia A. C. will be played at 2 o'clock. Palace players are requested to report for practice at the Barracks tonight at 5 o'clock.

GENE TUNNEY AT GREB'S RITES

Thousands Pay Final Tribute to Memory of Fighter.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—The body of Harry Greb, former middleweight boxing champion of the world, who died suddenly in Atlantic City late last week, found a last resting place today in Calvary cemetery.

Thousands paid a final tribute to the memory of "the Pittsburgh windmill," including Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, who was among the pallbearers.

The funeral cortege, led by a special escort of police and an American Legion guard of honor, passed through streets banked with people. After solemn high mass in St. Philomena's Catholic church, the body was taken to Calvary and lowered into a grave adjoining the one in which rests the body of Greb's wife.

In addition to Tunney, the active pallbearers included James Mason, manager of Grebb, and Leo Caghill, a sparring partner.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27 (By A. P.).—Harry Greb, former middleweight champion of the world, had a premonition of death. This was revealed today by his brother-in-law, J. Elmer Edwards, a few hours before Greb, who died in Atlantic City Friday, was laid to rest in a grave adjacent to that of his wife.

"For the last month or so Harry had been rather despondent," Edwards said. "He spoke often of death and seemed spiritless in many ways. When he discussed matters pertaining to the future he would preface his remark with 'If I live, I may do it.' Judging from his conduct for several weeks immediately preceding his death, now that I look back on them, I am firmly convinced that he had a premonition of his fate."

Though confirming the fact that Greb had a glass eye, Mrs. Edwards, the late pugilist's sister, regretted the secret was broken by his friends in Atlantic City.

"Harry was sensitive about the affliction," she said, "that made it necessary for him to have his right eye removed and a glass eye substituted, and even in death I am sure he would not have wanted the world to know about it."

The Sportswoman

By DOROTHY E. GREENE

JANNEY, Gage, Pierce and Brent school basketball teams won victories in the Elementary School Basketball league matches which were played yesterday afternoon.

Janney players defeated the Fillmore sextet, 52 to 0, in Georgetown division; playing in the Bloomingdale circuit, Gage school eliminated the Whittier players, 30 to 15, with Whittier making all its goals in the last half; Pierce school triumphed in Rosedale division, 27 to 12, over the Madison team; and Brent and Lenox teams played to a 17-17 tie in the Virginia avenue schedule.

Matches scheduled for today at 4:45 p. m. on the various division headquarters playgrounds are as follows:

Bloomingdale division—Burroughs vs. Brookland; Miss Elizabeth Mahon, referee. Park View division—Monroe vs. Truesdale; Miss Martha Dunham, referee. Happy Hollow division—E. V. Brown vs. Cooke; Miss Frances Major, referee. Georgetown playground—Corcoran vs. Curtis-Hyde; Miss Abbie Green, referee. Plaza division—Carbery vs. Edwards; Miss Caroline Alexander, referee. Rosedale division—Whitley vs. Benning; Miss Ruth Britt, referee, and Virginia Avenue division—Buchanan vs. Randle Hightlands; Miss Thelma Smith, referee.

SEXTETS TIE FOR LEAD.

St. Martin's sextet is now tied with St. Cecelia team for first place in the Catholic Review Basketball league as a result of yesterday's match in which the St. Martin girls won from the St. Patrick six, 38 to 6. The three teams were running neck and neck for first position and the play-off aroused intense interest.

Miss Garvereau, right forward for the victors, collected 26 points and her teammate, Miss Harrington, accounted for the other 10 tallies. Lillian Hammatt, the St. Martin's guard, played the stellar role in the match with splendid interceptions, which kept her forward field in possession of the ball.

HOCKEY GAME TOMORROW.

The local field hockey club will act as hostess to the Mount Washington club tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and the match will mark the second formal encounter on the Washington club's schedule.

Final practice was held yesterday and, according to Miss Alice Nicholl, the team is prepared to make every effort to duplicate its performance of last Saturday when it won from the Baltimore Country club.

The Baltimore players will make the trip by machine and an early start on the return trip will make it impossible for the Washingtonians to entertain the visitors.

NEW POLO PLAYERS.

On the eve of its first match which will be played with Chestertown Sunday afternoon, the Washington polo team has recruited some new members who, according to Miss Elizabeth Jackson, captain, show promise of real playing ability. The new members who played yesterday are Miss Margaret Jones, Mrs. Thomas Wilkinson and Mrs. James W. Golden.

The club will hold its final practice tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and at that time the Sunday team will be named. Chestertown will be represented by Mrs. Richard Carvell, Misses Alverta Brice, Edith Humphries and Rowena Woods.

DRILL FOR WINTONS.

HELP FOR SOUTHERNS.

The Southern Preps will be greatly strengthened for the remainder of the season by the acquisition of Willie Snow and Joe Silverman, both of whom are dependable football warriors.

WAR COLLEGE GOLF MEET ADVANCES

Two 27-Hole Battles Feature Tourney at Barracks.

ARMY officers have completed the first round of the handicap match play golf tournament staged semiannually at the War college, and the opening of the second round matches finds all favorites surviving.

Two 27-holes engagements featured the first round play. In one of these Maj. Frederick Gilbreth survived by the default of Maj. Morrison Stayer, who suffered a broken finger in a baseball game and was unable to continue. In the other extra hole match Maj. Lawrence Hedrick defeated Col. Ned Rehkopf.

Gen. Hanson E. Ely, who has earned himself the soubriquet of "The Patriarch of the Potomac" by his play in tournaments, eliminated Lieut. Col. Troup Miller, 4 and 3, with little difficulty to enter the second of the tournament.

Maj. Earl Naiden and Maj. Joseph A. McAndrew, handicapped at scratch and two strokes, respectively, overcame their burdens to continue in the tournament, although Maj. McAndrews was fully extended to defeat Lieut. Col. Halford, 1 up.

The first round results:

Maj. Donald C. Cubbison (10), drew bye; Maj. Eugene Reybold (2), drew bye; Col. George D. Arrowsmith (11), defeated Col. W. C. Sweeney (10), 4 and 3; Capt. Leo J. McCarthy (10), defeated Col. COLUMBIANS REELECT WALKER

Club's Finances Show Gain; Women to Hold Tourney.

JOHN C. WALKER was reelected president of the Columbia Country club at the annual meeting of that organization last night. Other officers reelected were Herbert T. Shannon, vice president; Arthur B. Shelton, secretary, and John Poole, treasurer.

President Walker's annual report showed the club to be in a flourishing financial condition, with an excess of revenues over expenditures during the year, and with a lengthy membership waiting list. The club unanimously adopted a resolution authorizing the board of governors, in its discretion, to purchase several acres adjacent to the first, second, third, fourth and fifth fairways in order to provide against encroachment of residences adjacent to the club property.

Ralph P. Barnard, Donald Woodward, A. Y. Leech, jr., Horace Dulin and Arthur B. Heaton were elected governors for the next three years and Eugene C. Gott was elected to serve the unexpired term ending next October.

B. P. Garnett and Guy N. Church were additional entries yesterday in the annual club championship of the Washington Golf and Country club, which begins with a qualifying round of eighteen holes this afternoon.

The annual women's club championship of the Columbia club will begin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning with a qualification round of eighteen holes, eight players to qualify, and match play scheduled for the first three days of next week. At the conclusion of the qualifying round the contestants will be the guests of the club at luncheon.

Among those who have already entered are Mrs. S. F. Colladay, who won the title last year; Mrs. J. M. Haynes, runner-up in the middle Atlantic women's championship; Mrs. H. King Cornweel, Mrs. C. Arthur Slater, Mrs. Frank Tomlinson, Mrs. James W. Beller, Mrs. W. S. Corby, Mrs. J. R. DeFarges, Mrs. Harper, Mrs. Hubert Quinter, Mrs. Robert Cummings, Mrs. B. G. Leighton, Mrs. James P. Mewshaw, Mrs. Sidney Kent and Mrs. W. W. Nottingham.

SOLDIERS SEEK GAME.

LUCKY STRIKE
"IT'S TOASTED"
CIGARETTES

What You Find

To try Luckies for a change is to smoke them always from choice. For a trial reveals their extra goodness.

First, they are made of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended—and something more.

In addition, a costly process—toasting—gives them unique superiorities which win you to higher standards of enjoyment.

A trial of Luckies offers you:

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

To learn how Luckies differ from other cigarettes, smoke them for a while. Learn why millions prefer them.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

Fat People

Take Notice What This Physician Says

Dr. Burdett O'Connell, a practicing physician, writes: "I am using your obesity treatment, Rite-Wate, in my practice and have taken it myself with excellent results."

Rite-Wate is highly recommended because it is so safe to use. It is a simple vegetable compound guaranteed not only to get results, but also to contain no harmful, dangerous drugs. The Detroit Testing Laboratory reports: "An examination of Rite-Wate shows same to be free from any poisonous metallic salts, boric acid, alkaloids or thyroid."

Ben Wolfe writes: "Reduced 19 pounds and feeling better than ever in my life." Rev. Sigmond Glauer says: "Am very grateful for the splendid results obtained. Have taken off 17 pounds and my general health improved." G. L. Veeck says: "Results very satisfactory—lost 20 pounds." Irving Buckley states: "It is working wonders." Mrs. H. J. Miller writes: "Took off 27 pounds—look and feel better." Mrs. Adaline Larabell [illegible] off 77 pounds. Three months [illegible] great change in my life."

When so many men and women, once fat and ungainly, have found the way to reduce and enjoy better health and the charm of a slender, stylish, attractive figure, why not try Rite-Wate and see what it will do for you? It will not fail. Remember—we guarantee it to be absolutely harmless. Money-back guarantee in each box.

Face Jury in Murder Case.

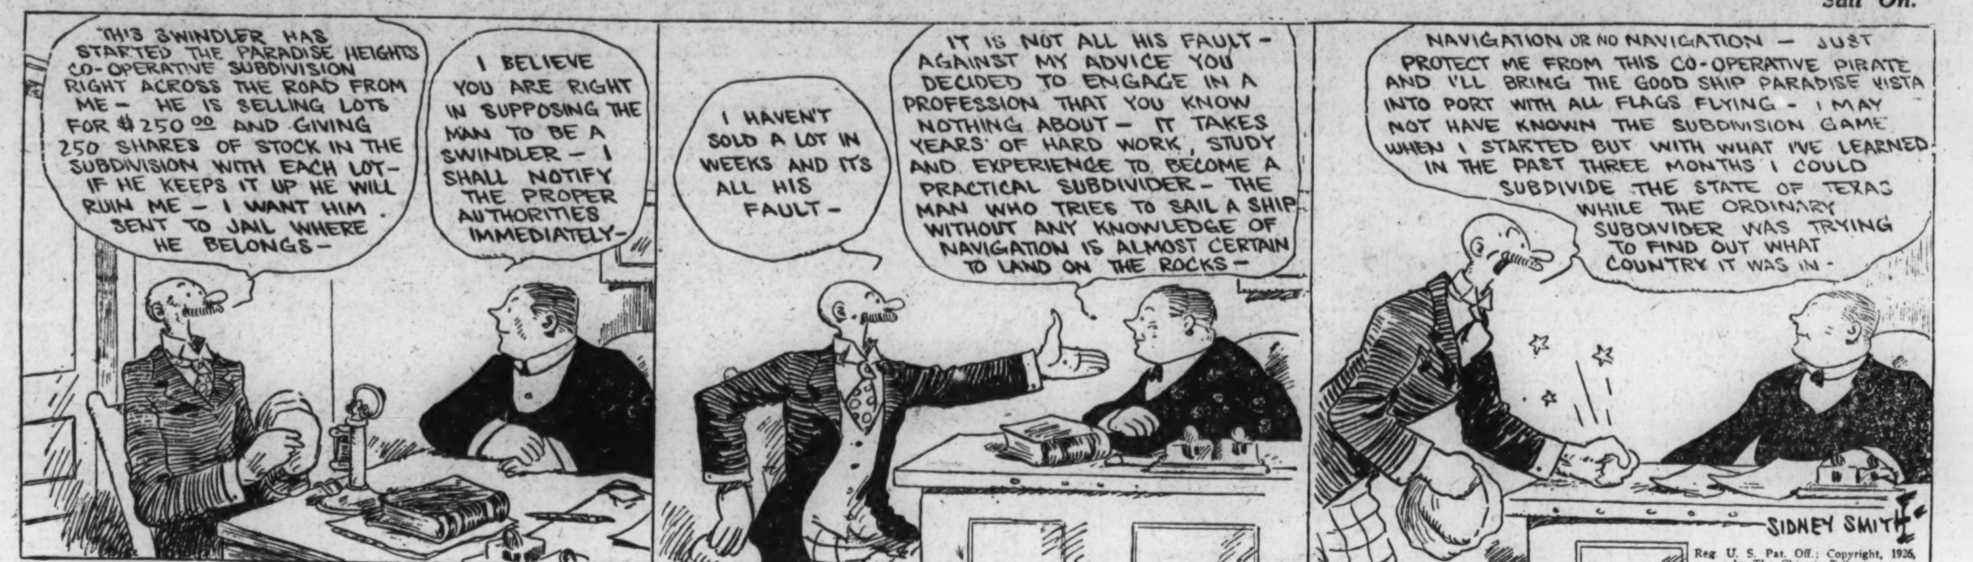
Clifton Sample and James Bostick, both colored, were placed on trial yesterday in criminal court on a joint charge of first-degree murder in connection with the shooting of James Robinson, also colored, on July 10 last, at First and G streets southwest, during a quarrel. Assistant District Attorneys Kelly and Horning appear for the government, while the defendants are represented by Arthur G. Premont.

Repair Shop Bids Opened.

Sealed proposals for building an additional story to the fire department repair shop, Seventh street and North Carolina avenue southeast, were opened yesterday in the District building. The lowest bidder was R. R. Cunningham, who quoted the price of $5,588.

THE GUMPS

Sail On.



THIS SWINDLER HAS STARTED THE PARADISE HEIGHTS CO-OPERATIVE SUBDIVISION RIGHT ACROSS THE ROAD FROM ME— HE IS SELLING LOTS FOR $250.00 AND GIVING 250 SHARES OF STOCK IN THE SUBDIVISION WITH EACH LOT— IF HE KEEPS IT UP HE WILL RUIN ME— I WANT HIM SENT TO JAIL WHERE HE BELONGS—
I BELIEVE YOU ARE RIGHT IN SUPPOSING THE MAN TO BE A SWINDLER— I SHALL NOTIFY THE PROPER AUTHORITIES IMMEDIATELY—
IT IS NOT ALL HIS FAULT— AGAINST MY ADVICE YOU DECIDED TO ENGAGE IN A PROFESSION THAT YOU KNOW NOTHING ABOUT— IT TAKES YEARS OF HARD WORK, STUDY AND EXPERIENCE TO BECOME A PRACTICAL SUBDIVIDER— THE MAN WHO TRIES TO SAIL A SHIP WITHOUT ANY KNOWLEDGE OF NAVIGATION IS ALMOST CERTAIN TO LAND ON THE ROCKS—NAVIGATION OR NO NAVIGATION — JUST PROTECT ME FROM THIS CO-OPERATIVE PIRATE AND I'LL BRING THE GOOD SHIP PARADISE VISTA INTO PORT WITH ALL FLAGS FLYING— I MAY NOT HAVE KNOWN THE SUBDIVISION GAME WHEN I STARTED BUT WITH WHAT I'VE LEARNED IN THE PAST THREE MONTHS I COULD SUBDIVIDE THE STATE OF TEXAS WHILE THE ORDINARY SUBDIVIDER WAS TRYING TO FIND OUT WHAT COUNTRY IT WAS IN—

BOND MARKET DISPLAYS SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS

BELGIAN 7S RISE TO 94 3-5

New York, Oct. 27 (By the Associated Press).—Quickening its pace to keep up with the rally in stocks, the bond market scored substantial progress today in the most active trading session in several weeks. Buying orders were generously distributed throughout all parts of the list, bringing about numerous price advances of 1 to 2 points.

Underlying the better inquiry for bonds were reports that the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate might possibly be lowered at an early date. These were not regarded seriously in banking quarters, but they emphasized the great change which has taken place in the money outlook since the first of the month, when a higher bank rate was generally expected.

The successful flotation of the Belgian stabilization loan, both in New York and in the European markets, attracted a flood of buying orders for the new 7 per cent bonds today, carrying them up to 94 3-5, nearly 2 points above the offering price. The turnover in this issue was well above $1,000,000, overshadowing dealings in other foreign obligations. French 7s repeated the year's top price of 94 and other European bonds were firm.

Railroad liens were visibly strengthened by indications that September earnings would set a new record and by such concrete evidence of prosperity as the dividend increases on Pennsylvania and Norfolk & Western stocks. New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific, Seaboard and Southern Railway issues were in good demand.

Selective purchases of industial bonds embraced Elkhorn Coal 6s, which rose more than 2 points to a new high at par, Anglo-Chilean Nitrate 7s, Robbins & Myers 7s and Sinclair Oil 6½s.

A $25,000,000 bond issue for the Western Union Telegraph Co. was promptly sold today and preparations were started for similar offerings on behalf of the International Paper Co. and the new Stinnes companies within the next few days.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Oct. 27 (By the Associated Press).—A marked improvement in prices took place in today's curb market. The buying movement, which embraced most of the high grade stocks, was inspired by the rally on the "big board," and disclosed a small floating supply of many issues. New points of weakness cropped out in several sections of the list, but failed to halt the upturn in other quarters.

Oils displayed a firm undertone despite rather extensive gasoline price cuts and increased crude production. Vacuum, Reiter-Foster, and Buckeye and Cumberland Pipe lines advanced a point or two and Cities Service (new) and Pantepec advanced to new high levels for the year. Venezuela Petroleum also was active and strong.

The demand for the industrials centered largely in such issues as Bliss & Co. (new), Dupont, Freshman Radio, General Baking, and White Sewing Machine, all of which sold a point or more higher. Ford of Canada dropped 6 points, duplicating the year's low, and Pittsburgh Plate Glass broke 15 points, to 275, each on small odd lot transactions.

Public Utilities continued to point upward. Brazilian Traction crossed 110 to a new 1926 high, and American Gas & Electric moved up over 2 points to 106½.

Bonds were again active with a jump of over 4 points in Cities Service 8s of 1966, which touched a new record high at 126½, as the outstanding feature. Otis Steel 6s were heavy.

$500 Cash—The Rest Like Rent on Easy Terms

This price represents the actual cost of these homes. The owner, feeling the supply of houses greater than the demand, has authorized us to make this GREAT SACRIFICE—WHICH IS THE PURCHASER'S GAIN.

Don't confuse these homes with the usual speculative house, as they were built by a company specializing in large, high-grade residences, and the same skilled mechanics and class of work have been used in their construction—which makes them worth approximately 25 per cent more than the average small house.

The exteriors are of half timber and stucco over interlocking hollow tile. Indiana limestone has been used in the window sills, and the hardware and wall paper are the best obtainable. The trim throughout is Tupelo wood, with mahogany-stained doors, and is finished in cream. Crane instantaneous hot-water heater, built-in refrigerator and bath, oak floors, 15-foot space between houses, large lot.

Group Publishers Talk With Coolidge

(By the Associated Press.)

A committee of the National Publishers association conferred yesterday with President Collidge and Director Lord, of the budget, at the White House.

The publishers were reticent about the object of their call, but it was indicated that they were interested in revising the Postoffice Department's budget system in a manner which might result in lower postal rates. In the delegation were Cyrus H. K. Curtis, of the Curtis publications; R. J. Cuddihy, of the Literary Digest; A. J. Baldwin, of Trade publications, and A. C. Pearson.

DR. BALLOU AND GRAHAM LAUD SCHOOL PROGRESS

Officials Declare Cooperation Has Assured Achievements in Education Here.

PRAISE PARENTS' ACTIVITY

The striking educational progress achieved in Washington's public school system during the past year is due chiefly to the strong cooperation between the board of education, school officials, government agencies and "an aroused and intelligent public," according to the annual reports of Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, and E. C. Graham, president of the board of education, made public yesterday.

Recent legislation providing new buildings and equipment and higher salaries for teachers, has also been responsible to a large degree for the educational progress shown, Mr. Graham's report discloses.

"The result is shown in an improved personnel, more efficient administration and higher educational usefulness to the community," Mr. Graham declared.

The report of the board of education lauds the efforts of Washington's organized civic and parent-teachers groups for the constructive suggestions touching the many phases of school administration offered that body.

"At no time have the people of Washington manifested a greater interest in the public schools than at present," Mr. Graham reported.

Dr. Ballou in his report expressed gratification to the board of education for the extreme confidence placed in him by that body.

Dr. Ballou's report strongly opposes any attempt by certain agencies to have the board of education elected through local suffrage, if, by suffrage, a plan of districting the city is embodied that would prevent certain classes of persons from having the fullest suffrage.

HALLOWEEN ORDERS OF POLICE ARE ISSUED

Will Aid Public in Sane Celebration; Rowdyism Not to Be Tolerated.

The police department yesterday issued its annual ukase against rowdyism on Halloween in the following general order:

The vigil of All Saints' day, better known as Halloween, will be observed generally Saturday and it is the wish of the police department to lend full cooperation to the public in a sane, reasonable and happy celebration, in which persons in their homes and on the streets may be free from unreasonable annoyance and insult.

"Innocent pranks will be permitted. Ringing of doorbells, indiscriminate use of ticklers and such devices, throwing of flour and rowdyism in its other various forms, under no conditions will be tolerated.

"Where children of tender years fail to comply with instructions, they should be taken to their parents. Those of greater age, guilty of flagrant violations, should be prosecuted. Members of the police force assigned to duty where there are crowds should be patient, helpful and courteous in dealing with the public, but nevertheless firm and unyielding in exercise of their functions as guardians of the public peace."

Woman's Death Held Accident.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by the coroner's jury yesterday at an inquest in the death of Mary Anastasi, 49 years old, 734 Sixth street northwest, who died in Sibley hospital Tuesday from a fractured skull received when she was struck by an automobile between G and H streets on Sixth street northwest, October 18. The driver of the car was exonerated.

$10,000 Damages Asked.

The Washington Railway & Electric Co. was sued yesterday in circuit court for $10,000 damages for an alleged assault and for alleged personal injuries by Grace B. O'Mara, 1926 I street northwest. Through Attorney Robert Hardison, the plaintiff says that on June 15 last while a passenger on a car on the Riverdale line she was pushed away from a door by the conductor and rudely thrown into a corner.

Manslaughter Verdict Returned.

Ludy Robinson, colored, charged with first-degree murder in connection with the shooting of Mollie Steadman, also colored, on July 11 last at 1123 First street northwest, was found guilty of manslaughter yesterday by a jury in criminal court. He was remanded for sentence. Assistant District Attorneys Fihelly and Collins appeared for the government.

Auto Crash Basis of Suit.

Frank O. Mastin sued William S. Hardesty yesterday in circuit court for $5,000 damages for alleged personal injuries. Through Attorneys Newmyer, King and Jacobson the plaintiff says that on September 4 last he was struck by the defendant's automobile at Twelfth street and New York avenue northwest.

SMITHSONIAN ACQUIRES COLLECTION OF MINERALS

$50,000 GIFT IS PROVIDED

The Frederick Canfield collection of minerals, one of the largest and most complete private collections in this country, accompanied by an endowment of $50,000 to be used for its increase, has been given to the Smithsonian institution, it was announced yesterday.

Eight or nine thousand specimens, contained in 117 cases, have already arrived in Washington. It required a month for experts from the National museum to pack them and some months more will be necessary for unpacking and cataloguing before the minerals can be placed on exhibition. Frederick Alexander Canfield, of Ferro Monte, Mine Hill, N. J., donor of the legacy, made extensive researches before intrusting his collection to the Smithsonian institution.

The collection is in two sections. The older section was gathered by Dr. Canfield's father some time before the middle of the last century. It contains many specimens found in mines which have long since shut down. Among the more important of these are minerals obtained from Franklin Furnace, N. J., an area which has produced more new species than any other in America. The elder Mr. Canfield had access to the mines of this area and from them collected the finest minerals in the world.

Among rarities contained in the second section of the collection, which is as valuable as the first, are specimens of the mineral canfieldite, named after Dr. Canfield. Of the related mineral, argyrodite, rich in the rare metal germanium, Dr. Canfield had the largest masses known. The younger Canfield collected this entire section, following his father's researches. Museum officials declare the endowment of $50,000 greatly increases the permanent value of the collection, snice it will permit constant additions to be made as occasions offer.

NEW PHONE OFFICE TO BE IN NORTHERN SECTION OF CAPITAL

TO BE NAMED IN HONOR OF LATE A. R. SHEPHERD

Construction to Start at Once: Samuel J. Prescott Gets the Contract.

A new telephone central office to be known as "Shepherd" will be erected soon in the northern section of Washington at Georgia avenue and Gallatin street. This telephone plant, including land, building, furnishings and equipment, will involve expenditures of more than $540,000. According to a statement just made by Charles T. Clagett, division manager of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., the new plant will be ready for service in about twelve months.

The name "Shepherd" was selected to honor the late Alexander R. Shepherd, last governor of Washington.

As soon as the building is completed a new switchboard and associate apparatus will be installed. The new board will consist of 77 operators' positions, equipped for 4,900 lines and will serve about 4,500 telephones when the office is first placed in service. About 35 operators will be required for the new office.

Work Starts at Once.

Work on the building will start at once, the contract having been awarded to Samuel J. Prescott, local contractor. The building, which is to be 85 by 100 feet, will be a colonial type, two stories in height, with full basement. The structure will have a steel frame and will be constructed of red brick with limestone trimmings and concrete floors. It will be fireproof throughout.

The first floor will contain the terminal room, wire chief's desk, battery room and operators' quarters, including a cafeteria for the use of the operating forces. The second floor will be used entirely for switchboards and operating room.

McKenzie, Voorhees & Gmelin are the architects. The construction of the building and the installation of the equipment will be carried on under supervision of C. A. Robinson, chief engineer of the telephone company.

Capital Girl Honored At Elmira College

Miss Jane Troxel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Troxel, 1901 Park road, has been elected to the office of assemblyman at Elmira college, according to an announcement received here yesterday. Miss Troxel has been elected assemblyman in the senior dormitory, alumnae hall, under the Student Government association.

Miss Troxel has taken a keen interest in athletics and dramatics, the dispatch states, and the honor conferred upon her is the result of her efforts in behalf of the college. Her sister, Miss Margaret Troxel, was graduated from Elmira in the class of 1924.

District Employes To Honor Rudolph

Saturday, November 13, has been set as the day for the luncheon to be given by officials and employes of the District building in honor of Cuno H. Rudolph, retiring president of the District board of commissioners. The function will take place at the Wardman Park hotel at 1:30 o'clock.

The committee arranging the luncheon is working out an interesting program. Harry F. Allmond, private secretary to Commissioner Rudolph, has been made vice chairman of the committee, which is headed by Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor.

Passing Stop Signs Brings Suspensions

Permits of three motorists were suspended yesterday for seven days for failure to obey "stop" signs protecting Massachusetts avenue.

Assist. Traffic Director I. C. Moller and Inspector E. W. Brown, of the police traffic bureau, observing operation of the new 30 miles-an-hour speed limit, arrested 12 persons for crossing or turning into the boulevard highway without coming to a full stop. "With the speed limit increased to 30 miles an hour it is imperative that the 'stop' signs must be obeyed," said Director Moller.

Worker Sues on Injuries.

Lewis E. Rose, a laborer, filed suit yesterday in circuit court to recover $30,000 damages from Arthur O'Brien and Blanche O'Brien for alleged personal injuries. Through Attorneys Lambert, Yeatman and Detwiler the plaintiff says that while employed on a tract of ground owned by the defendants at Broad Branch road and Albemarle street he was injured by the upseting of a wagon on which he was riding.

Man Hurt in Crash.

Raymond Thayer, 30 years old, 1310 Emerson street northwest, received cuts on the face early yesterday when the automobile he was driving collided with a safety light near Connecticut avenue and M street northwest. Following treatment in Emergency hospital, he was arrested by police of the Second precinct and charged with reckless driving.
